A Note FROM THE TEAM

The brand new year has well and truly arrived and with it, a sense of hope and optimism for wonderful things to come. This month's Redcliffe Guide is bursting at the seams with all the latest happenings on our beautiful Peninsula.

To get us fully into the moment, The Young Minds Network is hosting a free workshop about mindfulness – a practical skill that helps manage stress, depression, and anxiety. On the subject of mental health, we've found the perfect excuse for a cocktail party – the Girls Night Out, which raises awareness and funds for mental health charities while providing a great night of fun. Genius!

If a holiday is on your mind, you'll find some awesome ideas at the Moreton Bay Caravan, Camping, Boating and 4 x 4 Expo, which will be bigger than ever this year. Or, if you're in need of a good chuckle, head to the Love Stinks comedy event for a Valentine's Day with a difference.

Speaking of different, the Mousetrap Theatre's interactive murder mystery production, The Great British Bump Off, promises to be no ordinary play; just make sure you come 'dressed to kill'!

We also bring you wining, dining, and entertainment options aplenty, as well as community events and initiatives from across the Peninsula.

Happy Reading!

THE GREAT BRITISH BUMP OFF

Can you solve this Whodunit?

Story Sally Eberhardt

Red herrings are a surprise ingredient in Mousetrap Theatre's interactive murder mystery play The Great British Bump Off. When a quaint English village is caught up in the fever of cooking competitions, it isn't long before temperatures rise and murder is on the menu. Can you work out who the villain is before the detective?

Put together a team to attend this fun-filled event where you exercise your skills of deduction and compete for various prizes. There is even a matinee on Valentine's Day for a special date with a difference.

Director Susan Harding-Smith said that after last year's restrictions, Mousetrap Theatre was looking forward to getting back to 'normal'.

"I think people want to be entertained after the year that was 2020," Susan said. "Tables and chairs are arranged for an intimate setting, so rather than just watching, you are part of the action.

"In the second act, someone is murdered, and the detective starts quizzing everybody. The suspects are lined up and the detective takes questions from the audience."

"Come 'dressed to kill' as there are not only prizes for the team who correctly solve the case but also for best dressed, and best team name."

The plot follows the shenanigans when the sleepy village of Crabblebottom holds its annual cake baking competition. The fete organisers are delighted when celebrity chef Eduardo D'Angelo takes up residence in the village and agrees to judge the competition, but this year, rivalries turn deadly and the bake-off turns into a bump-off.

BYO drinks and snacks or even a picnic to this event. Cold non-alcoholic drinks and chocolates are available for purchase at the venue, so if you forget to pack anything, you won't go thirsty or hungry.

Don't come half baked – immerse yourself in this intriguing romp that really takes the cake.

Local Literary Advocate Honoured With Australia Day Award

Writers write – that’s the message Scarborough’s Jim Higgins is passionate about conveying to emerging writers on the Peninsula and beyond.

So passionate, in fact, that he has been awarded the 2021 Australia Day Arts and Culture Award for Moreton Bay Region, in recognition of his contribution in encouraging writers to share their story and connect with each other and the community.

As the President of the Fellowship of Australia Writers Queensland (FAWQ), Jim was instrumental in bringing the inaugural Readers and Writers Festival to the Moreton Bay in June this year – a feat that promises to be a drawcard for the national and international literary community.

He also has an active role in the Redcliffe Writers Group, and hosts the Redcliffe Writers Open Mic, which gives writers an opportunity to network and share their writing with an audience.

Jim said he was surprised and humbled to receive the award.

“I am incredibly honoured,” he said. “This award is recognition of the connections with community made through the creative act of encouraging people to share their stories.

“The Redcliffe Writers Open Mic is an event built on the concept that writing is an art that connects – and connection builds community.

“This fostering of community is also reflected in the theme of our FAWQ Readers and Writers Festival – Stories Creating Connection – and that is exactly what I hope it achieves.

“It’s an opportunity for everyone to share their stories openly, creatively and honestly. Sharing our story connects us because as humans we are simply the collection of thoughts and actions that reach back and project forward, to create our present reality.”

The festival seeks to inspire, to be inclusive and accessible, to connect readers and writers, and to showcase South-East Queensland’s emerging literary talent. Many local and interstate authors will present on topics of great value and interest to writers.

Fellow writer Renee Bugden, who nominated Jim for this award, said it was great to see the profile of writing being raised.

“With so many creative arts in the region, writing in Moreton Bay is overlooked,” she said. “Jim makes an impact through both the Redcliffe Writers Open Mic and the upcoming Readers and Writers Festival.”

Experience a new way to Holiday in 2021.

Adventure lovers rejoice. The Moreton Bay Caravan, Camping, Boating and 4x4 Expo is back this month at the Redcliffe Showgrounds – and it will be bigger and better than ever before.

Story Aleasha Bliss

With over 150 exhibitors, the expo will highlight the latest in camper trailers, leisure vehicles, boats, and four-wheel drives, and provide all the expert tips you need to perfect your next outdoor adventure holiday.

Australian Events managing director Bob Carroll said the event was very exciting for 2021 as it was filled with a variety of entertainment including Ron Wilson aka King Brown, a well-known camp oven cook. The event would also incorporate more destination information into the expo.

"It's the first major leisure event for the year," Bob said. "Often we have a lot of people who come that have been spending their holidays deciding where to go next and what else they need to improve their camping experiences.

"People who might traditionally go to the Sunshine Coast or Gold Coast for their yearly trip are asking more questions, as they want to know what else Queensland has on offer."

"We want to show everyone some of the amazing places they may never have realised were so close. We have a fascinating country."

Bob said the presentations offered at the expo aimed to show everyone a new skill, and he was impressed by the number of women and children that were showing interest in the event.

"It used to be ladies worrying about if they could safely four-wheel drive off the beach in case of emergency if their partner got hurt," Bob said. "Now the women are planning camping trips with their girlfriends, taking kids by themselves, and some are driving bigger four-wheel drives than the men. It is fantastic, as camping, caravanning, boating and four-wheel driving is for everyone."

This year, all attendees need to pre-purchase tickets via bayexpo.com.au, with single and multi-day passes available. A big bonus this year for families is that although children receive free admission, they still require a ticket, which entitles them entry into all the competitions. The major prize is the best the expo has had to date – a boat valued at $10,000.

Raise Awareness and Funds While Having Fun

Story Nadia Chapman

If you're looking for a place to meet new faces, raise funds for an organisation, and have a fun time, the Girls' Night Out event may be for you.

The all women's event is a great opportunity for local women to get together and raise money for charity this month.

Organiser Bec Peatey said the event was designed to create a safe and fun space for women who were looking for more freedom in their lifestyle.

"We have fun while we raise money and awareness for different charities specific to mental health," Bec said.

"All proceeds go to the charity, and generous donations come from local and online businesses."

As a cocktail-style event, women can expect a drink upon arrival to the Waters Edge, dinner, live entertainment, stalls, raffles, photo opportunities, and games that take place all night.

The event focuses on mental health, as it's something very important to Bec, and first started from a feeling of wanting a night out for herself.

"Contribution and connection fill my heart and make me feel really good, and I wanted other women to be a part of that feeling too," Bec said.

The charity of choice for the next event is Suicide Prevention Pathways (SPP), and donations will help support the staff, awareness resources, client support resources, and service delivery.

Also attending the event will be SPP CEO Shana Challenor. Women will get the chance to meet and talk with Shana about the organisation on the night.

With the impact of restrictions and lockdown back in early 2020, Bec said the feeling of continuing the event was as strong as ever, as she needed to continue for not only herself but the community, too.

Currently, 100 women are able to attend the event and there are no restrictions on who can attend.

WASTE WARRIORS CAMPAIGN FOR CLEAN

War has been declared on the Peninsula – and everyone is invited to join the fight. The enemy is litter, and your mission – should you choose to accept it – is to help make the Redcliffe Peninsula Australia's cleanest community.

A lofty goal, perhaps, but the Pristine Peninsula Community Group, which is leading the charge with Love Our Clontarf – a 100-day campaign that launched on 29 January to reduce litter – is confident of a win. Local residents and businesses are invited to join the battle.

Some of the campaign's initiatives include hotspot litter audits, litter warning signs, a community suburban litter collection trailer, and 'adopt a street' clean-ups.

The group's founder, Les Barkla, said the campaign was modelled on the successful Love Essex Campaign in the UK, which involved a combination of litter awareness and education about the consequences of litter, and enforcement warnings.

"The Essex Campaign reported a two-fifths reduction in fast food litter and a 41 per cent reduction in litter overall," Les said. "We are aiming for similar or better litter reduction results during our campaign."

Some of the major stakeholders throwing their support behind the initiative are Cr Karl Winchester, state MP Yvette D'Ath, federal MP Luke Howarth, Moreton Bay Regional Council, Clontarf Beach State High School, McDonalds Clontarf, Citipointe Church, Woolworths Redcliffe and Margate, Redcycle, and Replas Recycled Plastic Products.

The Love our Clontarf Litter Campaign is targeting a two-kilometre radius of the Snook and King Streets intersection, Elizabeth Avenue, and Fawley Fields precinct.

Les said the campaign had been inspired by the band of "waste warriors" – local residents who currently do daily litter collections, including Sue and Phil Johnson, who fill a 240L council bin every week with litter in their local streets.

Les said the litter problem was highlighted by the recent summer rains that had washed litter onto Peninsula beaches and foreshores, and also by COVID-19 restrictions, which had created a large increase in takeaway packaging and mask litter.

"All this litter has to go somewhere; it doesn't just disappear," he said. "In heavy rain, the litter flows down gutters and drains into our waterways, potentially not breaking down for hundreds of years. We now have micro-plastics back in our food chain."

A WORD FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVES

Cr Karl Winchester

Over the next few weeks, I am partnering with Pristine Peninsula to clean up litter and raise awareness of the consequences of leaving rubbish in public places.

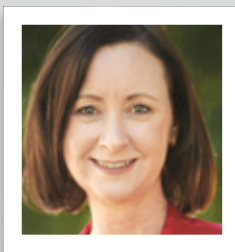

Love Our Clontarf campaign is the start of what we hope will become a much broader campaign across Redcliffe and the region. The program will begin with a rubbish count before undertaking a concerted effort to build awareness about the environmental harm caused by litter. The campaign will also partner with local stakeholders to change behaviour.

The Redcliffe Peninsula overlooks Moreton Bay and Hays Inlet. But you don't need to be near the beach for your litter to harm the bay. Waterways and creeks feed into the bay, and while filter treatments are in use, rubbish still makes it through harming marine wildlife.

I plan to do my bit by spreading the word and volunteering some time to help the clean-up. Hopefully, you will see messages around the community and on social media championing the cause. We can all pitch in and raise awareness, or change our behaviour and help the campaign for a cleaner community.

Yvette D'Ath MP

2020 is now behind us. It has been a tough 12 months for everyone. I want to acknowledge the tremendous efforts of our local community, businesses, schools, community organisations, and households throughout the past year. 2021 has already had its challenges as we continue to manage COVID-19 while supporting the recovery of our community. 2021 will see COVID vaccinations offered across Australia. I strongly encourage people to take up the vaccine where it is recommended. The vaccine will be an important step forward for Queensland and our community in protecting our people and helping restore our economy.

I look forward to working with our community over the coming year and hope that we can once again celebrate many exciting events. I encourage everyone to continue to support local businesses that have been doing it so tough over the past year.

For our students for 2021 I wish you all the best for the year ahead. I would like to take this opportunity to thank our local teachers and school staff for their commitment to the education of our young people.

We started the year showing what we can do together and we will continue throughout 2021 to unite and recover from COVID. Thank You!

Luke Howarth MP

2021 will see Australians face complex economic and strategic challenges but I know we can stare them down as we have done before throughout our nation's history.

It is a new era. We cannot mourn the past (pre-COVID) but must look to forge a new future.

Let's continue our efforts to shop and support our local and Australian businesses first. They are the lifeblood of our communities and importantly keep people in jobs.

As the newly appointed Assistant Minister for Youth and Employment Services, I am excited to work with the Minister for Employment, Skills, Small and Family Business, Senator the Hon Michaelia Cash to deliver the Morrison Government's COVID-19 Economic Recovery Plan for Australia.

Programs like JobActive, Youth Jobs PaTH, Transition to Work, and ParentsNext increase labour force participation and help workers transition to new jobs, and our collaboration with 12 peak industry bodies is bringing jobs, including apprenticeships and traineeships, to the table for young people. They are our future.

We live in a wonderful part of the world and I believe the future of the area is bright.

SHEEP HERDING FOR CITY DOGS

Story Jenn Carrington

City people who own herding-breed dogs as pets may find this all too familiar. Chasing cars, birds, rounding up other dogs at the park, and ignoring recall are most likely signs your dog is simply trying to herd.

Working dog breeds that are domestic pets who play in back yards, visit the local park, and have never seen a sheep, often transform in front of their owner's eyes in their first visit to trainer John Borg.

"The problem is we are trying to communicate with our dogs with human language, human instinct, and human emotion," John said.

"The issue is they are dogs, not humans, and we have to learn to talk to the dogs in their own language, which is body language."

John has always had an affinity with animals, and began training and competing at sheep-herding shows in 2012 with his first working dog, Bindi.

Born and raised in Redcliffe, John competes against farmers and sheep-station owners, and learned that by using sheep to train people's dogs, he could help city dog owners understand their pets.

"I tend to have a natural connection with dogs and they with me, so my training started evolving and I don't train like a lot of other guys; I'm more in tune to the animal and the dog," he said.

John said he learned that it was not about domination, but respect.

"Because I'm surrounded by dogs all the time and have 14 of my own, I see the body language between them," he said. "My pack leader, the alpha, does not dominate the other dogs, they all show mutual respect."

"So that's what I try to convey to people now and that helps change the way they communicate with their pet, by understanding their body language."

With more than 200 city dogs a week coming to see John, he said the most rewarding part of his day was seeing the enjoyment the dogs got from doing something instinctive.

"I love the new dog when the light comes on and they realise what they have got to do; it's a moving thing," he said.

"Then when their humans see their city pet – never been on a sheep farm before – naturally work the sheep, they are just so happy and proud."

All types of sheep herding breeds can come to the farm, such as Border Collies, Kelpies, German Shepards, Samoyeds, Rottweilers, and even Corgis.

Beer Fest

Story Aleasha Bliss

Eatons Hill Hotel is hosting its eighth annual Beer Fest on the Grass – “the biggest beer festival in Brisbane”.

Festivalgoers can expect an exhibition of over 130 local craft beers and ciders, and will be able to find a flavour to suit their tastebuds by sampling the brews from the endless selections on offer.

The day will also feature gourmet food trucks serving delicious eats to complement your brew of choice and keep your belly full so the ‘beer goggles’ do not come out too early.

Eatons Hill marketing and events coordinator Lauren McCarthy said the focus of the Beer Fest was on the local brewers and suppliers that will set up their market stalls with their craft creations for everyone to sample.

“Our main event of the day is the Keg Races,” Lauren said. “People are in teams of two and run kegs from one side to another. The winner will get an incredible prize.”

“We have pretty cruisey music on through the day from our live entertainment (yet to be announced), and as it progresses into the evening we have more full-on, fun music so everyone can have a dance on the dance floor in front of the stage, before continuing on to our nightclub inside when it opens.”

The Beer Fest tickets are currently only $10 if purchased online, however, will cost more at the door on the day.

Lauren said they also have a dress up competition to add to the fun of the day with patrons getting more creative each year – any theme you like.

“Over the years we have had Where’s Wallys running around, people wearing beer shirts from Lowes, and one year some festivalgoers dressed up as Power Rangers,” Lauren said.

“It’s a great event to get out and celebrate with your friends. Try some new beers – there’s a huge variety – for example last year we had a watermelon sour, and some of the smaller, local breweries will create some new, special flavours just for the day.”

HEALTH AND Psychic EXPO

Caryn Alner

Although 2020 was somewhat of a tragic time for expos and large events across the Peninsula, life is slowly getting back to normal and the annual Health and Psychic Expo is here to kick-off 2021.

Locals can expect a vibrant space full of a variety of stallholders for all your health and spiritual needs.

Organiser and owner of It's all in the Cards, Caryn Alner, said the event first started back in 2016 because of her love for health and psychic work.

"As a nurse, I love helping people, but I also love my psychic work, so I put the two together. I now run health and psychic expos, offering clients many complementary therapies," Caryn said.

With a passion for the two, she decided to combine them and create a shared space for other locals alike – where stallholders can come together to educate participants and sell a variety of wellness products.

Many different types of healing work, spiritual readers, and spiritual guides will be in attendance for those who are interested in spirituality.

"There will be readers who do all sorts of work like tarot, mediumship, and numerology. There will also be psychometric stallholders who sell jewellery, books on animal communication, health and beauty products, and spirit guide art," Caryn said.

Other forms of work include healers in kinesiology, reiki, crystal healings, Bowen therapy, and galactic Shaman healing.

Not only are there a variety of stallholders to connect with, but there will also be a raffle for locals to participate in. On the day, all stallholders will donate a prize for one lucky winner.

"It's $1 for a ticket or 6 for $5. I then donate the money to Canteen, who I volunteer for as a Registered Nurse. Canteen is for members aged 12-24 who are living with cancer," Caryn said.

There is a $5 entry, with COVID-19 safety measures put in place by Caryn and the team at the Redcliffe Dolphins. You can find out more by searching for Health & Psychic Expo on Facebook.

CREATIVITY EXPERIENCES REVIVAL

Kate Cartwright

Revival Green is a workshop space in Margate that is currently home to a gallery of artworks, an array of potted plants, and home-spun gifts like macrame wall-hangings.

With entry through Soul Harvest Wholefoods cafe, the studio has been designed by local artist Kate Cartwright of Lion Sword Designs, with a purpose that is incredibly close to her heart.

The concept is for art and community workshops to flourish here – Revival Green is to facilitate ‘creative play’; to help people rediscover their creative gifts and how to use them.

“I want to encourage people to explore creatively, so that they can understand more about their purpose in life – not that they are defined by one thing,” Kate said.

“People have so many gifts that they have no idea about – so much stored inside them that they can take out into the world to create change.”

According to Kate, Revival Green is also about building a stronger sense of connection for the local populace.

“This is a great place – I want to build more of a community,” she said.

Community gatherings and events that are still in development include workshops on creative painting, zero waste/sustainability ideas, and planting tutorials.

There’s also the opportunity for people to host their own workshops in order to share their creative knowledge.

“I want people to come here and refill their cup and leave inspired,” Kate said.

Revival Green is a space that’s been specifically created to nurture the senses so creativity can flow.

“We all have an inner garden; if we don’t tend to it becomes harder to look after. I want people to feel like they are supported,” Kate said.

“It’s about getting rid of old mindsets and default settings – I want people to find that freedom through that [creative] process.”

For Kate, art has the ability to speak to people in a way that can bypass any preconceived notions.

“Dream big – I mean really big. Life in general is art,” she said.

You can follow all that is happening at Revival Green via Lion Sword Designs on Facebook at www.facebook.com/lionsworddesigns.

Unpacking Business – Networking Meetup

The first Ocean Network meetup for 2021 will be held at The Belvedere Hotel at Woody Point. Guest speaker Angie Hammond, author of Unpacking, and a manufacturing industry marketing specialist, will lead guests through how to unpack themselves and their businesses. Having spent eight years working in the textile industry in both the UK and Australia, it was clear marketing was Angie's focus. Story Nick Allford

Want a break from your regular diet of true crime, talkback, and pop culture podcasts? Then wrap your ears around The Thrilling Adventure Hour, a comedy stage production recorded live in the style of the old-time radio shows from the 30s, 40s and 50s.

Accompanied by a small orchestra, well-dressed actors perform with script in hand and tongue pressed firmly in cheek. Each cast member has their lines laid out neatly in front of them by the show's talented creators Ben Acker and Ben Blacker (yep, that's their real names) but it's the occasional improvisation that adds real charm.

Episodes run for around 20 minutes and vary between self-contained stories or a selection of continued adventures. They are joined by a host of guest stars with names you might not recognise but voices that you will.

The podcast is suitable for all ages, staying true to the original style of the era by never being too rude, and instead opting for the occasional sneaky innuendo. For some, it will be a nostalgic trip down memory lane, and for others like me, it's a taste of a more innocent time with a modern comedic twist.

The Thrilling Adventure Hour, available where you grab your podcasts.

CHEERS TO A WINE AND CHEESE EVENING.

Wild Cherry Events is one of Margate's newest businesses with some very exciting experiences on offer. With a motto of 'We create, You celebrate', the busy event business is already proud of its many booked out, glamorous events.

Wild Cherry Events was established in August 2019, with co-founders Carolyn Rothwell and Denise Rose working from home catering and creating hampers for their customers' events. Within a year, the business has expanded into event and wedding management, ticketed events, catering and hampers, and party/venue hire.

This growth saw it quickly out growing its home base and moving into its own venue at Margate in August 2020.

Wild Cherry Events co-founder Carolyn Rothwell said they were thankful for the local community support they had had and for all the customers who have brought hampers, tickets and booked parties.

"Starting our business just prior to the COVID lockdown we never imagined the quick growth and success we have had," Carolyn said. "We hope to continue to grow and thank everyone for your continued support."

On 20 February, the business is hosting a wine and cheese tasting evening that is packed to the brim with gourmet cheeses and run by Phil and Gail from Woongooroo Estate Winery, who will masterfully guide you through your wine experience and help you pair your wines with the perfect bite.

"From the moment you arrive at Wild Cherry Events you will be immersed into an atmosphere of elegance and relaxation," Carolyn said.

// Your delicious cheese-tasting platter will be served at your table while Phil explains the local wines that you will sample throughout the night. After your wine and cheese tasting, enjoy a scrumptious dessert buffet while relaxing with your friends. Wild Cherry Events prides itself on creating an experience to remember, and we would love for you to join us."

Your tasting platter will include brie or camembert, Kenilworth mature cheddar, and ginger infused mature cheddar or garlic/cracked pepper mature cheddar, Maleny creamy vintage cheddar and Tuscan infused vintage cheddar.

Carolyn said they understood the uncertainty of the current times, however, believed in striving for success and providing opportunities for fun, friendship and partying whenever possible.

All the award-winning wines that are served on the night can also be ordered and delivered to your door – extending the experience to your home.

"Our hope for 2021 is that we can continue to provide experiences for our community and encourage people to take time out of their busy lives for some enjoyment and time with loved ones," Carolyn said.

Check out the Wild Cherry Events website to book tickets to this event and see what else is on offer for the year ahead. Tickets are $65 and can be purchased at wildcherryeventsbrisbane.com.au/upcoming-events/

A 'MARVELOUSLY' GOOD FEED!

Fish and chips at Scarborough just got a whole lot more exciting. Venture into Marvelous Fish and Chips and immerse yourself in the adventure of all things Marvel.

With Marvel characters decorating the doors and figurines and collectables to admire while you wait for your meal, it's every superhero's – or villain's – dream to order handcrafted meals referencing a favourite character.

Marvelous Fish and Chips owners Rebecca and Giles Cockett have always been massive Marvel fans, and after attending Comicon and working in a fish and chip store, they decided to live out their passion and combine their two loves.

"We are proud of our fish and chips," Rebecca said. "All our food is made from scratch, cooked to order, and we even offer gluten-free."

"Our friend Joel, who designed our burger menu, drew inspiration from the Marvel characters, so it is American/Canadian inspired with all of the sauces for the burgers influenced and designed with those flavours in mind."

The Marvel-themed menu is proving a hit with diehard fans as the offerings reference their favourite characters or what they represent. Rebecca said they had lots of fun coming up with their unique menu items and naming them accordingly. With meals named the Baby Groot pack and the Hemmy burger – to highlight Chris Hemsworth aka Thor – the kids will eat every bite.

"The Thanos pack is half of the Avengers pack – as he wanted to wipe out half of civilisation," Rebecca said. "The Deadpool reflects Ryan Reynolds' Canadian background in the form of southern fried chicken, sriracha or buffalo sauce with maple syrup, and coleslaw on a home-made waffle or bun."

Rebecca said that even people that weren't Marvel fans were really interested when they come in. They got to talk about the characters, watch some Marvel movies on the TV, and sometimes they wanted to go and watch more of the movies after they left.

"We also have a collection of comic books for our avid fans to look through and of course take one if it catches their eye," Rebecca said. "It's just been fantastic having our passion and living out our dream of the fish and chip shop. We are really happy with the entire menu. Everything is fresh and unique to us."

"I've lived in Redcliffe my whole life – well, I've grown up in Redcliffe, but I've travelled between Redcliffe and Europe for the last 10 to 15 years. Redcliffe is my base."

I love being close to the ocean; it's great for me if I want to go out walking. It's calm and peaceful, away from all the city traffic. My favourite part of Redcliffe is at Woody Point – Scotts Point. It's like the last bit of Redcliffe that's untouched – you've got the nice beach down there; you've got the caves on the cliffs. It's just a great place to watch the moon coming up.

I'm usually outdoors doing lots of hiking – I try and do hiking every weekend. And if I'm not hiking, I'm either at the gym, working on my fitness, or swimming – I love the ocean.

I work in childcare. I guess I'm in that industry because I like to be a positive role model for children. I'm really passionate about children's development, and being that fun person for children – we don't always know what their background is, and what life struggles children are facing.

Travelling is my main passion. I'm working on my ultimate goal at the moment, which is to complete every country in Europe. So far, I'm 26 countries in, and I've got 24 remaining.

One of my favourite places was going to one of the highest train stations in Europe, at the top of Switzerland, and walking out onto the Alps – that was pretty amazing. Another one that I found was amazing was that I lived in a cave in Crete [Greece] for a week. When I got to this tiny village there was actually no accommodation in the village, so me and another person scaled a cliff and found a cave to live in. It actually worked out to be the best experience of my life.

I like to do hula hooping for fun; it's a good stress relief from work. I take my hula hoops down to the beach, or work on my circus class with my teacher in Brisbane. I go down to the beach and practise. Some people come down and have a chat; kids come and join in. It brings back people's childhood; it's a bit of a conversation starter with the adults as well.

Emma Zammit

Andy Thompson

Story Eve Vickerson

Whether you're lucky in love or single and fabulous, one thing you can be sure of is enjoying a good laugh at the anti-Valentine's comedy special event, Love Stinks.

Join Sit Down Comedy stars Andy Thompson, Emma Zammit and Steven J Whiteley at North Lakes Sports Club this February as they take a look at the lighter side of broken hearts and relationship woes.

Emma said it would be a unique opportunity for locals to enjoy some fun.

"I think it's going to be a great night with kind of a different spin on things for people to go out for Valentine's Day," she said.

While the show is more of a flipside of the lovers' celebration, Emma thinks it represents the perfect first date opportunity.

"Any kind of comedy night for the first date is always the best night because somehow you walk away thinking your date's super funny because you've been laughing all night."

Emma said she was excited to be sharing the stage with her co-stars; seasoned comedy veteran and regular ABC Radio Brisbane panellist Andy Thompson – and Steven J Whiteley, who's been nicknamed the Bogan Prince of Australian Comedy.

"We've got a really good line-up; Andy is fantastic and Steven is amazing."

Bringing her relaxed and relatable style, Emma will be focusing her material on the night on "everyday relationship stuff".

She first got into standup comedy after taking career advice from her sister, who decided it was time to move her one-liners out of the lounge room and enrolled her in a standup comedy writing course for the sake of family harmony.

All jokes aside, Emma is feeling incredibly fortunate about being able to perform, given the challenges of the pandemic.

"In the bigger picture of things, I think we're very lucky to be still going to comedy nights and being able to do this kind of stuff," she said. "If we've got an opportunity to go out and see live entertainment, have a really good laugh, and a great night, then that is the best outcome to this."

Josh and Ellie

Story Nadia Chapman

Locals can expect an acoustic-style set list with a mix of covers and originals from the energetic 16-year-old duo Josh and Ellie at the Suttons Beach Pavilion this month.

The duo pulls from a wide variety of genres and both members are influenced by different styles, which are seamlessly integrated into their originals.

One half of the duo, Josh Crawford, said the pair used a mix of equipment to create their own twist on the songs they covered.

"We use an interesting blend of guitars, vocal harmonies and a stomp box to produce our own rendition of hit songs from a variety of genres," Josh said.

Both Josh and Ellie have seen combined and individual success in their music careers from being a semi-finalist in a songwriting competition to releasing their very own original singles.

Late November 2020, Josh released his single Cry, now available on all streaming platforms.

"It's a peaceful acoustic ballad that encompasses acoustic and electric guitar and piano," Josh said.

Ellie also released a single titled You and I, which has been streamed over 15,000 times on Spotify.

The duo is performing at the Suttons Beach Pavilion on Sunday, 7 February from 3-6pm. You can find out more via www.facebook.com/joshnellie

Lucy Korts

The Redcliffe Tavern has something special planned for couples this Valentine's Day.

The talented Lucy Korts will be playing at the Bistro on Sunday, 14 February, where couples can expect to be serenaded by the sea and into the afternoon.

As an upcoming solo artist based in Brisbane, Lucy's musical style is influenced by R&B, pop, and alternative genres.

Because of her distinctive vocal style, Lucy was granted the opportunity to travel across Australia and has played many stages.

As she's no stranger to the stage, locals can expect a set of acoustic melodies to set the mood for Valentine's Day.

There will also be your very own chef that will cater to this event specifically, with delightful share platters, romantic meals, and drinks.

Bookings are essential and tickets will cost $46 per person. You can find out more by searching Redcliffe Tavern on Facebook.

Music By The Sea: The Stowaways

Bringing an optimistic and joyful start to Music By The Sea 2021, the Stowaways are an eclectic world music trio, steeped in the far-flung folk traditions of the British Isles, but with colourful influences from all over Eastern Europe, America and the Near East.

The line-up features Sebastian Flynn on fiddle, Martin Reese on mandolin, banjo, shruti box and melodeon, and Christian Rizzalli on bouzouki, accordion, percussion and vocals.

This crew delights with seamless musicianship, high-energy fiddling, heartfelt songs, and engaging stories.

The Stowaway's signature sound includes a homage in word and music to renowned Irish poet Ciaran Carson, which they performed to great acclaim at the Woodford Folk Festival.

You may have caught one of their shows at the Woodford Folk Festival in 2018 and 2019 as well as at concerts throughout Queensland.

A WEIGHT OFF YOUR MIND

Story Eve Vickerson

As our lives continue to get busier, it can sometimes feel like we're stuck on autopilot. Mindfulness, on the other hand, is all about being fully in the moment and now, you can learn it for free right here on the Peninsula.

Young Minds Network workshop teacher and provisional psychologist Andrea Sarmonikas said mindfulness was a practical skill to help manage stress and symptoms of depression and anxiety.

"It's a very simple strategy, which I think is essential for everyday living," Andrea said.

Andrea said workshop participants would learn about the science behind mindfulness and then go into a practice, so that "everybody will be able to experience it for themselves".

She said the plan was for workshops like this to become a regular offering.

"The idea is that mindfulness programs find a home in Redcliffe and be integrated into the community," Andrea said.

"The vision is that all communities have something like this to come to, relax, enjoy, and take away something meaningful."

PENINSULA PIMPERNEL

Brewing Up Pleasure

Story Richard Lancaster

A little over a year ago, two mates, George D'ath and Geoff Gray, decided to buy a brewery. Neither George, a policeman of some 30 years standing, nor Geoff, a sales manager, had any experience in running a brewery, but in true Aussie style decided 'to give it a go'. "It was a fairly large learning curve, but we haven't regretted it," George said.

The Clontarf brewery named the Horny Wombat Brewery was up for sale, having been successfully operated by the previous owners for 12 years. Being the only brewery in Redcliffe, it had built up a loyal customer base, who were thrilled at being able to create and brew their own style of beer, which is one of the services offered at the brewery.

"We brew about a thousand litres a week and it's growing, with several local restaurants becoming our clients," George said.

The brewery has its own range of 19 different beer varieties, from a lager through to a coffee stout. It also produces cider and ginger beer. The brewery only uses high quality, natural ingredients and no chemicals or preservatives are added, and the equipment is of the finest commercial grade.

The brewery has a growing Club Wombat, where members are kept up-to-date on forthcoming specials and events. A significant range of merchandise is also available consisting of shirts, stubby holders, kegs and other brewing equipment.

The Horny Wombat Brewery is located at 345 MacDonnell Road, Clontarf, and is open Wednesday to Friday from 12pm to 6pm, and Saturday to Sunday from 10am to 3pm.

The Readiculous Club is Back for the Kids

Story Nadia Chapman

Redcliffe Library will continue the Readiculous club commencing from Wednesday, 10 February.

The Readiculous club is perfect for primary school kids to meet friends and adventure into the world of books and technology, and it's a fun and safe way to take part in extracurricular activities outside of the classroom for free.

Library staff will be there to supervise and assist the kids so parents don't need to be there, but are welcome to stay.

Kids will have the opportunity to read and talk books, review films, and learn more about and program new technologies.

There's also a chance for participants to win challenges and prizes, and swap and recommend books to other kids in the club.

This is a good way for parents to make free library reservations for future events, but most of all, this is a great fortnightly activity that brings the Redcliffe community together and provides education with enjoyment for everyone involved.

The club is held every second Wednesday of each month from 3.30-4.30pm. Bookings are required for this event. You can find out more via www.moretonbay.qld.gov.au

The Redcliffe Tigers are roaring – and with good reason. The club is holding its 2021 season sign-on day on Saturday, 13 February, and it's hoping to tap into the buzz created by the 2020 AFL Grand Final that was historically played in Brisbane for the very first time.

Redcliffe Tigers AFC secretary and registrar Melinda LeClerc said registration was open for male and female players from Auskick U5s all the way through to Masters.

"We encourage our coaches, including our seniors coach Adam Holland, to come down and mill around, answer any questions and set up some games on the oval," Melinda said.

The club will put on a sausage sizzle with the canteen open for drinks. Uniforms will also be available to purchase on the day.

The Redcliffe Tigers have some great facilities on offer at their new home in Nathan Road. These include home and away change rooms, umpire change rooms, full amenities, gym for members' use, and a comfortable clubroom with kitchen/canteen.

Outside there's a full sized field with lighting and ample carpark spaces provided.

The club is lobbying local political representatives to bring forward plans for an additional set of change rooms and three more ovals.

Melinda said the club had seen big growth in the female football space where they were hoping to fill teams in U9s, U11s and U13s for the first time.

"They will join our U15s, U17s and senior women teams, so basically we are going to double our female footprint," she said.

Those with Fair Play Vouchers are advised to please bring them along as the club will be more than happy to accept them.

Redcliffe Tigers AFC president Gayle Wetzel Fitzgerald said it was a family-based club and wanted to be seen as one inclusive unit.

"Our masters invite our juniors to training and our seniors come down to help our younger players," she said.

"The whole family including mum, dad, sons and daughters can all sign on and play."

FROM THE PULPIT

BEAUTIFUL THINKING

Beautiful thinking should be the Hallmark of every Christian.
Whatsoever is true, and whatsoever is honest, just, pure, & lovely,
THINK OF THESE THINGS
[ Phil. 4:8 ].

When our focus is on the word of God, and on the glory of Creation, and the love of Jesus for dying for us, these attributes produce
BEAUTIFUL THINKING which is centered in Jesus Christ.

Code Club for Kids at the Redcliffe Library

Story Nadia Chapman

Redcliffe Library is hosting another great kids' activity this year. Code Club is a free event and will be held once a month commencing Wednesday, 24 February.

This is an ideal event for kids in Grades five to eight who are interested in coding languages.

The one-hour session will teach participants how to code languages for games, animations, and robotic sequences.

At the end of the session, participants will be encouraged to share what they've created with the other coders.

Both coding gurus and beginners aged nine to 13 years old are welcome to join in on the fun.

The event is a fun and safe way for kids to learn new things and maybe try something that is outside their comfort zone.

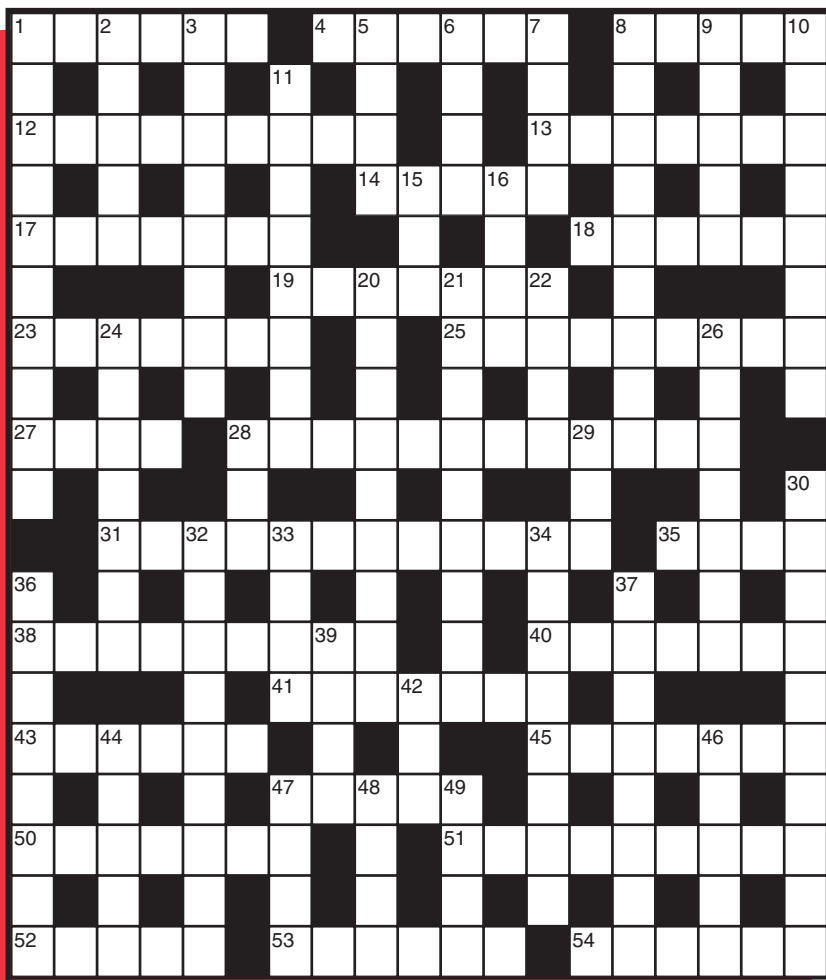

It's also a good way for kids to make new friends and team up to code together.

Code Club will be held on the fourth Wednesday of each month, excluding public holidays, from 3.30pm-4.30pm.

This event is free, but bookings are required.
You can find out more info via www.moretonbay.qld.gov.au

LET'S TALK PROPERTY With Robyn

Story Robyn Baker

Waterfront Properties Redcliffe

Each month I'll be sharing a snapshot of what's current and happening in real estate in the Redcliffe area.

Our property market ended on a high last year in light of the global pandemic. Australia has managed well against many overseas countries with local agents reporting the housing market as extremely busy. Why is this so, and what is driving this hive of activity?

According to Mary Di Marco from Waterfront Properties Redcliffe, "the market is being driven by the record low interest rates". She said this was driving a large volume of buyers and an increase in activity. "We expect much of the same in 2021," Mary said.

With the shift to working from home, buyers are seeking properties that offer options. Detached properties, homes with separate areas such as a granny flat or a separate office area have proven popular. This has resulted in a reduction of demand for apartments and units.

Redcliffe has always been popular with families and those wanting a sea change. Its casual more relaxed lifestyle makes it easy to go for a swim after work, walk along the beach, or grab some fish and chips while watching the sunset. Recreational water activities are popular as are the weekend markets. Redcliffe is spoiled for choice in casual seaside dining as well as great upmarket options too. Transport infrastructure has been upgraded with the Brisbane CBD around 1 hour via train from Kippa-Ring. There are many suburban shopping centres with the majors, discount stores and friendly local shops providing an eclectic choice for shopping locally. Westfield North Lakes being close completes the picture. Housing options are just as varied, providing a mixed choice.

The housing market is moving upwards quickly, illustrated in one recent example from Mary: a contract that didn't proceed in October, due to finance, sold in November for an additional $40,000 more than the original offer. Both seller and buyer were ecstatic with the sale price.

Currently the median house price for Redcliffe is $451,000, a 1.3 per cent growth increase in the last 12 months and a capital growth of 4.88 per cent in the last five years. (Source: CommBank property app 14/1/21).

HISTORY

Henry Tubbs – Famous and Infamous in Redcliffe History

Henry Ibberson Tubbs; Orient House

Story Hellen White

Henry Ibberson Tubbs was a man of many hats – boarding house owner, coach service provider, returning officer, councillor, preacher, deacon, doctor, and a pharmacist, and it is the last two hats that made him infamous on the Redcliffe Peninsula.

Born in England in March 1846, Henry arrived in Redcliffe in early 1881. He purchased a block of land on the corner of Marine Parade and Sydney Street, and constructed a large cottage that he named Orient House. This was only the third building to be built in Redcliffe, after John Sutton's Hurley House and O'Leary's Redcliffe Hotel.

When the coach service from Redcliffe to Brisbane closed, Henry saw an opportunity and revived the service.

Bushfires in late 1881 destroyed Henry's home, despite his valiant efforts to save it by throwing buckets of water on it. His coach and assorted furniture were saved from the blaze, but the house was lost. Not to be beaten, he rebuilt – a two-storey boarding house, which would eventually accommodate 150 beds, also named Orient House.

Henry was active in local affairs, lobbying for a dam to provide a permanent water supply for the town, which was rejected, and for better public transport and a school, which were successful.

In 1888, the Redcliffe division was proclaimed and Henry became the returning officer for the district. Elections were held annually then. In 1890 at the age of 43, he married Emily Parkinson. They had no children.

Elected to Council in 1891, he served until 1908. For a time, he was also acting chairman.

Due to a lack of medical personnel and facilities on the Humpybong Peninsula, Henry often treated locals, acting as doctor, with medicines he created in his 'chemist shop'. He was in high demand.

In 1909, the newspapers reported one of the most infamous scandals in Redcliffe history. A woman that Henry had been treating, Emma Pearce, died after suffering a miscarriage and subsequently acute peritonitis. Tubbs prescribed opium and rye, and later, strychnine and morphine. The doctor from Sandgate was summoned, but it was too late and Mrs Pearce could not be saved.

Police were called in. Tubbs admitted to practising medicine without a licence, among other things, but he was so popular that even Mrs Pearce's husband strongly supported him at the inquest. He was exonerated.

Henry's sister, Gertrude Cohen, took over the boarding house in 1913 and he eventually left the Peninsula in 1916. He died in Sydney on 23 August, 1919 following treatment for carcinomas.

FISH OF THE MONTH

Mangrove Jack

Lutjanus argentimaculatus

I believe Australia's premier sportfish is this "Red Dog". Sought after by many sports fishers, the mangrove jack is great at busting you up in the rocks and snags.

It takes lures and live baits and seem to be more plentiful in the hot summer months and stormy days, so this a great time to get out there and chase it.

The mangrove jack can grow to well over a metre long, with most of the huge fish found out on the reef. A 60cm fish in the rivers or bay in South East Queensland is a great catch, but not uncommon, where most fish I see are below 50cm.

Found from around Sydney north and right around the top end to Geraldton in WA, they are 5-star for eating quality, although a lot of avid anglers now practise catch and release.

My favourite method to target these brutes is drifting live bait such as herring or mullet a few feet below a float along rock walls, rock bars, mangrove lines, and bridge pylons.

These amazing fish can also make great pets, although due to their aggression and appetite, they are not compatible with many other species in an aquarium.

TRIKE THIS!

Story Philip Woods

Romance means different things depending on whom you ask. For some, candles and chocolates, fireplaces, sunsets, mist and mountains, or beaches and oceans spring to mind.

But for others the roar of an engine and the wind in your face is just the thing to stir feelings of romance.

Col Clarke started Horizon Trike Tours on the Sunshine Coast several years ago, and he gets a great deal of satisfaction from having couples on his three-wheeled, three-seater motorbikes as he shows them the sights of the beautiful Sunshine Coast and hinterland areas.

"We get couples celebrating their anniversaries or just looking for a fun day out, and being on the back of one of our trikes is a great way to enjoy the roads and scenery that we have up here," Col said. "Being a passenger on a trike is great for couples; you can see right over the driver's helmet to the views ahead. It's a great shared experience."

Brody Gough, who operates Dark Horse Trike Tours and is based in Redcliffe, agrees. "We offer a night tour, which is a perfect romantic date-night option for couples," Brody said. "We pick up our customers and take them for a ride through and around Brisbane where they can see the city lights, then we head up to the spectacular Mt Coot-tha summit, which offers a beautiful vantage point of Brisbane and beyond."

"You can book to dine at the Summit Restaurant or picnic in the gardens while you take in the star-lit skies, before we bring you home on the back of our trike. It's a great way for a couple to spend an evening."

Brody also offers trike tours for events such as weddings or even school formals.

"We can basically customise a tour to suit anyone," he said. "We love taking our customers for a quick tour up and around Mt Nebo and Mt Glorious where the air is cool and the rainforest beautiful."

Why not book a trike tour? Surprise the love of your life with an adventure you'll both remember forever.

All roofs age over time. After around 15 years, tile roofs deteriorate to the point where a restoration should be considered. At this age, colour starts to fade, ridge capping becomes brittle, lichen and mould can grow, and tiles become harder to clean. The appearance of your home suffers and your roof is more likely to develop leaks.

Welcome new Motion Sensor Hearing Aids

When you sit in a meeting, you want to hear the speech from the front. When you walk in a park with your loved one, you want to hear the person next to you. This new motion sensor feature provides crucial information about the wearer's movement allowing the hearing aid to build an accurate acoustic image surrounding the wearer. Based on this data, the sound processor steers the directional microphone reducing the dynamic noise appropriately providing you with greater speech clarity than before.

Tap your outer ear to control hearing aid

People with large fingers or reduced dexterity. It may be hard to find and press the hearing aid button to make changes to the hearing aid functions. With a motion sensor hearing aid, it is now possible to accept/reject mobile phone calls by double tapping on the outer ear. In addition, it allows the user to pause/resume audio streaming from connected mobile devices, or to even ask Google for driving directions with a simple tap.

Currently there is a small number of hearing aid models with this motion sensor feature.

You can arrange a free trial of this latest technology before this Christmas holiday. Call us on 3603 1370 to book in an appointment.

HERE IS WHAT SOME OF OUR HAPPY CUSTOMERS HAVE TO SAY...

The most comfortable hearing aids...

These are the most comfortable hearing aids that I've ever had and I've been wearing hearing aids for almost 20 years. I find Ronnie easy to talk to and he explains everything to me clearly. He gave me options of hearing aids which I haven't had before. I'm very happy with Sandgate Hearing.

Elsie Condrin, Bald Hills.

I've had a hearing problem for almost 40 yrs...

And it was slowly getting worse. I've been to a number of audiologists, but Ronnie Lam is the first person to give me a clear picture of what's going on with my hearing and a set of hearing aids that actually address my hearing problems. Now I can hear better at home and at my volunteer work which involves a lot of meetings. Social interacting with family and friends has greatly improved too.

Keith Brandt (& wife Judy) – South Ripley.

Nyrelle my wife doesn't have to continually repeat herself...

I've had hearing issues for a long time. With the arrival of my new granddaughter, I realised I needed to improve my hearing. I now have a new set of hearing aids and I'm extremely happy with them. Nyrelle my wife is very happy as she doesn't have to continually repeat herself. I'd recommend Sandgate Hearing to anyone with a hearing loss.
