A Note FROM THE TEAM

On the whole, we're a generous bunch on the peninsula but it's particularly good when giving is a win-win for everyone involved.

Rockin' 4 the Homeless is a shining example of this, perfectly marrying first-class entertainment with helping others. Australian rock legends, You Am I and The Superjesus, are headlining the event, which raises funds for local community groups and projects.

The Respect Project is a powerful program promoting respect in the Redcliffe community and is the focus of the next Redcliffe High Business Breakfast. So, it's only fitting that the guest speaker is rugby league great, Shane Webcke.

Speaking of legends, they don't get much bigger than The Rolling Stones. Just ask the band's former tour manager, Sam Cutler, when he drops into Redcliffe to talk about his book 'You Can't Always Get What You Want'.

In the food world, the Three Blue Ducks aren't just renowned for their culinary ventures, such as The Farm restaurant at Byron Bay, but for their commitment to food sustainability. Business Moreton Bay Region is hosting a special presentation and lunch with two of the 'ducks', including Masterchef 2012 winner, Andy Allen.

Whether it's celebrity, ducks or rock and roll, the peninsula has got something for you this month.

Say Cheese to Decades of Musical Talent

Story Philip Woods

Many musicians will agree that being a part of a high school band can provide a platform for young performers to launch from – an opportunity to spread their growing musical wings and fly.

For two decades, Redcliffe High music programs have celebrated this and on Saturday 17 August, the school will host a special Alumni Bands 20th Anniversary wine and cheese night to showcase the school's musical alumni and to raise money for various school departments and projects.

Emma Nicolopoulos, Redcliffe State High School's multi instrumental teacher, is organising the evening's entertainment.

"We've been holding the event every year, since 1999, to showcase the talents of the students, so with the 20th anniversary this year, I decided to put a couple of alumni bands together," Emma said.

"We have around 25 past students involved. Some graduated as far back as 2002, several have families and children now and some are travelling quite a way to be involved; as far away as Doomadgee in North Queensland and Newcastle in NSW."

The alumni musicians will be performing in a concert band and a stage band on the night.

"The concert band will be doing several pieces, including some nostalgic works that they performed at school, as well as a couple of quite challenging classical works," Emma said. "The stage band will be playing a range of material, from 60s and 70s funk and soul, including Stevie Wonder and Aretha Franklin, through to some more modern artists like Bruno Mars. There will definitely be a party vibe!"

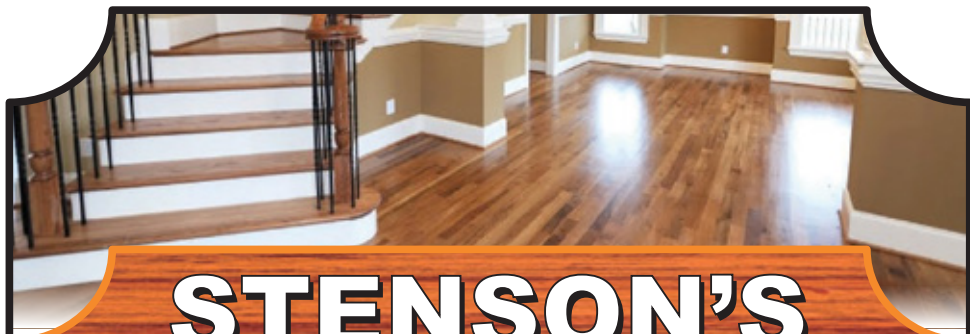

All of the musicians have been rehearsing for the event since February, including Chrislyn Hamilton, a former Redcliffe High student who was a contestant on both Australian Idol and The Voice.

Money raised from the event will go towards supporting several school causes, including The Respect Project, the music department and the hospitality department, which will be providing food and beverages for the night.

Experience Award-Winning African Gospel Choir Music

Story Jodie Woodward

The Soweto Gospel Choir is bringing their acclaimed Freedom tour to Australia this year, with a concert at Redcliffe in August.

The group is renowned around the world and has shared the stage with big names in music, including U2, Ben Harper, Red Hot Chilli Peppers, Beyoncé and Celine Dion. They have also picked up multiple Grammy Awards, including their latest win (Best World Music) for their album 'Freedom'.

Soweto Gospel Choir general manager and bass singer, Mulalo Mulovhedzi, said the group was looking forward to the Australian leg of the tour.

"We adore Australia as it is special to the choir. It is the first country we ever toured in 2003 and has special memories. Australia broke us internationally," Mulalo said.

Taking their culture to all corners of the globe is important to the group, and the Australian tour will cover 48 venues across cities and regional areas of Australia. One of the tour stops is Redcliffe Entertainment Centre where Mulalo and the group are looking forward to spending some time near the water.

"We love the beaches. Soweto is a very long way from the sea, so it's a treat to be able to go to the beach," Mulalo said.

Concert-goers are in for a treat as well, with the first half of the 90-minute show dedicated to performing 'Songs of Fire', celebrating the centenary of the birth of Nelson Mandela. For the second half of the concert, the performers will share international gospel classics, which might inspire the crowd to get up on their feet.

Mulalo believes the Soweto Gospel Choir's music has an international appeal that touches the hearts of everyone, no matter their beliefs. The show will include vibrant costumes and uplifting songs performed in six of South Africa's 11 official languages.

"Even though some songs are not in English, the audience feel and understand what we are conveying. It's a magical connection for us with the audience," Mulalo said.

LET'S TALK ABOUT THE HEART-BREAKING TRUTH OF ACNE

Article by Anita East and published in The Cosmetic Surgery Magazine

If you have ever had acne, you know how debilitating it is for your self-esteem and confidence. If you are one of the lucky ones who has had clear skin all your life, you will know someone who has been hugely affected by this common skin condition.

FACTS ABOUT ACNE

- ♥ Inflammation of a hair follicle and oil gland
- ♥ Can cause long term raised and flat scarring
- ♥ Is classified as mild, moderate or severe depending on the presence of pustules, nodules and scarring

HOW TO TREAT ACNE

There are many theories about what methods work best to treat acne, but the current therapeutic guidelines are clear and consistent. This is the skincare system that I recommend to my patients who have acne and best of all, it doesn't cost the earth. Read more on my skin care regime at anitaeast.com.au/shop/skin-types

Double the Wedding Inspiration

A wedding open day this month promises double the inspiration for peninsula residents planning their big day.

The Redcliffe Wedding Open Day on Sunday 25 August will showcase two popular wedding venues, Reid's Place at Scarborough and the Redcliffe Leagues Club.

Event spokesperson, Rebecca Dugri, said guests would be given guided tours of both venues.

"Reid's Place gives couples that intimate, beautiful, boutique garden chapel wedding ceremony charm and the Leagues Club provides that party, celebration, modern reception venue vibe," Rebecca said.

"The two venues are quite different in appeal but complement each other – much like the bride and groom!"

Guests will get to speak to key wedding suppliers, such as photographers, florists, cake suppliers, hair and makeup artists and DJs to "create that perfect wedding day style, theme, and experience".

Attendees will also go in a draw to win an $8,000 wedding and reception package.

The open day tours are free but bookings are essential. Secure your spot by searching for Redcliffe Wedding Open Day via Facebook or www.eventbrite.com.au

A Visit to the Vets Your Pets Will Love

Redcliffe's furry friends have cause to celebrate a visit to the vet this month, with the Peninsula Vet Surgery hosting an open day on Sunday 25 August.

The surgery is celebrating its 25th anniversary and is inviting peninsula residents and their pets to join in an afternoon of fun.

Peninsula Vet Surgery vet nurse, Emilie Mahony, said there would be loads of activities, information and prizes on offer at the open day.

"Visitors can expect to see stalls, competitions for cats and dogs, including a best-dressed competition, door raffle, a sausage sizzle, coffee van, wildlife display, clinic tours, photobooth, and doggy obstacle course," Emilie said.

"Entry is free and we have a raffle at the door to win a goody hamper. All family and pets are welcome for this fun day."

The Peninsula Vet Surgery was opened by husband and wife team, James and Penny Cumines, in 1994. The surgery initially started out in their home, before moving to their current dedicated premises in Anzac Avenue.

You can find out more about the event via the Peninsula Veterinary Surgery Facebook page.

ROCKIN' 4 THE HOMELESS

Story Donna Roberts

A stellar lineup of upcoming local acts mixed with legendary Australian rock bands will take to the Picnic Hill stage for the annual Rockin' 4 the Homeless event this August.

Headlining the gig are energetic rock bands You Am I and The Superjesus, who will be joined by Diana Anaid and Team Utopia, along with a number of local bands to round out the day.

Organiser, Dan Nebe, who also fronts popular rock outfit Team Utopia, created the event to raise both awareness and much-needed funds for Redcliffe's homeless.

"It came about after doing the Flood Relief concerts with a group of friends," Dan said.

"We decided to do something every year for charity and a friend mentioned she was concerned about the homeless plight here in Redcliffe.

"It was the perfect choice for a cause, so it just grew from there."

From the events held during the first three years, money raised was shared between The Breakfast Club, Chameleon Housing and the Redcliffe Area Youth Space, with each group receiving $21,000 to use towards local projects.

YOU AM I

The past two events together raised more than $100,000 that went directly to The Breakfast Club and opened the hub that services homeless clients two days a week.

This year, the goal is to raise even more, "It's important to me to help community groups, especially those non-funded by any tier of government," Dan said.

"The fact that [The Breakfast Club] are one hundred percent volunteers makes it essential to assist them.

"I have seen what they do first hand and watch in awe every time."

In addition to the great music, attendees will be able to enjoy a wide range of food trucks and drinks from the licensed bar, purchase merchandise from The Breakfast Club's stand, a hat, sunscreen and a feel-good attitude," Dan said.

Dan said to come prepared for a big day, "[Bring] plenty of money for raffles and auctions, a hat, sunscreen and a feel-good attitude," Dan said.

ROCKIN' 4 THE HOMELESS

INTERVIEW WITH THE SUPERJESUS & YOU AM I

Australian rock and roll royalty will join with our finest local bands for Rockin' 4 the Homeless this month.

The Superjesus' frontwoman, Sarah McLeod, and You Am I's bassist, Andy Kent, sat down to answer some questions about their bands and the upcoming event.

How did you come up with your band name?

Sarah: We were called Hell's Kitchen first, then on the eve of our first big gig at the Big Day Out, we changed it to The Superjesus. We basically chucked two buzz words together to make a band name.

Andy: No idea. It sounds like a Japanese horror film to me – should have been changed years ago!

What are your favourite types of gigs to play?

Sarah: I like the intimate ones the best, they suit my style more. I'm a chatter, I like to converse with the crowd and stuff around a bit.

Andy: I love huge gigs – 20 000+ and also tiny clubs where you can feel the breath of the crowd on your leg.

THE SUPERJESUS

How did you get involved in Rockin' 4 the Homeless?

Sarah: One of the organisers was working with the Hoodoo Gurus on the Under The Southern Stars Tour that we were playing on. He asked us if we would be interested and it's such a good cause we jumped at it.

Andy: Dan [Nebe] asked and we just said 'Where do we need to be and when, Dan?'

What does the cause mean to you?

Sarah: I can't even imagine being homeless, especially in this weather. But not having a place to lay your bags, that endless feeling of loneliness and feeling lost, it breaks my heart.

Andy: Homelessness should not be happening in such a civilised country as our own, for whatever reason – financial, domestic violence, mental illness. People deserve society in general to be there for them. For one hour onstage we will be with them.

What are you looking forward to at R4TH?

Sarah: Hanging out with You Am I because I adore them.

Andy: Raising money.

Eco-path Provides A New Outlook

The opening of a new eco-path at Hays Inlet will help enhance access and educational opportunities for community members and visitors to the area.

Vice president of Redcliffe Environmental Forum (REF), Geoffrey Redman, said the peninsula community was invited to the official opening of the first stage of an eco-path on Sunday 4 August.

"Visitors will be able to access the area from Silcock Street and use the pathway to observe one of the last remaining areas of Melaleuca forest on the Redcliffe Peninsula," Geoffrey said.

The project aims to create a 650m path and a boardwalk leading to a viewing platform overlooking the Hays Inlet – with the overall goal of safeguarding local flora and fauna habitats.

The first stage of the eco-path is a 250m stretch, leading from a council-constructed concrete path along Silcock Street.

The project is being carried out by the Redcliffe Environmental Forum and volunteers, in conjunction with the Federal Government and Moreton Bay Regional Council.

The eco-path opening event will feature guided walks, information stalls, refreshments and a free sausage sizzle.

Reconnect this Homelessness Week

Story Jodie Woodward

Raising awareness of housing issues and homelessness is the aim of Reconnect, an annual event organised by The Moreton Bay Housing and Homelessness Network.

The event coincides with Australia's Homelessness Week and provides an opportunity for people, who are homeless or need support to keep their homes, to connect with local services.

Rose Butler, one of the Reconnect event organisers and case worker at Encircle, said the event would also provide an opportunity for organisations that work in this space to connect with each other and examine ways of working collaboratively.

"The hope of the Moreton Bay Housing and Homelessness Network in delivering this event is to reduce social isolation and inspire those struggling in our community to seek assistance when needed," Rose said.

Reconnect has been running in the Moreton Bay region since 2012.

"We would just like to encourage anyone who is interested in learning more about the local community services that can assist them with a range of needs, including housing and homelessness, to come along and meet us on the day," Rose said.

CELEBRATING A RUGBY ICON

Redcliffe Rugby Club senior president Nigel Pincombe and Jill Baker, widow of Rua Baker, holding the Rua Baker Memorial Challenge trophy.

One of the more important dates on the local rugby calendar is upon us. The Redcliffe community is being invited by Redcliffe Rugby to celebrate and watch its annual Rua Baker Memorial Challenge match in early August.

Brian Hetherington, senior secretary of Redcliffe Rugby, said the Rua Baker Memorial Challenge match was staged to honour the memory of club member, Rua Baker.

"This event means so much to the Redcliffe club as Rua Baker had been instrumental in developing our junior to senior Redcliffe Rugby pathway," Brian said.

Rua Baker is a household name in rugby circles. To honour his legacy, Rua Baker's widow, Jill, arranged with Redcliffe Senior Rugby to hold an annual Rua Baker Memorial Challenge match.

In previous years, this annual match was played between the Redcliffe Senior Demons team and the Redcliffe Veterans Rusty Old Demons team. But this year, the match takes on special significance because of the 10 year memorial anniversary of Mr Baker's passing.

To mark this special occasion, the match will have an added international flavour. A New Zealand rugby team comprising of players from Rua Baker's family and his Kiwi hometown have been invited to fly over. They will take on a combined local team of Redcliffe Rugby seniors and veteran players. By all reports, neither side will be holding back, which should mean some excellent rugby being played.

Brian said everyone at Redcliffe Rugby was excited to host this event, and the combined Redcliffe Rugby team was really looking forward to playing.

"It will be a fun filled day for all involved, including the spectators," Brian said.

The club will be making food and drink packages available to purchase on the day, so bring the kids and make it a fun family afternoon while honouring a true legend of rugby. Entry to the game is free.

Breakfast of Business Champions

The theme of respect is the name of the game at the next Redcliffe High Business Breakfast, featuring special guest speaker Shane Webcke.

Story Patricia Higgins

The event scheduled, for the morning of Thursday 8 August is hosted by Redcliffe State High School with support from the Redcliffe Peninsula Chamber of Commerce.

Attendees will enjoy a cooked breakfast provided by Redcliffe High School students, while listening to guest speaker, former professional rugby league footballer and Channel 7 reporter, Shane Webcke.

Chamber of Commerce president, Brad Flynn, said the breakfast was an opportunity for students to gain some real-world experience in hospitality and also to boost the profile of the 'Respect Project' – a program aimed at creating respect within the community.

"The principal and deputy principal started the respect project as a way to approach scenarios involving irate parents attending the front desk of the school," Brad said.

The program has since grown, involving a number of primary and secondary schools and Sesame Lane Childcare and Kindergarten centres across the Redcliffe Peninsula region and surrounds.

Mr Flynn said the program had seen a reduction in displays of aggression, and had built stronger relationships not just within schools, but within the business community and society in general.

"It's about making connections," he said.

This topic will be expanded on by Shane Webcke, who will speak to the importance of respect in high-level sport and personal performance – the importance of being a good sport.

That's why we wanted to get a high-profile sportsperson involved, it's just another layer in building a culture and community of respect," Mr Flynn said.

Mr Flynn said he aimed to boost engagement with sports clubs with the support of The Redcliffe Chamber of Commerce. The chamber supports the event as part of an ongoing networking initiative, held at quarter-yearly intervals.

Death Café Tackles Taboo Topic

Home Instead Senior Care Brisbane North is hosting a Death Café morning tea in Scarborough on Thursday 8 August in support of Dying to Know Day.

The morning tea brings together health professionals and community members, in an informal and relaxed atmosphere, to talk about experiences, fears, and thoughts about the inevitable.

An expert panel of speakers will be discussing different aspects of death, including Dr Sue Colen, Michele Linton (Registered Nurse), Dr John Rosenberg, Meryam Brown (Psychologist), Tenzin Chodron from Karuna, and Annette Lourigan from George Hartnett Metropolitan Funerals. Home Instead client services manager, Maretti Healy, said the aim of the event was to empower and encourage conversations about death in a relaxed café style.

"This topic remains taboo, despite being a natural part of life," Maretti said.

"We will talk about palliative care as people may not know what it is about or have enough knowledge about this topic... it is a thought-provoking event encouraging conversation and an enlightening way of living one's best life and planning for a good death."

To attend this free event email clientservices@hiscbrisnorth.com.au or call Maretti Healy on 0426 875 365.

Herman's Hermits Hit the Right Note

Get ready to rock as Redcliffe Entertainment Centre brings you the 6 O'clock Hop with the evergreen Herman's Hermits.

One of the 60s biggest groups from the UK, Herman's Hermits had No. 1 hits in Australia with 'Mrs. Brown You've Got A Lovely Daughter' and 'No Milk Today'.

Councillor Mick Gillam is a massive fan of Herman's Hermits and has a large collection of their records. He said he was nine years old when they last came to Australia, so he's hoping to see them this time.

"A Kind of Hush' has fallen over Moreton Bay," Cr Mick Gillam said.

"We haven't had singing royalty like this since 'Henry VIII' visited and I'm hoping to see them because 'I'm Into Something Good'."

The idea of the 6 O'clock Hop is to dine early, be entertained at a two-hour show and still get home at a reasonable hour on these dark winter nights.

Come along and enjoy the sounds of Herman's Hermits – it's a wonderful opportunity to experience authentic pop history.

CCTV to Boost Pathway Safety & Accessibility

A new project to install closed-circuit television cameras along a pathway linking Kippa-Ring to Petrie railway stations aims to boost safety and accessibility for users.

Moreton Bay Regional Council secured $1 million from the Australian Government's Safer Communities Fund to install CCTV and lighting along the 12.6km pathway which is popular with cyclists, joggers, skaters, commuters and families.

The shared path provides access to seven train stations and features an array of colourfully painted murals, showcasing Australian native wildlife, special Anzac tributes and historical commemorations.

Tenders closed recently for the installation of 44 closed-circuit television cameras along the pathway, with the cameras expected to be operational by early 2020.

Council spokesperson for asset maintenance and construction, Adam Hain, said the project would help address crime and anti-social behaviour," Mr Hain said.

"This is a big win for residents using the Redcliffe Peninsula and south-bound railway lines, as well as the students at the new University of the Sunshine Coast Moreton Bay campus," Cr Hain said.

Council spokesperson for smart innovation, Darren Grimwade, said the cameras would be linked via a chain of fibre-optic and radio-link connections, feeding back into council's CCTV network.

"We're laying the foundations of smart, multi-function poles which have the potential to feature smart lighting that can dim and brighten as required, wildlife-sensitive lighting as well as emergency call points," Mr Grimwade said.

"These are all potential future projects and we want to make sure that if they do go ahead, we already have the fibre-optic network infrastructure to support them."

Can Your CCTV Footage Help Police?

Peninsula businesses and residents with CCTV are being encouraged to help police.

Moreton Police has initiated a database of homes and businesses that have CCTV cameras fitted and whose owners are willing to provide footage to police.

By notifying police of your CCTV and consenting to the provision of footage, you can help in the detection and reduction in crime in your community.

To sign up for this initiative, contact your closest police station. For more information or for non-urgent matters call Policelink on 131 444. To report information on a crime you can call Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000.

Redcliffe Peninsula's U3A heralds A New Age

With their annual art exhibition, Queensland Seniors Week and a change of venue in the works, The University of the Third Age (U3A) certainly has a lot to look forward to.

From 13–25 August, U3A will present their 'Out and About' art display – an annual showcase of their members' creative skills, which is also open to the public.

U3A caters for senior persons and retirees and is based on the concept of studying simply for the joy of learning.

Janice Charlish, president of the Moreton Bay Arts Council, said that rather than grades and degrees, the group was about creativity in a relaxed environment, where members could form friendships and learn about the things they enjoy.

"The title 'University' has nothing to do with our present rather narrow concept of 'University' and its connotations of qualifications and prior studies," Janice said.

Currently located in Sutton Street, Redcliffe, the group is a hub for more than 12,000 members who are all residents of the Redcliffe Peninsula.

With the current offering of 80 classes growing to 107 next term, a move to a new location is planned over the coming months – the old Redcliffe Council Administration building on the corner of Irene and Downs Streets in the centre of town.

Secretary of the U3A Network, Judith Murphy, said she was excited by the range of courses available and grateful to the 89 volunteer tutors for their contribution.

"There's oil painting, pastel and pencils and then language and history classes, computer classes, music and more – a great variety of different classes," she said.

Judith said that the art display was titled 'Out and About' because it reflected the many different facets of members' lives, showing how they like to keep busy.

"They are all amateurs, but they get a great deal out of it," she said.

The art exhibition will coincide with Queensland Seniors Week.

SOCIAL MEDIA FOR TEENS

What age is the right age for your teen to have a social media account? This has been a hot topic of local discussion lately. The legal age to register for an account on platforms like Facebook, Instagram, TikTok, SnapChat, Twitter and WhatsApp is 13 years old in Australia. A recent social media conversation offered comments that suggested parental focus is best spent on being diligent in monitoring their teens' social media activity at whatever age they get a social media account. One commenter suggested, "You should also be aware the world is different to when you were a child. If you don't let your child communicate and interact the way all of their friends do, then you may well be causing more harm than good. Encourage them to be a part of their social groups but also let them know and show them that they can talk to you about anything."

NEW WASTE LEVY

If you are not already aware, the Queensland waste levy legislation came into effect on 1 July 2019. Due to this, new procedures have been implemented at the local dump located on Duffield Road. These new rules now require you use the weighbridge on entry and exit, for each section you have to discard. This has increased the time needed for many people to complete their use of dump and has increased the amount of traffic going in and out because of delays. Personal waste loads of up to 500kg per load are still free to dump, but costs may be incurred for commercial loads. Whereas more staff has been allocated to the waste management facilities to help smooth the transition, please keep in mind there may be delays and heavier traffic in the area than usual. For more information about what you can and can't do within the new regulations check out the waste management section of the Moreton Bay council website at www.moretonbay.qld.gov.au.

KEEPING FIT ON THE PENINSULA

The Redcliffe Peninsula offers great views for those who want a more active lifestyle with a beautiful outlook. There are many paved walkways on many of the local beaches where you can walk by yourself or with friends, children or pets. For those who would prefer a more organised walking group for socialising or more structure to their fitness routine, there are multiple groups around the peninsula you can look into. Some of these groups are The Redcliffe Cardiac Support Group, who does scheduled walks on Wednesdays; Kippa-Ring Peninsula Heart Beaters, who walk around Peninsula Fair; and Seaside Striders, who start their walks at the Redcliffe police station. There are multiple places you can go to find the right group for you, such as www.meetup.com and search 'walking', or you can go to walking.heartfoundation.org.au to get a list of walking groups available in whatever location suits you. There are also specific areas along the beachfront on the peninsula that feature the Otag system for those who wish to track their fitness data.

GOLLUM TREE

Do you know about the Gollum Tree at Scarborough Park? In December 2013, a door standing 1.5 metres tall, appeared in one of the trees at Scarborough beach. It is a mystery as to how or why it appeared but it's said that if you look inside you might be able to see a little figure that looks a lot like the character of Gollum from Lord of the Rings. There are also accounts of multiple, mystery fairy doors in Brighton along the pathway to Decker Path. This sounds like just the kind of magic many kids will love.

Elyssa White, David Herbener and Summer Brookfield get ready for the Redcliffe Tennis Open.

Tennis Aces on Show

Story Wayne I Flack Photos Ben McShea

Calling all tennis fans. Tennis players from as far as Melbourne and North Queensland are expected to descend on Redcliffe, joining hopeful local players in the 2019 Redcliffe Tennis Open.

Hosted by Focus Tennis Academy and Redcliffe Tennis Association, the tournament will be played at Redcliffe Tennis Centre over the last two weekends in August, and will be free for spectators.

Focus Tennis Academy's head coach and manager of the Redcliffe Tennis Centre, Chris Novic, said the Redcliffe Open was an AMT Bronze Level Tournament.

"We have the mens and womens' singles and doubles, and generally get more than 150 players come and play in this tournament," Chris said.

Since the first Redcliffe Tennis Open was played in 1953, there have been some big name winners, such as Roy Emerson and Mal Anderson. But none is larger than Rod Laver, who hoisted the trophy in 1957 and 58.

The new Redcliffe Tennis Centre was built in October 2010 with 12 courts – six hard surface and six made of synthetic grass. Singles' winners since then have included Lizette Cabrera, who has been an Australian Federation Cup training squad member. The 2018 Women and Mens' singles' winners, Andie Dikosavljevic and Mitchell Robbins respectively, have each won multiple times. Andie also teamed up to win the 2018 mixed doubles.

David Herbener, a Tennis Australia official and spokesperson for the Redcliffe Tennis Association, said this event was a great opportunity for the Redcliffe Tennis Centre to show off the modern facilities they had available.

"With undercover space provided, spectators will be able to view in comfort the high-quality tennis being played over the four days," David said.

The Herbener name is well-known, having been associated with Redcliffe tennis since the 1960s. To honour their commitment to tennis, the Womens and Mens' singles' trophies are called the Herbener Cup.

A WORD FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVES

Koliana Winchester

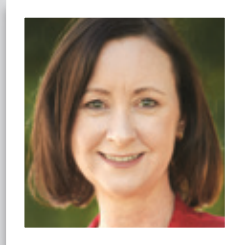

You will soon be able to send the kids down to the beach, with a brand new Hornibrook Esplanade playground and picnic facilities opening along the beautiful Clontarf foreshore. Kids won't be able to resist the type of play equipment this overhaul will bring to our foreshore. The project will include picnic setting, a double barbecue, play equipment, shade sail structure, a feature seating wall, pre-cast concrete 'twig' bench seat, a public outdoor ping-pong table, 240L bin enclosures and a drinking fountain.

An additional key feature of this stage of the project is that the toddlers' play equipment is located immediately adjacent the picnic shelter so that parents do not have to move too far from their picnic table while keeping an eye on the little ones. Pathway upgrades will also be incorporated to complement the existing parkour park, which already boasts 12 different challenges, including angled walls, vault bars and boulders.

I'm hoping the weather holds out so that we can have this playground open in time for the September school holidays. It is always fantastic to see kids getting active outdoors, away from screens, and enjoying the amenities along our incredible foreshore. Redcliffe's playgrounds are already massively popular with local families on weekends and even more so over the holiday period, so this is a very worthwhile investment that will bring even more people and vibrancy to Redcliffe's waterfront.

Yvette D'Ath MP

Road safety is a top priority and it is great news that $3.7 million is being invested into road safety upgrades at identified crash hotspots across the Redcliffe Peninsula, to boost road safety.

The funding includes $1.17 million to fully control right-turn movements at the Oxley Avenue and MacDonnell Road intersection, by upgrading existing traffic signals and extending right-turn lanes.

Further along Oxley Avenue, $1.55 million is being invested in new traffic signals at the Sydney Street intersection, creating safer pedestrian crossings and controlled turning movements. Drivers exiting Sydney Street into Oxley Avenue often have difficulty turning across lanes to head north.

Further upgrades will also be made at the intersection of Oxley Avenue at the Portwood Road and Manley Street intersection. Similar upgrades will be undertaken to reduce crashes between cars turning right from Silvyn Street, with eastbound vehicles on Anzac Avenue.

Redcliffe continues to grow and we've seen increased residential and commercial density at some of these locations. It's important we monitor road safety and make changes to reduce risk.

Luke Howarth MP

Thank you for your ongoing support. I know at the last election many of you voted against a high taxing agenda and in favour of strong economic management and providing essential services locals in Redcliffe rely on.

In July I returned to Canberra to deliver on my promise for all of you and to make sure that you and your family get to keep more of your own earnings.

Thanks to the government's tax relief plan, more than 70,000 local taxpayers in Petrie will benefit, more than 30,000 locals will receive the full $1,080 tax offset, and some of you are already seeing the benefits in your tax returns.

As well as this, more than 7,970 aged pensioners in Petrie will get to keep up to $1,053 extra a year for couples, and $804 for singles, thanks to our recent decision to cut deeming rates.

I'm committed to working hard for all of you.

If you have any concerns or ideas for the Redcliffe Peninsula, please let me know at luke.howarth.mp@aph.gov.au or call my team on 3284 8008.

Young Art Runs Free

Story Philip Woods

The artistic endeavours of some of our most talented young people will be on display at the Redcliffe Art Gallery this month, as part of the 21st annual Tyson Evans Youth Art Scholarship Exhibition.

Tyson Evans was born in 1982, and although his time was cut short at the tender age of 15, he led a full and productive life, and he left behind a wonderful legacy that continues to this day.

The exhibition showcases the works of artists aged from 12-18 years who live or attend school in the Moreton Bay Region, and is designed to encourage and nurture young talents from this area in their chosen field of visual art.

Born with a tremor in his right hand and undergoing heart surgery at the age of five, Tyson won a scholarship to study at the Queensland Art gallery at the age of nine and produced over forty works in his short life.

Tyson faced challenges that few young people encounter, yet his love of life and talent for art continues to serve as an inspiration for many young artists.

Samuel Johnson Brings $10 Million Mission to Belvedere

There are 10 million reasons to attend the Love Your Sister event at the Belvedere this August – and Gold Logie winning actor and Dancing with The Stars winner, Samuel Johnson, is just one of them.

Love Your Sister started when Samuel's sister Connie, who had been diagnosed with breast cancer, dared him to unicycle around the country for breast cancer awareness. He completed the dare in 2014, and is touring Australia again to raise the 10 millionth dollar for cancer research in the name of his late sister.

The Belvedere marketing and events manager, Sarah Casey, said the Belvedere team members, Mitchell, Ben and Bruce had a unique connection to the foundation.

"Back in 2013, Mitchell rode a unicycle as a hobby...Bruce and Mitchell got in contact with the foundation and met Sam himself," Sarah said.

The Belvedere hosted a Love Your Sister event in 2013. This month's event includes a two-course meal and a drink on arrival. Raffles and auctions will be held on the night.

'An Insider's View

Touring With The Rolling Stones'.

Local literary emporium, Wilbury's Books and Bits, will host an intimate and exclusive evening with former Rolling Stones tour manager and author, Sam Cutler.

Sam describes himself as a people person, so is looking forward to sharing and swapping stories of life on the road, with event attendees at the August event.

"That's the thing about being a tour manager – if you don't enjoy meeting people, you can't do it," Sam said.

"People tell me about their first experiences with the Rolling Stones – seeing them live or introducing their own kids to the music."

Sam recounts a dinner in London, early in his career, with Charlie Watts, drummer of the Rolling Stones, which he will never forget.

"I saw this guy meaningfully holding an autograph book for Charlie to sign and I put my hand up and said, 'Whoa mate, we're having dinner here! Can you come back a bit later?' but Charlie said 'It's okay' and signed the autograph," Sam said.

"Charlie turned to me and said 'Don't forget - that's the guy who's paying for dinner' and I never forgot that.

"The fans are the most important thing."

Sam's life on the road will definitely provide a colourful backdrop to his storytelling, during the event celebrating his book 'You Can't Always Get What You Want'.

"I'm looking forward to being there. I promise to tell lots of naughty stories," Sam said.

Sam's music tastes are not stuck in the 60s or 70s though.

“ I love flamenco, African, early blues...it's a huge field – music is a broad church,” Sam said.

"When you're walking into a garden that has 2000 flowers in it, it's a bit perverse to only be there to look at the roses."

The event will feature a live reading by Sam followed by a Q&A session and an acoustic set from Brisbane singer/songwriter, Jackie Marshall, as well as refreshments.

If you are keen to attend, book in via the event listing on the Wilbury's Books and Bits Facebook page.

'The Stile' band members William Tulloch, Nathan Christie and Jared Lourigan.

The Band that Never Goes Out of STILE

When three good friends from Redcliffe found a common interest in musical performance, during secondary school, local band, The Stile, was created.

Nathan Christie, Jared Lourigan, and William Tulloch are The Stile, and with their fashionable flair and passionate music, the band has accomplished a lot since they officially formed in late 2016.

Frontman, Nathan Christie, said that every gig they played was a highlight and "seeing people enjoy their performance is what keeps them rocking out".

"Every time that the energy is shared between us and the audience is an achievement in my book, you can really feel something between us – it's combustible," Nathan said.

"But in saying that, the first show in Brisbane was a pretty big highlight of our career, our first show at Joe's Underground was something special, [as was] the release of our One Last Dance EP late May."

The Stile's take on rock n' roll isn't what you'd usually expect. The band's look is based on refined formal wear.

"We got our fashion sense from our school formal, and I suppose we didn't want that night to end, so we continued to float through space with our suits and ties after we left school," Nathan said.

Nathan said their music comes from a diverse background of influences, such as KISS and Frank Sinatra, with the creative process based on how they felt about each individual song.

"We choose the style based around what the song is trying to say to us, so it's a bit of a melting pot," Nathan said.

You can expect to hear heavy rock n' roll melodies that follow a much softer and passionate lyrical component.

The band writes songs that explore strong and passionate themes about the human condition where anything and everything is possible, and they top this off with a loud, wild, and passionate performance on stage.

The Stile will continue to work in the studio recording and mixing some new tunes.

You can find out more about The Stile via Facebook and Instagram. You can listen to the band's new EP on Spotify and iTunes now.

*Rockaoke (above)
An Excellent Vintage Selection (left)*

Celebrate a time gone by with An Excellent Vintage Selection at the Redcliffe Entertainment Centre in August.

Starring Melly Melody (A Sentimental Journey, Celebrating Doris Day and Menopause the Musical), the show will feature songs from iconic artists such as Ella Fitzgerald, Doris Day, Judy Garland, Peggy Lee, Etta James, Dinah Washington, and Bessie Smith, as well as vintage inspired covers of modern hits.

Melly "adores the various eras and their music" which she will bring to life with an impressive line up of musicians and performers.

"Audiences can expect a high energy, vintage-inspired show featuring some of the best songs from the jazz, blues, swing and musical theatre genres. The choreography is exciting and sophisticated, and there is a fabulous array of costumes to help set the scene," Melly said.

"We have a swinging seven-piece band, two all-dancing, all-singing chorus girls plus special guest, Mal Christian, who will be crooning some classic tunes and singing some great duets with me."

Guests are being encouraged to embrace the theme of the night and dress up in vintage attire, with prizes awarded for the best dressed. You can book your tickets via www.redcliffeentertainmentcentre.com.au. The show starts at 7.30pm on Friday 16 August.

Described as karaoke on steroids, Rockaoke at Mon Komo Hotel on Thursday 15 August, promises live entertainment like no other for singers and the audience alike.

Mark Brooks from Rockaoke describes the format as being like karaoke, "but a thousand times cooler".

"With Rockaoke Australia, you are the lead singer of your very own band. Live guitar, drums, bass, and backing singers are right there behind you providing a thrilling adrenaline rush previously only reserved for rock stars," Mark said.

"We have worked really hard to put together a format that turns this concept from a glorified karaoke night into a full rock star experience, with the focus firmly on the entertainment and pleasure of the audience, not just the singers themselves.

"To say it's addictive is an understatement, and we have many long-running venues, like the Mon Komo Hotel." Rockaoke kicks off from 8pm.

'Duck' Into Mon Komo With Food Sustainability Leaders

Story Nadia Chapman

Delicious food and sustainability will be perfectly paired at the Mon Komo Hotel when Business Moreton Bay Region presents Three Blue Ducks.

The special event, being held on Friday 23 August, includes a two-course lunch, and presentation on ethical and sustainable food from the Three Blue Ducks' Jeff Bennett and Masterchef 2012 winner, Andy Allen.

The Three Blue Ducks' story started with three friends travelling the world and cultivating ideas around sustainable living. With a shared belief in good, ethical food, the Three Blue Ducks vision came to life with the opening of a restaurant in Bronte, eight years ago, followed by The Farm (Byron Bay), Rosebery (Sydney), and recently the W Brisbane.

Moreton Bay Region Industry & Tourism chairman, Shane Newcombe, said the event was designed to shine a light on conscious consumption.

"There is a movement currently taking place with consumers choosing sustainable and ethically farmed produce, and the Three Blue Ducks are at the forefront of this movement," Mr Newcombe said.

"The Three Blue Ducks success and expansion is proof that conscious consumption is more than just a fad.

"We have top restaurants and cafés all over our region and if they can source their produce from a farm up the road, then why not? If we want to boost our local economy then choosing to buy local is something everyone can do today."

The event isn't just tailored for people who are involved in the food industry, it's an event for people in the community, who want to learn about supporting local producers and why sustainable food is important for the growth of local hospitality.

Founding member of Three Blue Ducks, Jeff Bennett, said they would be sharing the story of the Three Blue Ducks at the event to inspire other businesses to start an environmentally-conscious journey.

"We'll share some of the difficulties around the decisions we've had to make, the costs and the benefits to our business," Mr Bennett said.

Tickets for the event can be purchased via www.businessmoretonbayregion.com.au

A Culmination of the Unexpected

Tayla Demunk serves up some of the specialties at The Coffee Club, Kippa-Ring.

Relocating to the Peninsula from Melbourne was a bigger move than expected for Anthony West and his partner, Sharon Schneider.

The pair, whose careers spanned business management, learning support and the automotive industry, found themselves jumping at the opportunity to open The Coffee Club Kippa-Ring six years ago.

"Having lived in the area...we noticed a gap in the market for good coffee, sweets, light meals, and refreshments after going out to movies or other venues in the evening," Anthony said.

Anthony said The Coffee Club was known for its great range of traditional cafe style meals and drinks, and a selection of cakes and sweets.

"From Eggs Benedict or a big breakfast, to burgers, steak sandwich, or lemon pepper calamari – of course, all served with our excellent coffee, hot chocolate or great range of cold drinks."

The Coffee Club Kippa-Ring's menu also changes regularly, and there are blackboard specials and new promotions running every six weeks. A recent radio promotion saw the café give away more than 400 free coffees in a day!

What may come as an even bigger surprise is that locals aren't restricted to 'dining-in' at The Coffee Club.

"We offer our entire range of meals and drinks as a takeaway item, which customers can ring up and order and pick up, or we have started delivery service through Uber Eats which is going great," Anthony said.

A key focus for Anthony and Sharon is "looking after our local customers", which has seen The Coffee Club Kippa-Ring enjoying a loyal following.

"Our customers keep coming back for the great coffee, the friendly service and attention to detail, and for the great value The Coffee Club represents.

"We enjoy meeting new people and getting to know them, and of course serving them delicious food and drinks."

VIP members get access to exclusive deals and there is a 10% seniors discount.

The Coffee Club Kippa-Ring is open from 7.30am-5.30pm Monday to Friday with extended hours on a Thursday until 7pm. On weekends the opening hours are 8am-4pm.

Me and Jane

Story Richard Lancaster

Recently, while sitting in the winter sun and enjoying a cup of coffee, a mate Steve and I engaged in discussing books and authors we had enjoyed in the past. Steve added a further dimension to the discussion by saying that he had attended a recent stage performance in Redcliffe, of Jane Austen's 19th century novel 'Pride and Prejudice' and how much he had enjoyed the experience. "The plot was good, very funny to be exact. She was a great writer." I seemed to remember him saying.

Now Jane Austen and I have never seen eye to eye. Our falling out commenced in my final year at high school. It is a disagreement that has stayed with me for the past 65 years. In its infinite wisdom, the education department of the time included Jane Austen's first ever novel, 'Northanger Abbey', written in 1803, in the English curriculum and accordingly it was to become the centrepiece of the year's final English exam. I was 17 at the time and like every red-blooded male with buckets of testosterone pounding through my body, Jane's Victorian England, with its stilted morality, prudish behaviour and even more boorish characters, didn't sit well with my cavalier sense of behaviour at the time.

I really did need to get a good pass in English as this might compensate for my failure to understand the principles of those outlandishly crazy subjects such as trigonometry and geometry, which along with their close relative, Maths would contribute prominently in my looming downfall in the exam. But, from the word go, I struggled to get to grips with the boring characters that peppered the pages of the Austen novel. I must admit that I had my reading buds wonderfully whetted by having slyly read a copy of Helga Moray's sizzling novel 'Untamed'. Now why couldn't they have included that as the set text, I mused sadly, knowing that if they had, I would have scored top marks! But, they hadn't and I set about contemplating my sad fate, courtesy of Miss Jane Austen. She didn't disappoint either. True to her cruel, unforgiving Victorian nature, she gave me a C!

So when Steve expressed his rhapsodic enthusiasm for 'Pride and Prejudice', I grimaced quietly, remembering my private agony with Jane!

Wild About Wildlife!

Story Philip Woods

The Frilled Neck Lizard (Chlamydosaurus kingii) will be the subject of a free workshop presented by Moreton Bay Regional Council this month.

Councillor for Division 5, James Houghton, said the workshop would be an interactive and informative presentation by a local expert "with plenty of time for questions and discussions about the species, their habits and how to conserve them".

"Keeping native vegetation within our properties that supports the ecosystems that frilled neck lizards live in can help to protect their natural environment," Cr Houghton said.

"We can also join with community programs that are aimed at protecting and improving natural areas such as the Land for Wildlife program and the Community Bush Care Program."

The workshop will look at various threats to the frilled neck lizard, including loss of habitat, pesticides and domestic animals, and it will be followed by a guided walk through the type of dry sclerophyll forest that the lizards dwell in.

To book a spot, visit www.moretonbay.qld.gov.au/Events and search for frilled neck lizard.

'Book' Your Teddy in at the Library

Adventure lies ahead for the Peninsula's soft toys and it's not in the form of a Teddy Bear's Picnic. As part of Book Week, Redcliffe Library will host a Soft Toy Sleepover.

Local children are invited to bring their teddy, doll or soft toy to stay in the Redcliffe Library a night. It follows the success of similar events held at other libraries in the region.

Councillor for Division 6, Koliana Winchester, said Redcliffe Library was next in line to hold its inaugural Soft Toy Sleepover event.

"Libraries are more than just places to read or study; they are spaces for creativity, wonderment, fun and excitement," Cr Winchester said.

Photos of the various toys' antics after dark will be posted on the library's Facebook page.

"These toys get up to all sorts of mischief, from having bubble baths in the staff kitchen sink to watching television, playing games on the computer and building Lego. The adventures they have are far and wide," Cr Winchester said.

For more information on the Soft Toy Sleepover visit moretonbay.qld.gov.au/libraries.

Delivering for Petrie

The Government's tax relief plan has passed in Parliament and this is great news for people living in my electorate of Petrie.

Thanks to the Morrison Government's tax relief plan more than 70,000 taxpayers in Petrie will now get to keep more of their own earnings.

It means families, like yours, can get ahead and more money flows through our economy.

Our plan delivers immediate relief for local families.

Approximately 30,176 taxpayers right here in Petrie will receive the full $1,080 tax offset.

Our plan fixes bracket creep – the silent thief pushing workers into higher tax brackets.

By the time our plan is fully implemented, 94% of taxpayers will pay a rate of no more than 30 cents in the dollar.

At the election locals and Australians voted in support of the Coalition's tax system that rewards hard working families and encourages effort, and we have delivered it!

Go for Gold!

Story Philip Woods

It's a great old town! Gympie grew on the back of a gold rush that started in the 1860s. At that time, it saved the struggling Queensland economy through the waves of fortune that were unearthed by the mad-keen miners who inundated the area.

These days, Gympie is still thriving, and Andrew Saunders loves seeing it grow. Andrew is the tourism development manager for the Gympie Regional Council, so he knows why people love to visit the region. "Lots of people come to Gympie to visit Rainbow Beach, which is the gateway to Fraser Island," Andrew said. "But, we're also seeing great interest, particularly at this time of the year, in people coming to check out the Mary Valley."

"In the cooler months people start to think more about the hinterland; they think about fireplaces, rich food and cosy environments, and these are things that many of our boutique and bed-and-breakfast style tourism operators have to offer in the valley," Andrew said. "You can even take a ride on the 'Mary Valley Rattler', a heritage steam train that will take you down through the valley, with wonderful views and lots of interesting history to learn on the way."

Gympie's history is a worth exploring for visitors, and different elements of its rich pioneering heritage are on display in attractions that include the Gold Museum and the Woodworks Museum.

Nature lovers and fisher-folk will also find lots to keep them busy around Gympie. "For people who just want to explore nature we have lots of tracks and trails to walk along and enjoy, and the region is great for fishing because we have fresh water, as well as salt water options," Andrew said.

"There is Lake Borumba and all of the waterways, and then you have Tin Can Bay, Rainbow Beach and even charter boats that can provide open water or reef fishing experiences."

Gympie really has something for everyone, including fantastic annual events, such as the Gympie Country Music Muster and the Heart of Gold Film Festival. It's an easy drive, about an hour and a half up the Bruce Highway, so why not plan a visit this weekend?

HISTORY

Movie Theatres on the Peninsula

Story John Sayles

Have you ever walked past a row of shops and noticed the façade of an old building and wondered what it was used for?

Next time you are in Redcliffe Parade, take a closer look at the building almost opposite the Redcliffe Pier. It's unmistakably a former picture theatre, The Pier Theatre in fact.

Redcliffe's first open air 'Picture Pavilion' was opened and operated by Messrs Eckard and Davies on the same site as the Pier Theatre in 1918/1919. In 1921, the theatre was purchased by Mr and Mrs Jack Beedham and the following year was given a roof and re-named The Pier Theatre. Moving pictures were shown for the first time in 1928; perhaps, even showing the first talkie, 'The Jazz Singer' with Al Jolson.

Tragedy struck on 15 March 1943, when the theatre was destroyed by fire. After building restrictions were overcome, a new Pier Theatre re-opened nine months later, in December 1943, to a packed house. It is speculated that an Alfred Hitchcock thriller or 'The Song of Bernadette' with Jennifer Jones was shown.

The final screening at the Pier Theatre was on 3 May 1969, and new shops were built to front Redcliffe Parade leaving just the old façade.

However, Redcliffe was not the only place to have a theatre on the Peninsula. Margate Theatre, built by Alex Smith, operated from 1940 to 1971 on the corner of Ernest and Albert Streets, Margate. What a night it would have been when 'Smiley' was shown, featuring a boy from the nearby Humpybong School.

Let's not forget the Drive-In Theatre in Elizabeth Avenue, Kippa-Ring, which opened in 1965. Who can ever forget watching films such as 'The Sound of Music', while eating popcorn on a warm summer evening with the one you love. Maybe you took the children, snuggled in the back seat in their pyjamas and who probably didn't stay awake till the end!

Unfortunately, the Drive-In, which was operated by the Sourris Brothers, closed in 1986 and is now the site of a retirement village.

It certainly goes without saying that the Peninsula has a rich history when it comes to picture theatres.

The Bowerbird AND THE BRIDE

A Century of Bridal Fashion

Story Sally Eberhardt

There couldn't be a more perfect place to display wedding attire spanning nearly a hundred years than in a former church, now the Redcliffe Museum.

Acclaimed Australian costume designer, Marion Boyce (Miss Fisher's Murder Mysteries and The Dressmaker), specifically designed her gorgeous The Bowerbird and The Bride vignettes for the new exhibition space at the Redcliffe Museum. She is thrilled to see her collection, which goes on display from 17 August, in such a fitting environment.

The bowerbird referred to is Boyce herself. She has accumulated many pieces through both donations and years of buying from all corners of the globe. Recently gifted some period and vintage wedding dresses, Marion was motivated to combine these with her own treasures and create The Bowerbird and The Bride.

A beautiful, simple tea gown from the 1900s is her favourite in the collection. Marion said its story deeply affected her.

"It belonged to a 15-year-old girl called Isabella, whose father died in a mining accident and then mother died during childbirth, leaving eight children," Marion said.

"In order to keep the family together Isabella married the widower next door, making her a mother of sixteen children."

"Fortunately it must have been a prosperous union for the dress to survive," Marion said.

Also excited about this event coming to the peninsula, Division 6 Councillor Koliana Winchester said if you love bridal fashion or nostalgia, this exhibition was a must.

"Conceived by the costume designer behind the movie 'The Dressmaker', in conjunction with QUT, this showcase is a rare opportunity to explore the history of bridal fashions from the 1880s to the 1970s," Cr Koliana said.

"Adding to the quirkiness of this display is the way it will be presented around the recently refurbished Redcliffe Museum."

Don't miss this rare opportunity to see how Marion weaves together fact and fiction, evoking fascinating stories from every article into a display full of beauty, love, life and even a hint of mischief.

All roofs age over time. After around 15 years, tile roofs deteriorate to the point where a restoration should be considered. At this age, colour starts to fade, ridge capping becomes brittle, lichen and mould can grow, and tiles become harder to clean. The appearance of your home suffers and your roof is more likely to develop leaks.

Richard Gabriel from Mr Highlights Roofing has over 20 years experience in the roofing trade. He uses only premium quality products for his restorations, and offers a full 10 year warranty on all workmanship and materials.

Memory Loss and Hearing Aids

The recent World Health Organisation Expert Panel Report 2019 is that there is insufficient evidence to support the use of hearing aids to reduce the risk of cognitive decline/dementia. Therefore, you should be cautious if you are asked to purchase hearing aids to treat dementia.

There is currently no cure and no effective medication for treating memory loss or dementia, however there are ways to delay the onset of symptoms. The more you strengthen the "6 pillars" in your daily life, the longer your brain will stay active and healthy.

The 6 Pillars are -

1: Regular exercise, 2: Social engagement, 3: Healthy diet, 4: Mental stimulation, 5: Quality sleep and 6: Stress management.

As an audiologist, I understand that significant hearing loss can limit a person's social engagement leading to frustration and isolation.

Wearing hearing aids doesn't necessarily guarantee to slow down one's cognitive decline. But improving your hearing allows you to engage in a more active lifestyle, exposing you to health mental stimulation which in turn, protects your memory function.

"My Tinnitus was bothering me"

My tinnitus was bothering me, so I booked in for an appointment at Sandgate Hearing. I'm very happy with the results and I'd highly recommend anyone with tinnitus issues or hearing problems to come to Sandgate Hearing.

Craig Page - Petrie

What clients say about us

"I'm surprised by the number of birds that live around my house."

Whenever guests came over generally I couldn't join in the conversations.

I just couldn't follow the conversations.

Now that I've been to see Ronnie at Sandgate Hearing, I'm also surprised by the number of birds that live around my house. It's a joy to hear them.

I can hear my family and friends. I can respond without having to ask them to repeat themselves.

Norm Manley - Boondall

"My new hearing aids are like magic..."

I've been struggling with my hearing in the last few years. My new hearing aids from Ronnie are like magic, I didn't realise how much attention, detail and adjustment it takes to get my hearing just right. I can 100% recommend Sandgate Hearing.

Colin Tretheway (with wife, Joy) - Scarborough

"Now I'm extremely Happy"

I've had hearing aids for many years, but now I'm extremely happy with the convenience and the results of my new hearing aids from Sandgate Hearing. Seeing Ronnie is very handy for us and he is so easy to talk to. He really listens and understand my hearing issues. I'd recommend him to everyone.
