Mental As Anything will play the Redcliffe Dolphins Leagues Club on Oct 2

GO 'MENTAL AS ANYTHING' AT THE LEAGUES CLUB

by Melissa Bailey

In 1977 an art school band revealed its determination to avoid art rock by playing 1960s pop, blues and country at inner Sydney pubs and private parties. Adding interesting sounds to their repertoire, with ear-catching songs about their lives, Mental As Anything became more and more popular. Their breakthrough record Mental As Anything Plays At Your Party was released by independent record label Regular Records, with 1300 vinyl extended play records selling out in just 10 days. It's been three decades since the band began entertaining crowds with their infectious tunes and overwhelming stage presence.

Mental As Anything last played in Redcliffe at the Dolphins Leagues Club for charity event Rockin' 4 the Homeless 2.0, along with thirty other artists.

"A big crowd of people from all over Brisbane, some of them driving for hours, came to see the band in May. We really look forward to having Mental As Anything come back and entertain us in October," says Sarah Gilfoyle from the Leagues Club.

Two-time Aria award winners and Hall of Fame inductees, Mental As Anything will be returning to the Leagues Club to perform a free show!

On Friday, October 2, the free live entertainment will begin at 7pm in the Legends Lounge. Opening act DJ Flynut will perform from 7pm, followed by support band Old Skool, before finishing off with Mental As Anything. Decked out with a dance floor, the Legends Lounge is the perfect venue for everyone to enjoy the band up close and dance along to their captivating music. ●●

Feature band, OKA, will perform at the Beats by the Bay.

BEATS BY THE BAY

by Kylie Thompson

A long weekend (especially one with a footy grand final) is a cause for celebration, and this year, the Belvedere Hotel has decided to bring the indefinable genre-benders OKA back to Redcliffe for Beats by the Bay for Labour Day.

Beats by the Bay is a free event at the Bel, kicking off on Sunday October 4 from 4:30pm and sponsored by Corona promotions. As well as music by OKA and DJ Mark, there'll be a BBQ on the Marquee Deck, and promotions throughout the day courtesy of Corona.

It is NRL grand final night, and sports fans don't need to worry about missing a second of the action. The match will be played on all venue screens, meaning you can have all the excitement of the match with some of the best music the Bay will hear all year.

OKA is an indigenous inspired band with a sound that has to be heard to be believed. Part big beat, part reggae-dub, part Jazz and world, and all soul; these Aussie boys were a huge hit at last year's G20 concert. Their much-requested follow up performance is set to be a major drawcard for music lovers from the Peninsula and beyond.

Though OKA are mostly known through word of mouth, they've worked with industry beloveds such as Xavier Rudd, Arrested Development, Finnley Quay, and Kinnie Star. Fans all over the globe have fallen for OKA's fluid and positive sounds, and the group have independently sold over 150,000 albums. OKA is a band that believes that every show should be its own experience, creating a real time soundtrack rather than playing the same core songs every show. No two shows are ever the same, meaning Beats by the Bay is genuinely a once in a lifetime musical experience.

After the concert, the party will continue in the Sunset Bar and Lounge, where the Bel's DJ Mark will be on hand to keep the party moving. ●●

NRL GRAND FINAL

Where To Watch The Big Game

by Suzi O'Shea

It's been another great season of NRL this year with the Roosters taking out their third straight minor premiership. This season we say farewell to the controversial Geoff Toovey, who successfully led Manly to finals for every year of his tenure. State of Origin returned to the MCG for the first time since 1997. The record crowd of more than 90,000 was the largest for an Origin match ever and contributed to breaking the record for largest cumulative crowd in a single series. Now we gear up for a cracking finals season for the coveted Provan-Summons Trophy and all the glory that comes with it. Here's where you can watch history unfold on Sunday 4th October.

CONTROL FREAK COMEDY CABARET COMES TO REDCLIFFE

by Melissa Bailey

Belinda Raisin offers Redcliffe an evening of entertainment with her smashing cabaret performance of Confessions of a Control Freak. Having toured the country with the cabaret, Raisin plays alter-ego Frances, who is trying to escape from the modern society of multi-tasking, multi-vitamin, multi-media… multi-just about everything! After confessing to a life of striving hard to have it all, Raisin asks, "Do we ever get the time to actually enjoy it all?" Her comedy cabaret draws on life experience to present numerous Australian audiences with her hilarious take on life as it is now.

Accompanying Raisin is a team of incredibly talented professionals. Jamie Teh, a pitch-perfect pianist who has been blind since birth, has been described as a phenomenal musician. Teh was a finalist in the Queensland Young Australian of the Year and invited to the State Reception for the Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge on their recent trip to Australia.

Alison St Ledger is a singer/songwriter and guest vocalist for bands such as Powderfinger. She has been the recipient of a Matilda Award and a Golden Gibbo Award at the Melbourne Comedy Festival. In addition, St Ledger is currently Chair of the Board and programming director of the Queensland Cabaret Festival.

Not to mention Jen Teh, who has won national awards for her work teaching music to people of all ages. Jen is also the founder and director of the renowned Hush Little Baby Early Childhood Music Classes.

It's bound to be a night of musical and theatrical laughs with super control freak Frances, as she takes you on a journey through a never-ending To Do list and jokes about the power of procrastination. With two sold-out hometown seasons at the Judith Wright Centre in 2013 and 2014, Redcliffe is in for a treat.

"Every night is different, anything can happen and we all just ride the train together," says Raisin. ●●

Scott Cameron as Buddy Holly in Buddy: In Concert

HOLLY COMES TO LIFE ON REDCLIFFE STAGE

by Melissa Bailey

It's been almost 60 years since Buddy Holly's career began, but it has made a lasting impression on modern music, influencing many performers and entertainers including The Beatles, Eric Clapton and The Rolling Stones, among others. Buddy Holly pioneered Rock 'n' Roll as we know and love it today, so it's no surprise we are celebrating his short but everlasting career.

Scott "Buddy" Cameron was born in 1986, the same year that Buddy Holly was inducted into the hall of fame and ranked by Rolling Stone Magazine as number 13 on its 100 Greatest Artist list.

Having received rave reviews for his performances all over the world, Cameron is one of the most recognised Buddy Holly performers. He played Holly in the International smash hit musical Buddy: The Buddy Holly Story in productions from 2005 to 2009, and he continues to entertain during his current tour Buddy: In Concert, while wearing Holly's trademark horn-rimmed glasses.

A multi-instrumentalist, Cameron is skilled in playing the 6 and 12 string guitar, bass, double bass, violin, banjo, harmonica, piano and drums. However, Cameron has become one of the best guitar players in the genre with a unique style.

Having won three song writing awards from Uni-Song Hollywood USA, awarded as Entertainer of the Year twice and nominated for Australian of the Year three times, Cameron is bound to keep his audience entertained and leave Buddy Holly in our hearts.

Playing at the Redcliffe Cultural Centre on Saturday 10 October, Cameron, AKA "Buddy" will be performing the very best of Buddy Holly including "Peggy Sue", "That'll Be the Day", "Oh Boy" and "Maybe Baby." Please call the Cultural Centre to book tickets on 3283 0407 and don't miss out on the opportunity of a lifetime see Cameron in his Australia tour of Buddy: In Concert. ●●

Runners prepare to race at last year's event

SANDGATE'S SUNSET RUN RETURNS

Sandgate is gearing up for its most unique fun run and community festival, with the Sandgate Sunset Run back for a second year.

The event, on Saturday October 10, features a 2-hour relay starting at 6pm, where teams of up to 4 participants race around the Sandgate Roundabout, which is closed to traffic for the event.

Adding to the atmosphere is the World Food Markets, a main stage featuring a live DJ and hip-hop performances, plus a dedicated kids entertainment area. The event runs from 4pm-8pm.

This year, children will be kept busy with a jumping castle, face painting, Street Science, Peebo & Dagwood, glow products and the Photo Booth Guys.

For the first time, kids will also have their own dedicated events, with a Kids Dash for those aged 9 and under, plus a Junior Relay for ages 10-15.

The Kids Dash will be a hot lap around the roundabout while the music pumps and onlookers cheer, while the Junior Relay will see teams run the 250-metre course for 30 minutes.

All participants – including the kids - will receive a medal.

Event Director Dean Gibson says there really is something for everyone.

"We've worked hard to make it an awesome event for the whole family," he says.

"We want families to come down and experience the atmosphere of a fun, healthy and active community event."

While it is an event for all abilities, participants will be able to rub shoulders with elites, with two Olympians taking part.

Marty Dent and Benita Willis, who both ran for Australia in the London Olympics Marathon in 2012 and are looking forward to taking part in the event.

The Sandgate Sunset Run has this year partnered with breast cancer charity, Be Uplifted Inc.

Mr Gibson says the event couldn't happen without support from the local community.

"We've had so many local businesses keen to get on board and support the run," he says.

"This is a true community event, run by volunteers, and is all about fun, family and fitness."

Registrations are capped, with limited places in the open relay available. ●●

THE PAUL KELLY EXPERIENCE

Johnny Porta in The Paul Kelly Experience Show

Paul Kelly is synonymous with the Australian music industry. His lyrics capture the vastness of the culture and landscape of Australia by chronicling his life over a career that's spanned more than forty years.

Johnny Porta – a self-confessed fan of Paul Kelly – has dealt with people from all walks of life whilst finding a career as a labourer, a teacher, a historian and a lawyer, but always a musician. Johnny relates to Paul Kelly's lyrical content, which he writes with precision and clarity. It's no surprise that portraying Paul Kelly live on stage became a calling card for Johnny Porta.

"I have always connected with his songs and the stories in the songs," says Johnny. "They say that the most sincere form of flattery is imitation. I take care not to imitate Paul Kelly, but to present his music respectfully and tell the stories in and behind the songs."

Backed by a full six-piece band made up of highly seasoned musicians, this show distils the huge volume of Kelly's work, down to the most essential and powerful essence of his appeal. It has been designed as a high energy performance relying on interaction with audiences, and presents the best of Paul Kelly's catalogue, including the hits "To Her Door", "Before Too Long", "From Little Things Big Things Grow", "Dumb Things", and some surprises like "Beggar on the Street of Love" (written for Jenny Morris) and an Australian anthem in "Treaty" (written with Yothu Yindi).

Audiences are treated to hearing all the hits and recreating all the characters and the places that Kelly's audiences and fans have come to know and love. All this appeal is packed into two musical sets supported by lighting and visuals. No time for navel gazing and introspection here, but a "show" in the real sense of the word, to send audiences home singing.

When audiences hear "those songs" again and they re-create those pictures that only Paul Kelly can conjure up, all they can do is sing along loudly and proudly. ●●

Celebrity chef Alastair McLeod will demonstrate how to cook fresh produce at the Beef and Bevvies event.

BEEF AND BEVVIES AT THE BEL

by Kylie Thompson

The Moreton Bay region has a growing reputation for producing some of the most beautiful meats, herbs, fruits, and vegetables available in Queensland, and celebrity chefs and cooking gurus are starting to take notice of our local producers.

Visitors could spend a month of weekends exploring the wealth of deliciousness grown in the region, but not all of us have weekends free for gastronomical explorations. For those who want to learn about the best of Moreton region's food producers without all the driving, the Belvedere Hotel has got you covered. Starting at 11:30am on Friday October 16, the Belvedere's Steak and Crabhouse will be transformed into a local produce wonderland for the Beef and Bevvies farm to table appreciation event.

The Beef and Bevvies event aims to showcase the region's producers, letting guests get to know who's who in the local industry, and what sort of produce is available from within the Moreton Bay region. The event will feature displays and tastings from a range of local producers, as well as guest speakers including Terry Nolan from Nolan's Private Meat Selection.

Listening to producers talk about their wares is always a great way to learn more about the quality of local food, but the best way to fall in love with local produce is to taste it at its best. Guests will be tempted with a three course lunch extravaganza showcasing the best the region has to offer, as well as a four hour beverage package to keep thirsts quenched.

While our Redcliffe restaurants serve the best in local produce, it can be hard to know the best ways to prepare top quality ingredients at home. For those interested in learning how to make the best of local produce in the comfort of their own homes, celebrity chef and local produce ambassador Alastair McLeod will be on hand for a cooking demonstration and conversation with guests. Bring your questions, and your appetite!

With live entertainment, an auction, and even a VIP after party in the Koopa Marquee following the event, the Beef and Bevvies lunch promises to be a fun-filled afternoon with something for everyone. ●●

MUSIC WILL TAKE YOU TO EXOTIC LANDS

by Kylie Thompson

Music is a constant backdrop to Redcliffe life, with a range of bands, performers, and musical theatre events and opportunities on offer to suit even the most discerning of music lovers. What you might not know is that Moreton Bay has a thriving orchestral scene, with the Moreton Bay Symphony Orchestra, MBSO Youth Symphony, and Junior Strings Symphony making names for themselves both in and outside of the Redcliffe Community.

On 17th October, this trio of musical powerhouses are joining forces to present Exotic Lands, a musical adventure through some of the most beautiful instrumental music you'll hear. The concert itself will be a feast for the senses; an inspiring tour of worlds magical, mythical, and mundane through a dynamic collection of beautiful and inspiring pieces of music.

Conducted by Bronwyn Gibbs, and featuring soloists Renat Yusupov on the cello, and James Jelliffe on percussion, the concert will be a magical blending of symphony classics and modern musical inspirations.

Exotic Lands will feature well known and loved pieces such as Edward Elgar's Cello Concerto in E Minor, Overture from the Opera Vanda by Antonin Dvorak, and Scheherazade, and The Sea and Sinbad's Ship by Rimsky-Korsakov, but there's plenty on offer for those with more modern musical leanings.

Lovers of fantasy franchises The Hobbit, The Lord of the Rings and Game of Thrones will be in for a treat, with musical arrangements from Middle Earth and Westeros included in the programme. And for those who love a bit of piracy in their movies, music from Pirates of the Caribbean will also be showcased by the orchestra.

For patrons of the orchestra, there will be an afternoon tea before the concert.

Tickets are limited, and available at the door. Adults are $18, with concession tickets at $15. High school students are $10, and children under 12 are free. ●●

JOHNNY CASH: THE CONCERT

by Melissa Bailey

Johnny Cash: The Concert started in 2009 as a tribute to The Man in Black by Stuie French and Daniel Thompson. Stuie French is widely known as an Australian guitar legend and pioneer of the Johnny Cash: The Concert show. What was supposed to be a one-night tribute to Cash turned into a hugely popular succession of sold out performances in southern Sydney before the duo began to tour Australia with the show.

Award-winning singer Daniel Thompson, who has released his own country music in the past, has taken the stage and performs as Cash with passion.

"Doing this sort of thing is real rewarding and sure, I'd like to get some of my own stuff out there sooner rather than later, but I'd be just as happy singing these songs for the rest of my life," Thompson says.

It was 60 years ago that an unknown music legend-to-be started his own genre of music with the Memphis Recording Service, and the hit single 'Hey Porter' was released on the Sun Records label in 1955.

Cash wrote and recorded over 800 songs and recorded more than 1500 in total during his lifetime. As the only artist in history to have been inducted into the Rock and Roll, Country Music and Songwriters Halls of Fame, he added to this unprecedented honour by being included as a member of the Rockabilly and Gospel Halls of Fame. Cash won countless awards, including 14 Grammies, and is still loved well into the 21st Century as his memory lives on.

French and Thompson will bring audiences the expected hits from Cash's unmatched career, and will also include some old forgotten beauties from his extensive catalogue of songs.

The duo will be touring Australia with Cash's greatest and most loved hits from August through to November. ●●

Tips to get your spook on this HALLOWEEN

Halloween has always been a holiday filled with mystery, magic and superstition. It began as a Celtic end-of-summer festival during which people felt especially close to deceased relatives and friends. Halloween becomes increasingly popular in this country every year. This year, Halloween falls on a Saturday, ensuring an extra festive celebration of ghouls, zombies and candy.

1 Movie Night

Host a frightening movie night with classics like the Nightmare on Elm Street series, Fright Night, The AmytivilleAmityville Horror or Paranormal Activity. There are so many great horror movies from the classics to modern thrillers. You can tone it down with Hocus Pocus or Witches for the kids.

2 House Party

Whether it's for the kids or the kids at heart, there is a host of fun games to play. Bobbing for apples is always sure to get a laugh, no matter how old you are. Hold a fashion parade with prizes for best or scariest costume.

3 Don't forget the treats

Get creative this year and make your own decorations or treat bags for trick or treaters. If you have kids, be sure to get them involved. Have fun with it and use it as an opportunity to unleash the kid in you.

For more ideas on costumes, craft and party themes go to http://www.celebrations.com/c/halloween-party-ideas/all

If you want to head out and have someone else do the hard work of decorating for you, here's what's happening around Redcliffe this Halloween:

COCOMANGO

John and Gloria Ziolek recently celebrated a successful 12 months in business at their Filipino inspired restaurant, Cocomango.

Gloria grew up in the Philippines and paid very close attention to the cooking methods from all over the country in the hope of one day fulfilling her dream of becoming a chef. Each province of the Philippines has its own unique cuisine and methodology and Gloria has mastered them all, adding her own twists along the way.

“Filipino food can be quite bland so I like to add herbs and spices,” explains Gloria.

After years of nursing and motherhood, this is Gloria’s first professional role as a cook. Gloria is a self-taught cook with no training at all, and in the words of her adoring husband, she “runs rings around the professional chefs in the kitchen. She’s fantastic and she did it all herself.” John has a wealth of experience as a business analyst and he knew he made a smart business decision bringing his wife’s cooking to the masses.

Gloria is a perfectionist and has a clear goal of delivering authentic food to pass on a fantastic culinary and cultural experience to her diners.

“We hired professional chefs in the kitchen and initially I wasn’t happy with the food. It was too commercialised. I wanted it to be more authentic, home style cooking. So that’s what I taught them to do,” she says.

As well as delicious food, John explains their point of difference. “The quantity is our draw card. Obviously the quality is good but we want to provide quantity as well. The culture in the Philippines is about sharing food. So we have big portions to provide for that. And it’s great value for money.”

This large restaurant can seat up to 130 people and has a charming feel that makes for a fun atmosphere. The real surprise is the Karaoke room available after 6pm. Tucked away behind the main dining room is a fully licenced bar that leads into a Karaoke room set up with long tables where you can enjoy your meal or have a sing between courses. The room can be hired out for a function at no extra cost on a first come first served basis.

A WORD FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVES

Koliana Winchester

Moreton Bay Regional Council is committed to improving the provision of high quality public spaces that enhance the natural character of an area.

Works to repair the road pavement on Marine Parade between Sydney Street and MacDonnell Road have recently been completed. In conjunction with these works, improvements were made to the underground storm water systems.

In my time as your local councillor, I have received numerous requests from residents of Marine Parade to reduce the speed of traffic and improve pedestrian crossing facilities. As part of the project, a slower speed environment has been achieved by the installation of three raised pedestrian crossings and the reduction of the speed limit to 40kph, which is consistent with Margate Parade to the south.

The project has created improvements that support road user safety and strengthen east west pedestrian connections to Suttons Beach.

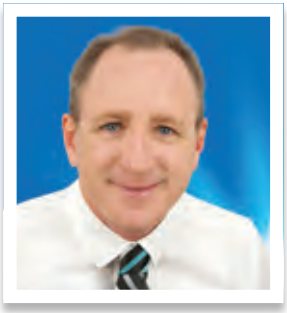
Yvette D'Ath MP

It is that time of the year again. The Queensland Cancer Council's Relay for Life is only weeks away, and it is time to join a team or form your own team to support this great cause. This year the Moreton Bay relay will be held at the Pine Rivers Showground, Gympie Rd., Lawnton from 3pm Saturday 31st October to 9am Sunday 1 November and will again raise vital funds for the Cancer Council's research, prevention, information and support services.

Cancer touches many local families and Relay for Life provides a chance for the Redcliffe and north side community to recognise and celebrate local cancer survivors, patients and their caregivers, to honour and remember loved ones lost to cancer and to raise money to help save more lives. This is my ninth year as Patron for Relay for Life, and with the generous support of our Redcliffe community my team (the Peninsula Possums) has raised over $35,600.

This year you can support this most worthy cause by joining my team and obtaining sponsors or by donating to the team. Just log on to http://www.relayforlife.org.au or contact my electorate office on 07 34487100.

Luke Howarth MP



My job is to provide locals with strong representation in Federal Parliament and I am and have always been 100% focused on our electorate.

I supported and worked very closely with our past Prime Minister Tony Abbott. We ensured vital local infrastructure was prioritised and small businesses were supported to encourage job creation. I took particular interest in stopping illegal boat arrivals because my constituents wanted to maintain our sovereignty.

I have worked closely with Malcolm Turnbull, who was a regular visitor to our electorate in his previous role as Communications Minister, and I will support him as Australia's 29th Prime Minister.

I want to assure you, the people I represent, that it will be business as usual. My work ethic won't change and my community representation will continue.

THE ART OF BEING, BIRTHING AND BABY WISDOM

Catherine Donaldson has always been passionate about newborns and supporting pregnant mums. After meeting her friend Mikaela Duffy who is a naturopath, bodytalk practitioner and a trained doula, Catherine found her second calling in life and soon became a trained doula as well as a nanny.

The word 'doula' comes from the ancient Greek meaning "a woman who serves" and is now used to refer to a trained and experienced professional who provides continuous physical, emotional and informational support to a mother before, during and just after birth.

Catherine, Mikaela and another friend Karen Dickson got together and created a formidable team. Together they came up with the concept of Being, Birthing and Baby Wisdom retreats.

"Mikaela specialises in women's health and nutrition and Karen is a qualified Zen Thai massage therapist. We all thought it would be great to provide a creative, relaxing, nurturing space for women to explore and express their feelings and fears about birthing and motherhood, while also learning about traditional baby wisdoms, optimum pregnancy health, good nutrition pre and post pregnancy, massage techniques and the opportunity to create symbolic art work to take home", explains Catherine.

On this retreat, women who are in their second or third trimester discover their creative side. Participants are encouraged to dive into their inner pregnant self, listen deeply to their body and their baby, relax by the pool, watch educational films, eat delicious food and learn about optimal nutritional health during pregnancy. On the Sunday afternoon, birthing partners are invited to learn how to relieve the mother's pain and discomfort through massage during birth.

"No one offers anything quite like this in Queensland. This is the first retreat of its kind and I am so happy to be able to offer it to our lovely pregnant mamas in Brisbane," say Catherine.

The retreat is held on the last weekend of each month, (except in December) starting 31st October. For program details, go to Facebook page 'The Art of Being, Birthing and Baby Wisdom'. Find tickets online at www.trybooking.com/155833 or contact Catherine on 0402132579. ●●

EXPERIENCE THE BENEFITS OF MEDITATION & YOGA

Mediation is an ancient art that dates back to prehistoric eras. It has only been in the past few years that neuro-scientific research has shown the many benefits of meditation, that range from the alleviation of depression and anxiety to evidence of new connections formed in the brain that lead to improved holistic health and well-being in long-term practitioners.

A few weeks ago I attended the opening launch night of ASMY's Yoga and Meditation workshops in Redcliffe. The usually stark community hall was transformed into a wonderful sanctuary, invoking peace and stillness with lamps, cushions, blankets, mats and an array of bright colours. What struck me was the collective positive energy of a room full of complete strangers from different walks of life.

The meditation began with Yoga Nidra, breathing exercises to turn the attention inward. Afterwards, there was a guided mindfulness practice. This was concluded by mantra meditation.

The word "mantra" is a Sanskrit word that has two parts; man- means mind, and -tra to draw away from.

I spoke to one of the volunteers who helps put the workshops together, Yasi Hassan, and asked her how the workshops came to Redcliffe.

"I did a meditation class at the Caboolture Health & Harmony Expo and so many people asked where they could do more. We only had a centre in West End and I thought that the people up here needed something like this."

Yasi and her good friends Helen and Kevin travel from all over Brisbane to voluntarily run the workshops here in Redcliffe.

"We live in a society where stress and anxiety are such a big problem in our world. Through this practice we can relieve stress and calm anxiety just by practicing five minutes a day. The more people practice, the effects will ripple out and we will start to see the benefits across communities."

If you are thinking of trying meditation but don't know where to start, these free workshops are a great introduction to a practice that benefits so many aspects of your life.

As Yasi says, "No matter where you come from, no matter how old you are, meditation is something that everyone can do." ●●

Workshops are run every Monday from 7pm – 8:15pm

The workshops are free (run by donation)

189 Redcliffe Parade, Redcliffe

LIGHT TRAVELS AT REDCLIFFE GALLERY

Sunrise over the magnificent Moreton Bay, thick heavy rain falling into the canopy of Lamington National Park and the graceful flight of an Osprey over the Tangalooma Wrecks. These are the scenes that we have all grown to love and admire living in the great south-east. 'Light Travels' is a compilation of ten years of landscape and nature photography by local photographer Kylie Jackson.

"One of the most beautiful sights is the first light of day filtering through the mist of an ancient forest; the Albert's lyrebird makes me smile.

"For me, it is through the act of capturing an image that I find a quiet peace, delivered from the beauty of a natural landscape. So many of us spend our days in a noisy concrete world and I rely on hiking and photography to maintain a balance. That perfect light, the magic hues of morning; my heartbeat quickens and once again I am truly living," says Kylie.

Kylie grew up exploring the headlands and waterways of Yuraygir National Park in NSW. She was introduced to photography through her Father, who was a passionate underwater photographer in the North Solitary Marine Park and Minnie Water area. It was here that at a young age Kylie found her love for the natural world, with a particular focus on the many native bird species in the area.

In her late teenage years Kylie purchased her first Konica Minolta film camera, a decision that would have a profound impact on Kylie's future. From this moment Kylie would spend her non-working hours in search of magic light in beautiful locations. She strongly believes that photographing the natural world often creates a connection with it, a need to obtain greater knowledge of the subjects and ultimately, respect for them. ●●

MASTER PASTELLISTS OF AUSTRALIA EXHIBITION

Art exhibition history will be made at the Redcliffe Art Society Gallery in the refurbished old Redcliffe Fire Station in September 2015.

For the first time in its history, these Master Pastellists are exhibiting together.

The exhibitors include internationally recognised artists and members in demand as teachers world-wide, and Master Pastellists will be demonstrating their art free to the public every day during the exhibition.

These Pastel Society of Australia Inc. members are awarded "Master Pastellist" status in recognition of the high level of knowledge and skill in the execution of pastel art.

The Pastel Society of Australia was originally founded in 1985 by John and Ivy Jeffery and now, 30 years later, has developed into an organisation with members across Australia and overseas.

Members of the PSA Inc. are very excited to have their inaugural exhibition of Master Pastellists' work at the Redcliffe Art Society Gallery during October. For the first time the PSA Inc. will have over 30 pastel artworks of extremely high quality and of an international standard on display in one location.

The community will also have the opportunity to see the artists at work during the exhibition with demonstrations daily. As these artists are highly sought after and most have tutored internationally, it will be an amazing opportunity to see the masters at work.

With a general membership of approximately 200, there are currently 29 Master Pastellists in the Society and the list of awards and achievements within this group is outstanding. Many of these wonderful artists have been recognised with international awards and published in international artist magazines. ●●

PERSONAL WATERCRAFT RACING TITLES AT PELICAN PARK

by Kylie Thompson

With beaches like ours, it's no surprise that Queensland is a hot-spot for personal watercraft racing. Calmer beaches, such as Redcliffe's own Bell's Beach, are ideal spaces for jet ski racing events, allowing spectators to get closer to the action without compromising safety. With perfect conditions a regular occurance in Redcliffe, it's no wonder the Queensland Titles of Personal Watercraft Racing will be held at Pelican Park this year throughout spring and summer.

For those who've never seen a personal watercraft race, it's an incredible sight. A course of red and yellow buoys will be set up, turning the quiet waterway into a thriving ocean racetrack. Racers will negotiate the increasingly choppy conditions, racing in straights and cornering at speeds while trying to keep ahead of their competitors as they hurtle towards the finish line.

Spectators will be able to safely watch all the action from the rock sea wall of Pelican Park. The closest positions fill up early, so consider bringing a picnic and making a day of it with the family. Remember, there aren't a lot of places to hide from the sun in Pelican Park, so be sun safe, bring lots of water, and if you've got kids sensitive to loud noises, consider some ear protection.

Queensland is home to some of the fastest racers in the country, with Brisbane home to both the Kawasaki Jet Ski Racing Factory Team and the Yamaha Waverunner Factory Team. With all the talent on offer this year, the three rounds look set to be an edge-of-your-seat battle right to the end. Races are held in different class divisions, so that competitors are as evenly matched as possible, making sure there is no chance of an easy victory for competitors.

It's not all about the racing, though. The Queensland Personal Watercraft Club, who are hosting the events, are vocal supporters of riders learning to use their watercraft responsibly. Competitions such as these are a safe way for riders to challenge themselves and their craft without risking swimmers or other water goers.

The three rounds of the Queensland Titles will be held on October 18, November 15, and December 13. Information about the events, and how to join the club can be found on the QPWC Facebook page. ●●

GRANTS SUPPORT LOCAL SPORT STARS

Considering its small population, Redcliffe has produced a large number of sporting champions throughout history. We are a very proud region with a proud sporting heritage. Some of our greatest sports people include Olympic swimmers Leisel Jones and Geoff Huegill as well as rugby league champions Petero Civoniceva and Arthur Beetson.

Redcliffe boasts many sporting clubs ranging from dragon boating, baseball, golf, rugby league, to tennis and much more. These clubs provide an opportunity for future sporting stars to get a start in what could potentially be a lifelong dream of a professional sporting career.

Peninsula residents Jacob Caruana, Jade Starr and Chase Duffy were among 11 local youths to receive a Local Sporting Champions Grant in the first round for 2015-16.

Federal Member for Petrie Luke Howarth MP presented the young sports stars with their certificates at a special afternoon tea.

"Jacob, Jade and Chase received $500 grants towards their sporting endeavours.

"Their success is a credit to their parents, their schools and their own motivation, but also to our community for the opportunities that our local sports clubs provide."

Jacob competed in the National School Sport Triathlon Championships, Jade represented Queensland in the Pacific School Games (swimming) and Chase took part in the Secondary School Boys' Golf competition.

The Local Sporting Champions program is an Australian Government initiative designed to provide financial assistance for young people (12-18 years) towards the costs of competing, coaching or officiating at a state or national championships.

Luke Howarth MP said young people and their families can find it difficult to meet the ongoing and significant costs associated with participation in sport.

"The Local Sporting Champions program is designed to support and encourage our next generation of Australian sports stars."

This fantastic initiative is just one reason to get out and pursue a sport. For all age groups, sporting teams provide a great way to keep fit, a way to meet new people and get involved in our local community.

PROPERTY MARKET UPDATE

SPRING HAS SPRUNG

by Jody Allison-McLachlan

With the bonus of interest rates still being low, buyers are at the ready and keen to lock in a home rather than pay rent; however, supply is not keeping up with the demand.

As a seller it might be time to consider the spring auction market. Less supply than demand could mean achieving a higher price through the right auction campaign.

Auctioneer Charles Higgins says, "There is already hype of volume increasing dramatically, however we see this as a continuation of the increased volume we saw in July compared to the same time last year. We' re seeing the confidence of the winter market reflect on vendors who are eager to beat the traditional spring selling season and capitalise on the strong results we've seen in the last two months. Queensland's auction clearance rates have been trending upward since around May this year, recording a strong preliminary result of approximately 58% last Saturday."

Auction or Private Treaty, either way, spring is in the air and the Redcliffe Peninsula is the place to live.

Considering a time to sell or buy? Drop by and see Jody, Ian or one of the team at 91 Marine Pde, Redcliffe, obligation free.

THE SECRET IS OUT!!

by Kerry Bostock

The Redcliffe Peninsula has been the Moreton Bay Region's best kept secret for far too long… until now, that is.

This past year has seen the start of many new developments springing up all over the Redcliffe Peninsula. These new developments are attracting interest from locals as well as buyers from all over Brisbane, interstate and overseas. The majority of the buyers in these new complexes are owner-occupiers that are looking to enjoy the lifestyle that the Peninsula has to offer.

A good percentage of the people moving into new complexes already live locally, and are looking to downsize and enjoy a more relaxed lifestyle; this has a two-fold effect on the property market and Redcliffe as a whole. As completion dates come closer, unit buyers ready their properties (usually family size homes) for sale. Young families that see the benefit and potential of living in the bayside area continue to be quick to snap these properties up as they hit the market.

Driven by an ageing population, there are many more unit complexes of varying sizes planned for the Peninsula as the demand for bayside unit living grows.

The Peninsula as a whole has a lot to offer by way of schooling, community events, social activities, cafés and restaurants, not to mention the foreshore, to which Moreton Bay Regional Council has done a tremendous job improving over the last 20 years.

As the population has grown, so has the infrastructure to support this new growth. With continuing work being undertaken around the Peninsula, the new rail link and increasing community events each year, Redcliffe will continue to be of interest to retirees and young families alike. Redcliffe is fast becoming Brisbane's "NORTH SHORE", which is something residents of the Peninsula can all be proud of.

CAPITAL CITY LAND PRICES JUST KEEP ON RISING

As soon as vacant land comes to market in many of Australia's capital city areas, it's quickly snapped up. CoreLogic RP Data research analyst Cameron Kusher has recently confirmed that city-based vacant land prices increased significantly over the 2014-2015 financial year. However, Mr Kusher noted that this was not the case in regional areas where prices actually went backwards.

Settled sales data over the 2014-15 financial years shows that vacant land selling prices increased by 6.0% across the combined capital cities. However, across the combined regional markets, land prices have fallen by 3.4% over the year.

As at June 2015, the median selling price of vacant land was recorded at $258,543 across the combined capital cities and $156,500 across the combined regional markets. Median land prices in regional areas of the country are now 39% lower than those in capital cities, the widest differential since August 1990. Over the 25 years to June 2015, median vacant land prices have increased by 417% (6.8%pa) across the combined capital cities and by 422% (6.8%pa) across the combined regional areas.

"With higher prices and fairly steady land areas, the rate per square metre of land has continued to rise over the past year across the combined capital cities while it has fallen in regional markets," Mr Kusher said.

At the end of June 2015 the rate per square metre was recorded at $557 across the combined capital cities and $170/sqm across the combined regional markets.

As can be seen in the chart below, the differential in the rate per square metre between capital city and regional residential vacant land is significant. According to Mr Kusher, this is a function of the high cost of vacant land in capital cities and the relatively small lot sizes.

To put this in perspective, Mr Kusher noted that 25 years ago the rate/sqm for capital city vacant land was $66 and the typical lot size was 750sqm. Today capital city land costs $557/sqm and is only 450sqm on average. While a 750sqm lot in a capital city cost $50,000 25 years ago, today it would cost $417,800.

"While restricted land supply and excessive charges associated with new development remain, we anticipate that the cost of vacant land and subsequently new housing will continue to rise," Mr Kusher said. ●●

THE GOAL POSTS HAVE BEEN MOVED

Since the beginning of the year, there have been a number of changes occurring in the finance world, more specifically around investment lending. APRA (who are the body that oversees lending in Australia) have flagged their concerns over banks lending to investors. The main reason for these concerns are the levels of investment lending in Sydney and Melbourne, and they have asked the banks to keep their growth in investor loans to below 10%; investment lending was growing at a rate of 21% year on year. Whilst the focal point has been Sydney and Melbourne, these changes effect investors Australia-wide.

In response to these concerns and to keep their commitment as responsible lenders, many institutions have reviewed their acceptable loan to value ratios for investment purposes. Some lenders have made changes such as a minimum 20% deposit to purchase an investment property. Other changes include implementing a differential in the interest rate charged for investment loans as opposed to owner-occupied home loans. We have seen CBA and ANZ announce increases of 0.27% on all their variable investment loans and AMP increasing their investment variable rates by 0.47%.

APRA has also announced concerns regarding loan affordability, and lenders have made changes to the way they assess an applicant's capacity to repay the debt, in turn making sure there is enough of a buffer so investors can afford the debt, even if rates increase.

So, what does this mean for buyers in our local areas of bayside Brisbane? Already we've seen a noticeable drop in rental property purchases within our region, with many investors explaining their lending capacity has been seriously affected by the changes. Likewise, we are hearing cases of purchasers trying to buy their own home to occupy also experiencing a change in financial advice from late last year until now.

Our professional advice? Make sure you have clarified your financial lending capacity prior to making an offer on a new home. Even if you did so 6 months ago, we strongly recommend you get updated confirmation.

6 STEPS TO SELLING THIS SPRING

by Andrew Campbell

1. Choose an agent

Selling your home can be stressful, so selecting the right agent to work alongside you is incredibly important. Selling a home is a collaborative process. Having a good, open working relationship with your agent is a must. Always ensure that your property is handled by a professional committed to best practice values and a high level of service and communication.

2. Strategy

Ask your agent for their recommendation on the method of sale, such as whether you should sell by auction or private treaty and why. Speak to them about marketing strategies and how they relate to your area and your target market.

3. Price

Setting a realistic price can generate greater buyer interest and achieve a sale more promptly than if a property is overpriced. Talk to your agent about recent sales and the type of competition that your property will have so that you can make an informed decision on your goal price.

4. Presentation

The way that your property is presented to the market can greatly impact your sale price and time on the market. Remove any unnecessary furniture and personal items before marketing photos are taken to ensure each room is shown at its best. A cluttered room is a turn off for most buyers. It is also a good idea to complete minor repairs, and the garden and outside of a property should not be forgotten. Making sure that the lawns and gardens are mown and weed-free helps to improve a buyer's first impression of a property.

5. Inspections

Open homes have become essential for any successful campaign, with most buyers waiting until the weekend to inspect available properties. It's important to allow prospective buyers the freedom of inspecting the property without feeling like they are 'intruding' in someone else's home. If you have pets, it's a great idea to take them for a walk during the inspections.

6. Negotiations

Your agent is a trained negotiator and is there to get you the best price possible from the market. When considering offers, be sure to take the conditions into account as well as price. Be involved in the negotiation process and work with your agent to achieve a great result.
