MORETON BAY FOODIES IN FOR A Delicious TREAT

Story Emma Harley

You heard it here first folks, the inaugural Moreton Bay Food and Wine Festival will launch this Spring, and Redcliffe is set to host the two-day gastronomic affair.

And what a place to host the event — with its stunning beachside scenery, picturesque Redcliffe is a shining jewel in the Moreton Bay crown and home to a huge variety of exceptional food and dining experiences.

The Moreton Bay region has made quite a name for itself in the culinary world, boasting exceptional produce, dining establishments and gastronomic talents to rival anywhere in Australia.

Bayside locals and visitors from near and far will have the opportunity to explore the area's finest food, wine and entertainment, all set amongst the seascape of Redcliffe.

Moreton Bay Region Industry and Tourism CEO Shane Newcombe says the Moreton Bay Food and Wine Festival is a fitting expansion to an already impressive line-up of events in the Moreton Bay Region.

"Our region has a fantastic offering of local produce, talented chefs, amazing restaurants and cafés and this festival will aim to showcase these, all against the stunning backdrop of Moreton Bay," he says.

Held over the September 8-9 weekend, the event will take over the Redcliffe waterfront and will feature unique dining experiences, cooking demonstrations, celebrity chefs, hands-on workshops, food trucks, dining precincts, pop-up bars, market stalls and more.

"The festival is free to enter, and patrons can enjoy an extensive program of entertainment on offer including a line-up of live music and performers all weekend, plus roving entertainers and the GKS Lawyers fireworks display on Saturday night," Mr Newcombe says.

> "Many of the restaurants along the Redcliffe foreshore will offer specialty menus for the event, and some will host special ticketed events or workshops over the weekend."

Mr Newcombe adds, "We anticipate the festival will bring locals from the Moreton Bay Region as well as visitors from Brisbane and surrounding areas to the Redcliffe Peninsula."

Cheeky tricksters to wave their wands

> “I used to do magic on TV, and do stand up comedy as well. My first ever theatre show as a solo performer was at the Redcliffe Cultural Centre, so it’s very cool to come back years later with my new show.

Redcliffe shows a little skin this month with the Cultural Centre’s showing of the international adults-only performance, The Naked Magicians.

Magicians Christopher Wayne and Mike Tyler are the stars of the show and take magic to a newer, naughtier level.

Performer and co-creator Christopher says the show is in its fifth year and is one of the biggest touring magic shows on the planet.

“People can expect to laugh a lot and experience amazing magic,” he says.

“The show is legitimately the funniest show our audiences (and us) have ever seen.

“The magic is incredible, the naughty elements are fun and as a result of our daily workout regime, the two of us make sure that we give the audience something good to look at every night.”

Brisbane local Christopher says magic has been a part of his life for a long time.

“I always wanted to be a professional magician and pursued it as a career from about the age of 21,” he says.

“Mike and I were two best friends who did magic for a living, and we wanted to make something that had never been done before.

“Three simple words came to mind: Naughty. Magic. Show. Nobody had ever done it, so we decided to take the risk and be the ones that did it, and it changed our lives.

Christopher says they have been blown away by the success of the show, both in Australia and on an international level.

“We have played to over 200 cities in 7 countries, a run on London’s West End, and had huge success in the United States,” he says.

“We never dreamt it would explode like this, but every night when we walk on stage, no matter how many people there are in the audience or where we are, we walk out and perform with extreme gratitude.”

It's Showtime!

Story Donna Roberts

It's winter in Redcliffe, which means it's time for the Redcliffe Show! The annual event held at the end of June sees our local showgrounds come alive for three days with light, colour, smiles, and fun.

Barbara Mapp has been the secretary of the Redcliffe Show Society for the past 34 years. She is also the granddaughter of Charles Webb who began the tradition of holding an annual show in Redcliffe in 1950.

Setting the show apart from larger ones in the city, Barbara and her team of volunteers can cater to the needs and trends of residents in the local area.

Visitors to this year's show can expect to see exciting new categories in the arts and crafts pavilions, as well as the resurrection of old favourites.

"It is a way for people on the Peninsula to show what they grow, or what they create, such as their art and woodcraft," Barbara said.

"It's showcasing all the things generated by the community and the local people."

This year also sees the reintroduction of the Miss Show Girl (18-26 years) and Show Princess (13-17 years) competitions. Judging of nominees will commence in June with the winners parading at the opening of the show.

Barbara is extremely proud of how local businesses all pitch in to sponsor the show each year, allowing the fantastic array of entertainment in the show's program.

"The support I get from local business people in sponsoring the show is amazing."

Gary Baxter, who brings the Trackskill V8 Ute Challenge spectacular to the show, always enjoys his visits back to the Peninsula.

"It's one of our favourite shows," Gary said.

"I love doing the relay with the people from the crowd and seeing how excited they get."

Gary will bring along two drivers who share among them a wealth of experience, having both raced on tracks like Bathurst, Gold Coast Indy and Clipsal.

Gary's favourite thing about visiting the Redcliffe Show is the community.

"I love the community spirit and the dedication of the volunteers."

■ The Redcliffe Show is held at the Redcliffe Showgrounds from Friday, June 29 until Sunday, July 1. Adult entry $12; Children and Pensioners entry $6.

Redcliffe SHOW

The Spirit of the Show

When you think of the Redcliffe Show, most people would think of fairy floss, rides and show bags. But what about volunteers, and charity donations?

The Redcliffe Show Society was formed in 1949, with the first show held in 1950. What many people may not realise is that the Redcliffe Show Society is a not-for-profit group made up entirely of volunteers.

The budget for the show — which this year is spending $96,000 on entertainment over the show weekend — is based on the generosity and sponsorship of local businesses.

Any profits obtained over the course of the weekend are then shared throughout many beneficiaries in the local community.

Barbara Mapp, Secretary of the Redcliffe Show Society, is very proud of the show's strong philanthropic heritage.

"All the people who work at the show receive a donation back to their organisation," Barbara said.

Groups such as the Redcliffe Coast Guard, local scout groups, Redcliffe High School, local Lions Club chapters, and the Redcliffe City Junior Cricket Club all contribute to various volunteer roles during the show, and in turn, receive a donation for their time and efforts.

Donations can then used by the groups to provide further important functions and services on the Peninsula.

Volunteers from the Redcliffe Lions, Norm & Liz Alcock

Following the show, many of the sideshow performers rent space on the showgrounds. Barbara mentioned this also contributes to the wider community, with many businesses benefitting from the generosity of the performers and their families.

"The sideshow people spend money locally, getting car repairs and buying appliances for their vans, going out to dinner. Putting money back into the community."

When asked about what she thinks is the highlight of the show, Barbara doesn't hesitate to name her favourite aspect.

"I think all the volunteer work throughout the year, to put on an amazing show," Barbara said.

"It's also just a great family-oriented show, particularly on the Friday where we put on a special program for all the local children."

■ If you have a passion for helping others, the Redcliffe Show Society is always looking for enthusiastic volunteers. Anyone interested can contact Barbara on ph. 3284 5387.

OUR PLAN FOR # A STRONGER ECONOMY

LUKE HOWARTH AND THE TURNBULL GOVERNMENT

SUPPORTING OLDER AUSTRALIANS

Finances for a longer life: The Pension Work Bonus will be increased so aged pensioners can earn an extra $50 per fortnight and for the first time self-employed pensioners can access the bonus and earn up to $300 per fortnight without reducing their pension.

Jobs and skills: Access to the Restart wage subsidy for Australians over 50 will be expanded, providing up to $10,000 to employers to hire and support new workers. A new Skills and Training incentive will be introduced to contribute up to $2,000 to help upgrade skills.

Supporting choice and a healthy long life: To support Australians who wish to stay at home, the Government is providing an additional 14,000 high-level home care places, this adds to the 6,000 places the Government funded since the last budget.

Floral and Art festival

This June, Redcliffe will come alive with colour at the Redcliffe Peninsula Floral and Art Festival. In what can only be described as a feast for the senses, the Floral and Art Festival will showcase floral installations and displays, breathtaking art and delicious Devonshire Tea will be available to tantalize all of the senses.

St Peter the Fisherman Anglican Church has teamed up with the incredible force that is Redcliffe Art Society to bring this festival to Redcliffe. We chat to Liz Peters who is one of the coordinators of the event who explains, "Over 1000 people attended the two-and-a-half-day event last year, and after the amazing and encouraging comments in the visitors' book, we decided to make it an annual event. This year we are spreading our wings to include all of Australia's states and territories."

Each state and territory will be represented by landmarks, heritage and scenery as a tribute to the fallen soldiers to mark 100 years since the end of World War 1. There will also be a display of Indigenous artefacts, pottery, craft, music and a free wine tasting featuring South Australian grape varieties. A sensory delight, the festival also caters to the younger art lovers too. Liz says, "Our younger visitors are welcomed with a display depicting Waltzing Matilda, and they will be able to join in the craft activity to make items to add to the display."

If you love souvenirs, be sure to pick up your own piece of the festival. Liz says, "Greetings cards depicting Australian views and flora will be on sale for $1 each as well as Tasmanian photographer, Sue Guiver's photographic talent, who has also donated all proceeds of the sale of her cards, tags and bookmarks to the Floral and Art Festival costs.

"Of course, there are raffles, including a watercolour of the Flinders Ranges by the late Sandra Hines and a framed embroidery of native flowers and more."

There really is something to delight all ages and walks of life at the Floral and Art Festival. Head down to St Peter the Fisherman Church and enjoy a vibrant, colourful weekend.

Best Ink On Show

Story Christine Chamberlain

If you love body art or want to show off your best tattoo, you won't want to miss this month's Tattoo and Rockabilly Show on June 16.

Hosted by Patriots Australia Moreton Bay Chapter at their Redcliffe Showgrounds Clubhouse, the family day out is also a chance to check out some of the region's best ink artists and their work.

Sergeant at Arms for the Chapter, Shane Walker (known in the club as 'Mud'), says the show has been running on the Peninsula for nine years and is a fundraiser for a charity close to the club's heart, Legacy.

"It was first started [to] raise awareness of who we are and to get a bit of money for charity, and it has grown to where it is today," Shane says.

"The show is all about people coming along with their families, enjoying the day and showing off their art."

A highlight of the day will be the Miss Patriots 2018 Tattoo Pageant. Eight beautifully tattooed women have been shortlisted to take part in the pageant.

"All the ladies dress in the rockabilly 50s/60s style, and I think it is a popular part of the day because it brings back a style from yesteryear and probably photos they have seen from their mothers' or grandmothers' day," Shane says.

The tattoo competition is broken up into a number of categories, and trophies are awarded for best and runner-up.

"Tattoos are a personal thing usually, and people like to show them off, and it is good for the tattooists who have done the work as well because their work is seen."

Gates open at 10am. Live music will entertain the crowd all day. There will be a licenced bar, food and clothing for sale. Two tattooists will be operating on the day.

Entrance to the show is $10 for adults and children are free. It costs $5 to enter the tattoo competition in as many categories as you would like.

All money raised on the day goes to Legacy.

"We are a military club with all members having served or are still serving," he says.

"It is a way to donate to Legacy who help military veterans and their families."

A WORD FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVES

Cr James Houghton

Do not feed the birds.

I am continually receiving complaints about good intentioned persons feeding native birds with human food. Complaints have been received about the bird infestations in Bee Gees Way, Humpy Bong Creek, Morris Park, Oxley Avenue, Nathan Road and other places. Many of these bird species are pigeons, ibis and crows.

Unfortunately, there is no legislation that prohibits the feeding of wildlife, including birds, and although Council could erect signs to discourage this practice, past history shows that these are generally disregarded. Those good intentioned people might not know they are doing wildlife more harm than good.

The only way this practice can cease legally is by government legislation. If you have any queries in relation to this matter, please direct them to the State Government's Department of Environment and Science (regulators of the Nature Conservation Act 1992). This Act governs the conservation of native wildlife in Queensland.

Luke Howarth MP

The last few weeks have been busy ones! The Federal Budget was handed down in Canberra, and since I've been back in the electorate, I've been out and about speaking to locals to ensure they know what the budget means for them.

I worked hard to represent older Redcliffe residents to the Treasurer and am pleased to see a range of measures to allow more choices and more support for them. The Budget has been well received, and it has different implications for everyone, so if you'd like more information specific to your circumstances, please don't hesitate to contact me at my office or pop by to one of my mobile offices.

I would like to congratulate all those who attended the Belvedere Hotel on May 2 in order to raise funds for the Redcliffe PCYC. Small Business Minister Craig Laundy was in attendance as the community raised over $700 for the PCYC to continue building a safer and healthier Redcliffe.

BAY'S ART EXHIBITION TURNS THE TIDE

Kim Cooper, artist and a co-ordinator of the exhibition

The Deception Bay foreshore will turn into a work of art this month with the annual 'Between The Tides' community art event, a collection of works from Brisbane artists.

Held on June 10, the installation will reach across the tidal sandbar to create a large-scale interactive installation.

Run by contemporary art group Carte Blanche, the installation, titled Tidal Dreams, is now in its sixth year and is a unique way to bring art into the open for all to enjoy.

Carte Blanche member Trudy Stephens says 'Between The Tides' is the perfect forum to experience art and celebrate the local surroundings, as well as address environmental issues.

"Visitors will discover a vast array of colour and movement from a distance and on closer inspection, they will be surprised by the intricate detail in some of the artwork," she says.

"The artwork is placed on the sand as the tide is receding and then taken away as the tide is coming back in.

"The area at Deception Bay was chosen because the low tide leaves a vast area of sand exposed, which is ideal for this exhibition.

"Most of the materials used are recycled or from nature, and there is always an environmental message."

Carte Blanche is passionate about working collaboratively towards group exhibitions within the community.

"We have been the artists in residence at Redcliffe State High School for the past five years working with students and staff, exhibiting at Redcliffe City Art Gallery, Pine Rivers Gallery, The Hub Gallery at Caboolture and The Fire Station Gallery at Redcliffe," she says.

"We also have developed a relationship with Cerebral Palsy League based at Cascade Place, and the artists have contributed artwork over the past few years.

"Thanks to kind donations from Koliana Winchester, our local councillor, we have purchased 20 metres of matting which we lay on the sand to enable the artists from Cascade to move onto the sand in their wheelchairs."

SIFT Café

A SIFT IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

A brand new cafe has been welcomed into the picturesque Scarborough community, and a family focus is front and centre.

Owner of Sift Cafe, Sam Sjaardema, says she and husband Steve come from a family with many roots in the culinary world, so when the spot for the cafe became available they jumped at the opportunity.

"We've always had the dream of opening something of our own — I was always told I should open my own bakery or cake shop as I love to bake, but I also love the other side of food," she says.

"I love the art behind food and how you can make something appeal to the eyes while eating it at the same time.

"Reality hasn't sunk in yet, and every time we're at the cafe, we both can't believe it's ours, our own piece of freedom, where we can cook, create anything our heart desires and not hold back for anyone."

Sam says they are excited about the direction Sift is heading and the love they have poured into the exciting menu.

"We will be offering a menu of our own favourite dishes, which we have come to love over the years, as well as our own spin on a few classic favourites," she says.

"We hope to keep our customers intrigued as to what will be on the menu next week or what delicious new cakes and slices will be in the cake cabinet."

Sam says the business is very family and customer oriented, and they strive to go above and beyond to make everyone feel welcome at Sift.

> "We want to provide a place for people to relax and enjoy good food and coffee, away from all the hustle and bustle of your conventional cafes located in shopping complexes," she says.

"Although we live in Narangba, we practically live in Scarborough in the warmer months — we love the quiet waters and the lagoon, and our kids love exploring what Redcliffe has to offer.

"We have had some great feedback with a lot of the locals popping in and saying hi — they're all so eager for us to open and so are we.

"Our kids have helped with a few things on the menu, so keep a lookout for The Hulk green smoothie and our son Seth's speciality, Scrambled Eggs. Who knows, he may even get in there and cook it for you. Jokes."

WHAT'S HOT AROUND TOWN

Ready to freak out? Caught a dose of Saturday Night Fever that you just can't shake? Do you wanna step back, kiss yourself and scream "Hey!"? Then Redcliffe Leagues Club has the medicine for you on Saturday, 9 June, when Rob Rhodes and his band Livin' in the 70s will deliver a dose of disco, rock, funk and soul.

"This band was born a little over two years ago. We just wanted to be able to play songs that we truly loved and that we knew other people would enjoy just as much," Rob says.

"We cover rock acts like Fleetwood Mac, Pink Floyd, The Eagles and Doobie Brothers, groove to tunes by Boz Scaggs, Steely Dan and The Blues Brothers, before getting funky with some James Brown, Chicago and Ray Charles."

The band starts at 8pm, see redcliffeleagues.com.au for more.

If your tastes are less about funk and more about folk, get into the seaside groove at Suttons Beach Pavilion on Sunday, 17 June with melodic acoustic duo Josh & Ellie.

Josh says audiences can expect a laid-back afternoon of rhythmic tunes.

"I have been performing with Ellie for a year and a half and in public by myself since I was 10," he says.

"Our style of music is acoustic. We play a lot of different genres of music such as pop, indie, and a bit of rock. We also play some of our original songs.

"Occasionally our dads like to join us as well. And they will be joining us at our next performance."

Visit suttonsbeachpavilion.com.au for more information.

And don't forget the popular Picnic Hill returns on Friday, 8 June, with a fanfare of food trucks, beverages and live music.

Picnic Hill event coordinator Tamara Corcoran says the event has plenty for people of all ages.

"We have 13 food trucks coming, with King of Wings, I Heart Calamari, Wild Rissole and Pimp My Food just to name a few," she says.

"There will be live acoustic music on the stage from 4-9pm and live street art from 6pm. The Bar is open 4-9pm selling craft beer and mulled wine."

The event is held on the corner of Oxley and Anzac avenues, Redcliffe. See the Picnic Hill Facebook page for more information.

The Poor Relations.

What is happening to our once vibrant suburban Peninsula small business retail sector? That's the burning question on the lips of many of the Peninsula's shopkeepers. Worried, they complain about no customers, high rents and resultant empty shops, creating retail ghost suburbs and dramatically affecting their bottom lines.

A Margate local commented, "It appears that the only retailers doing any good now are the Opportunity Shops, and that's because they are cheap!" "Poor Service!" counters a Scarborough shopper.

"Peninsula retailers haven't yet learned how to make their customers feel wanted, by doing that bit extra for them," she concluded. "No, no, it's the lack of parking that's the problem!" said a frustrated motorist, looking for a side street park.

So is it high rent and prices coupled with poor service and lack of parking that is killing off the Peninsula's mum and dad retailers? Or are the reasons for the pain, caused by other factors.

Fifty or so years ago, the retail sector had its biggest shake-up, with the arrival of the shopping centre phenomenon. It was to be the death knell of the neighbourhood corner store. These corner stores just couldn't compete with the powerful supermarkets buying power, so they closed their doors. To counter this rapidly expanding mega shopping monopoly, suburban strip shopping sprang up and created its own niche market.

The Redcliffe Peninsula has five shopping centres at Blue Water Square, Peninsula Fair, Kippa-Ring, Margate and the Dolphin Centre, which all compete with a multitude of large and small strip suburban shopping complexes, for a market of some 55,000 customers.

Compounding this, we now have Queensland's largest retail complex, North Lakes, on our doorstep! Sure, the North Lakes customer catchment goes well beyond Redcliffe, but locals are increasingly tripping down the half dozen kilometres to Mango Hill to sample its delights. And we haven't even considered the effect of Internet shopping either.

So we know that we are over shopped. But for every problem there are solutions. Attrition, however painful, is one. Local retailers banding together to maximise ideas and resources is another. And finally, the most simplest of all retail strategies: ensure your product/service is as unique as you can get it, and that it has a clear customer need, that your pricing is right and your customers are always treated as the most important people in your store.

Some of the Peninsula's favourite food vendors will join the musical lineup at Scarborough Originals this month. Until now, the Originals have hosted a BBQ with local community groups, however, after popular demand, organisers The East Coast Originals have announced that a handful of food vans will be attending each event to keep the over 500 regular attendees full of delicious food.

Mr Bean, Wieners on the Run + The Juicy Mexican + More

> "We hope that more food options will help draw even bigger crowds out to the beachfront park and that even more will be exposed to the original music greatness on our stage! We are very excited for the June 2nd event and can't wait to try something from each food van!"
> — ECO Committee Member

Vendors will range from Mexican to gourmet hot dogs, vegan and specialty foods, coffee, drinks, and of course, no music event is complete without a selection of desserts. The event runs from 1pm at Jamieson Park, Scarborough and is essentially free to attend. Each event is entirely community funded through the generous sponsorship of local businesses in the forms of prizes for a raffle that is run throughout the afternoon. The June 2nd event will see Gold Coast's Reggae-Hop band The Wayward Suns headline the festival, supported by local blues-roots band Pat Flaherty, Brisbane electro-roots artist B-Syde as well as Sunshine Coast's singer-songwriter Malia Stirling.

The Scarborough Originals is an all-ages event that provides a platform for local, emerging and nationally touring bands to perform original content within the Redcliffe Peninsula. The not-for-profit community music festival is held on the first Saturday of every month and hosts four original bands on a grassroots stage.

■ The next event is Saturday, June 2 from 1pm- 5pm at Jamieson Park, Scarborough

Battle OF THE STATES

Story Christine Chamberlain

Interstate football rivalry at its best is coming to the Peninsula later this year. Redcliffe has been picked as the standout location to host Touch Football's showpiece event, the State of Origin, in November.

The series will be played at Dolphin Stadium on November 9-10, with the support of Moreton Bay Regional Council and Redcliffe Dolphins Rugby League Club.

Queensland will take on New South Wales in a three-game series across 14 divisions, finishing with the main event — the Men's and Women's Open series.

State of Origin Women's Open squad player and Moreton Bay local Hayley Maddick is super excited the Peninsula has been chosen for the event.

Hayley, 25, is based at the Caboolture Touch Football Club and has a passion for the fast-paced game she has been playing since she was eight years old.

The Country Club Colts player is most excited the state vs state competition will be held locally, making it ideal for locals to enjoy.

"I love State of Origin. The rivalry is just the best! It's the kind of competition I love to play," Hayley says.

"It's great when all your friends and family can come along and pack the stadium out."

Moreton Bay Council's Parks, Sport and Recreation spokesperson councillor Koliana Winchester can't wait for Dolphin Stadium to host the matches.

"Dolphin Stadium has proven [it's] up to the challenge when hosting top-class sporting events. And with the second stage of the stadium upgrade nearing completion, it will be the perfect venue for Touch Football's State of Origin come November," Cr Winchester says.

"State of Origin always brings out the most thrilling of spectacles, and as a footy-mad community, we're very excited."

The two-day tournament is expected to inject more than $1 million into the local economy with more than 1400 competitors, officials and spectators coming for the games.

"Not only are sporting events like this a great chance for footy fans to sink their teeth into some great competition, they're also a brilliant chance for visitors to experience the sights, sounds and tastes we have to offer.

"We might be rivals with New South Wales on the field, but we're definitely mates off the field, and we can't wait to share our hospitality and region with the New South Wales teams and spectators."

More Food, Fun and Entertainment at Redcliffe Foreshore

Story Jacqueline Henry

The peninsula foreshore is offering more choices for foodies with weekend food trucks popping up to tempt visitors at beach parks around Redcliffe.

Moreton Bay Regional Council started the Redcliffe Foreshore Activation trial last month with food trucks operating at beach parks around the peninsula.

Food truck owner Stefano De Blasi from Fuel by Salts Meats Cheese said the first few weeks of the trial were better than expected.

"It usually takes time to build up the customers in a new area, but the response has been positive. We sold out of certain items, so it's been good," Stefano said.

"We are in a different location each week, and the Council has been very supportive in publicising the food trucks.

"Redcliffe is an amazing area; people have told us they like coming to the parks and trying different food. They can relax on the grass while their children run around."

Division 6 Councillor Koliana Winchester said the trial began last month with 17 operators set up around the peninsula.

"This trial program was designed to invigorate the economy and vibrancy of Redcliffe by enabling a new wave of entertainment, food and tourism ventures to operate along the peninsula, bringing with it valuable tourism dollars," Cr Winchester said.

"More people coming into town means more foot traffic past existing bricks and mortar businesses, which means new opportunities to target new clientele.

"I look forward to further feedback from residents, visitors and local businesses as we roll out this exciting pilot program so we can adjust its operations as we go."

Division 5 Councillor James Houghton said, "We all know the spectacular beauty of Redcliffe and love our inimitable lifestyle, so it's time to show that off.

"If locals turn out to support these activations in the same way they have advocated for them, then I think this trial will be an enormous success," Cr Houghton said.

The trial runs until the end of September 2018.

Little Actors Shine

Story Philip Woods

This month at the Redcliffe Cultural Centre, no less than 250 local kids from prep to year 6, will showcase their theatrical skills in Grace Lutheran Primary School's musical theatre production of 'The Little Mermaid Junior'. Sounds pretty big!

It's the first time in over a decade that the school has undertaken to perform a musical, and Performing Arts teacher and show director Kyren Luostarinen has been busy making sure that everything and everyone is ready for showtime.

"We started auditions in the first week of the year. Most of the children have never been through this process, so we've made sure it's been a very nurturing environment for them. It's really good for them to see the whole thing from start to finish, to live and breathe performing arts." Kyren said.

"They're not all necessarily going to be the performer; there's a myriad of jobs that they can shine in. It's really exciting for them; every child can access the performing arts."

The musical is a Disney production based on the hugely successful 1989 animated film, which retells the classic tale written by Hans Christian Andersen about a mermaid who gives up her voice to find love.

Kyren says the production appeals to much of the current generation of parents, as well as being a great new story for the kids to learn and grow through.

"Many parents of our age groups of kids grew up with that movie; they can relate to it and can sing along. We were also looking at celebrating boys in musical theatre; and although it's 'The Little Mermaid', it's actually got some really strong male roles in it, and a number of them."

"Year 2's and 3's will perform before the show on the Friday, and prep's and year 1's before the matinee show on Saturday. We've made sure that parents have had a chance to get tickets to see their kids and it's already sold out to nearly 80%." Kyren says.

The musical will hit the stage at the Redcliffe Cultural Centre on Friday, June 15 (6.30pm) and Saturday, June 16 (2pm and 6.30pm), and each show will start with a pre-concert.

■ If you don't have a ticket yet, be quick! Call the Redcliffe Cultural Centre Box Office on ph. 3283 0407, or visit www.moretonbay.qld.gov.au to book your seats.

Oh Baby!

Story Donna Roberts

Born, bred, and educated in Redcliffe, Krystal Tupi runs her very successful local business on the Peninsula, employing local residents, and using her family and friends as models for her products.

The brand Chekoh was inspired by Krystal's desire to introduce more parents and caregivers to the benefits of baby-wearing, a passion which developed from her own experiences with her first-born son.

"Wearing my little one close kept him calm, comfortable and content," says Krystal.

"I could achieve my daily chores, and 'running around' without fuss, and I knew after just a few wears that I needed to make this amazing experience both fashionable, functional and accessible for modern mums and dads."

Krystal began by sewing her own handmade fabric baby slings for family and friends, and Chekoh officially launched in 2013 after the birth of her second boy.

"I found the only carrier styles available were either from overseas labels, out of my price range and honestly uncomfortable for the weather downunder," says Krystal.

> "They were also only available in some fairly underwhelming colour choices or 'baby prints', and I wanted parents to feel comfortable and confident wearing carriers in colours and prints that will complement their outfit and own personalities."

Krystal introduced an exclusive Bamboo fabric blend which made her products cooler to wear and eco-friendly for the environment.

In addition, Krystal is also a fixture on the baby expo circuit, taking her message of baby-wearing to the masses through educational sessions teaching parents how to comfortably wear their babies.

And in other exciting news, Chekoh has recently launched the 'Journey Dress', an innovative garment designed to take expectant mothers from bump to birth and beyond.

Boasting over 40,000 followers on Instagram, 15,000 followers on Facebook, and a very active 'Chatter' page for fans and newbies alike, Chekoh is a brand on the rise.

SUN Power!

Story Philip Woods

They call it Sunny Queensland! That's right, we actually live in the Sunshine State! Now I don't want to seem like Captain Obvious, but wouldn't this, therefore, make Queensland an excellent location to harness the power of the sun?

It was the late 1800's when we first discovered that sunlight could be converted into an electric current, and by the 1960's we were using it in space exploration. By the 80's and 90's the use of solar energy was common in homes, usually in the form of solar hot water systems. This might seem like fast progress, but as we all know the last few technological decades have been moving even faster.

Wendy Seeto operates Solahart Strathpine and has seen the more recent developments in solar power first hand.

"This sector has seen extraordinary growth," Wendy says.

"Solar solutions are changing at a rapid pace. Seven years ago, the standard PV panel wattage was about 190w. Today, the average panel is around 290watts."

Cost has also been a factor in the increasing take-up of solar, according to Wendy, "The bottom line is the ever-increasing cost of energy; both electricity and gas have increased in cost massively over the past ten years. Many customers also want to take control of cost, especially those moving into retirement or those people just wanting the power back in their own hands."

So what does the future hold in solar? "The future is all about Home Energy Management Systems or HEMS. These systems will connect all powered appliances via the Internet of Things (IoT)." Wendy says.

The Internet of Things is the network of devices, appliances, cars and more, across the world; any item that is able to connect to the Internet. There is likely to be around 30 billion objects on the IoT by 2020!

In home energy management systems, the ability to control when appliances and other things consume power, and where that power comes from, can result in both a reduced cost and an increase in convenience for users.

It's really about optimising the relationship between the sun, the existing electricity grid, your solar energy system, and your day-to-day life! "Get ready because HEMS is the future," Wendy said.

Solar powered smart homes sound pretty cool (or pretty warm, depending on the season). It's exciting to imagine what the future holds!

All roofs age over time. After around 15 years, tile roofs deteriorate to the point where a restoration should be considered. At this age, colour starts to fade, ridge capping becomes brittle, lichen and mould can grow, and tiles become harder to clean. The appearance of your home suffers and your roof is more likely to develop leaks.

Richard Gabriel from Mr Highlights Roofing has over 20 years experience in the roofing trade. He uses only premium quality products for his restorations, and offers a full 10 year warranty on all workmanship and materials.
