Beatles Boys

STORY NADIA CHAPMAN

Travel back to the 60s and relive the classic era of The Beatles this month.

Tribute band, The Beatles Boys are making their way to the Redcliffe Entertainment Centre on Friday, May 20, to perform all the classic hits in one sensational two-hour live performance.

John Kater, who plays Paul McCartney, said that The Beatles Boys are committed to providing a fun and joyful atmosphere at every show.

"The Beatle Boys are committed to fun! We combine the experience of being transported to the time when The Beatles ruled the Earth with a good sense of joy and humour as if the Beatles never left."

The Beatles Boys have been around for 12 years, performing to audiences across the country as Paul, John, George, and Ringo.

"My favourite part about performing is watching the legacy of the greatest group in history continue forging ahead over half a century later. The greatest thrill is when everyone gets up and starts dancing the house down," John said.

Bookings are essential, and tickets are $79.90.

Paint, sip and laugh your way into the end of the week overlooking breathtaking views of the bay. Join Pinot and Picasso for a sipping soiree at Sunny's Margate Beach on Thursday, May 5, and create a masterpiece with a drink in one hand.

With a complimentary glass of sparkling wine upon arrival, what better way to wind down the end of the week?

Bookings are essential, and tickets start from $65 pp. You can find out more via www.pinotandpicasso.com.au.

SUBURBAN SUPERSTAR AT BLACKBIRD CLOTHING EXCHANGE

Local businesswoman, Pru Burke, has been recognised for her outstanding community contributions by the national morning show, Sunrise.

For the past 5 years, Blackbird Clothing Exchange has been supporting the Redcliffe community by offering a clothing exchange service, along with clothes that you can buy for just $1. Pru said her mission is to make clothes more economical and accessible for all.

"I started Blackbird Clothing Exchange because I just knew there was a need for it. My daughter had outgrown clothes that were recently bought," Pru said. "I knew that if I wanted a smarter and cheaper way to shop, other people would feel the same, so I started a clothing exchange myself."

Founded in 2017 in Pru's garage, she initially started with kid's clothing but very quickly expanded. She now prides herself on having something for everyone.

"We start all the way from infants, to adults. We carry as many sizes as we can, starting from 00000-20 and more. We have winter clothes, summer clothes, men's and women's wear, maternity clothing, and kid's clothing. We also provide free school uniforms." Pru said.

Earlier this year Blackbird Clothing Exchange was visited by Sunrise after Pru was nominated for the Suburban Superstar award, where she received the greatest number of votes by anyone so far in the competition. She was gifted $10,000 for her outstanding community contributions which she tells us will go towards securing a much bigger store.

"We pride ourselves on accessibility, however, we don't have good pram access, nor parking - we need to provide our customers with a better place to shop." Pru said.

When asked how the community can help, Pru said that shopping and spreading the word would help strengthen her mission.

"No matter if you're a man, woman, non-binary, 82 years old or 20 years old - it doesn't matter. We really want to be a place where everyone, no matter age or gender, can come and shop.

"Even though we are a business and are here to make money, Blackbird is for the community, and we always will be."

CELEBRATIONS ON ANZAC AVE: THE BONEYARD COLLECTIVE'S 1ST BIRTHDAY BASH

STORY NADIA CHAPMAN

Whether you like to listen to some of your favourite tunes while drinking a good cup of coffee or not, The Boneyard Collective lets you do both.

And to make matters even better, they are celebrating their first birthday on Saturday, 7 May, with a bunch of wicked fun for everyone.

Owner, Becky Stone said the aim of the celebration is all about thanking and giving back to the local community.

"We just want to acknowledge the wonderful support we have had from the local community so far, and show newcomers what we are all about," Becky said.

This free event will offer a lovely rotation of live music from young, up and coming bands, stallholders, food trucks, drinks, a DJ, and even a music trivia game.

"We have invited a couple of vintage fashion marketeers, a couple of local food trucks, and a couple of music-focussed artists to set up on the day," Becky said.

Made up of The Boneyard Espresso and the Boneyard Records & Relics — The Boneyard Collective is a small family-owned business that wanted to bring their love of music and coffee together.

Becky and Leigh always loved the idea of a record store that was so much more than just that — they were both interested in filling a niche gap in the market.

"As people who had led lives surrounded by, involved with, and soundtracked by music...we wanted to make a place that people who loved music could gather and enjoy."

Becky's daughter, Ruby, was working at a coffee shop while finishing her university degree. "[So], when we found the premises that we loved, it had the perfect spot for an espresso bar," Becky said.

"Ruby was initially hesitant, but after some research and soul searching, decided she would go for it. Boneyard Espresso was created and what followed was a hectic four-week fit-out on a shoestring budget and many late nights."

But the blood, sweat, and tears were worth it for the Stone family as their first anniversary approaches — with continued support from the Redcliffe locals.

Charmaine Wilson

World-renowned Australian Medium Comes to Redcliffe

STORY NADIA CHAPMAN

Honoured as Queensland Psychic of the Year in 2008 and Australian Psychic of the Year three years earlier, Charmaine Wilson has dedicated her life to helping others.

In this intimate tour, Charmaine is coming to the Redcliffe Entertainment Centre on Tuesday, May 17, to connect to as many spirits as possible and help those in the audience feel that little bit lighter.

After briefly speaking to Charmaine, she said that these tours and workshops offer education and compassion to those who attend.

"In the two-hour event, I connect as many spirits to their family and friends in the audience as possible. At the end, I take some questions and talk about the spirit world in general," Charmaine said.

Charmaine first began her work back in 2002 after dealing with the death of her daughter, brother, and father. Through grief, she realised how important it was to connect with the spirit world and woke up to her gift by following the works of two great mediums.

"If it wasn't for Doris Stokes and John Edward, [I] may never have realised what [I] was, but thanks to their brave efforts of bringing mediumship into the open, [I] was able to work with [my] hidden talents."

When asked what the most fulfilling part of being a psychic medium was, Charmaine explained that it's all about perspective.

"After having so much loss in my own life and knowing the mistakes I made because of my deep sadness, it gives me so much pleasure to give those newly bereaved a different perspective."

Although her tours and readings have slowed down a lot during the pandemic, Charmaine has taken to social media to further educate and help others who may be struggling with grief.

"I work on social media a lot and do little Tik Tok videos to help people understand grief and how to move through it. There are generally a lot of questions people have, and I am happy to help them via social media," Charmaine said.

Bookings are essential, and tickets are $50. You can find out more about Charmaine via <https://spiritwhispers.org/>

EAT, DRINK, CONNECT WITH LADIES WHO LONG LUNCH

Come and celebrate being a woman in business, relax, and make new connections over a deliciously decadent Long Lunch and a glass of bubbly in great company.

At the Ladies Who Long Lunch May event at Tempest Seafood Restaurant, you get to call this fun and friendly experience 'doing business'. Set right on Scarborough Harbour, Tempest offers waterfront dining and the freshest seafood to enjoy while you bond with some other fabulous females.

Created by Kirsty Fields, Creative Director of Social Ocean, and Jo Stevens, founder of The Zen Zone, the Ladies Who Long Lunch is for women wanting friendship, who need to take time out for themselves, and are looking to make genuine business connections.

Kirsty Fields said this event is for every woman who recognises the importance of self-care and the social impact of spending time with others who inspire, support, and re-energise them.

"We understand the type of women we've designed this event for. We know who they are because we are them.

"As business owners, we mainly go somewhere that educates us or advances our business. It's refreshing to have an opportunity that includes fun and frivolity.

"Running your own businesses is stressful and it's important to surround yourself with positivity," Kirsty said.

Building relationships is the basis of success for businesses according to Jo Stevens.

"There will be plenty of time to mingle, and networking is a great way to build connections," said Jo.

Kirsty and Jo both feel strongly that younger women should be encouraged to consider a business pathway. One of the highlights of the Long Lunch is the empowerment panel with a Q&A session featuring three young female entrepreneurs.

Those special guests are landscape architect Eva Porter (owner of Porter Designs), founder & marketing strategist Belinda Boyce (owner of Matchsticks Digital), and student journalist Alayna Fong (president of UQJACS).

As Jo said, "Ladies Who Long Lunch is about bringing women together to network, connect, have fun, eat great food, and enjoy a wine or two!"

Candle Lighting Ceremony for Domestic Violence

STORY JULIA LEWIS

May marks the month for Domestic and Family Violence Prevention and a National Candle Lighting Vigil is being held around the country to honour the victims whose lives were taken due to domestic violence.

Hosted by Encircle, the Candle Lighting Ceremony is taking place at Redcliffe's Encircle Neighbourhood Centre on 4 May and will offer a safe place for those who have been affected by domestic violence to come together as a community.

One in four women in Australia have experienced at least one incident of violence by a partner. On average, one woman is killed every week because of partner violence.

Counselling and Families Manager, Lisa Boyd, says the vigil is an important event in the community.

"In past years, approximately 80-100 people have gathered in Redcliffe including survivors of domestic and family violence and community members," Lisa said. "This event highlights the devastating impact of domestic violence and is a powerful opportunity for the community to gather in remembrance and stand against violence in our community."

This year, Encircle is encouraging community members to submit a photo of themselves or their family holding a candle, as a show of support for those impacted by domestic and family violence.

Bookings to this event are essential. To register for your free ticket visit: www.eventbrite.com.au

Encircle Candle Lighting Ceremony
Wednesday 4 May
5pm - 6.30pm

In the event of wet weather, the ceremony will be moved indoors at Encircle Redcliffe Neighbourhood Centre.

BRAD'S BUSINESS TIPS

Profit vs Cash: What's the difference?

STORY BRAD FLYNN

"Revenue is vanity, profit is sanity, cash is reality." This is a simple saying that helps business owners keep things in perspective. But what does each term really mean and how are they different?

Revenue is the term that we use for the total amount of income that comes into a business for services provided to the market. In fact, the origin of the word comes from 'to return'. In other words, what comes back, returns, for what we provide to the market.

But the catch is, when listed on a profit and loss statement, which is where most business owners look, revenue is based on what has been invoiced, which is not the same as cash in your bank account.

An invoice is fundamentally a promise to pay (think in-voice), it's not actual cash.

Along the same lines, profit on a profit and loss statement is where a lot of business owners look to see how they are doing in business, i.e. are they making money. However, we can't eat profit, or use profit to pay for something.

At the end of the day, turning profit into cash is about two critical things.

Firstly, how quick we get paid once we invoice. Secondly, how quick we pay our suppliers.

Fundamentally to improve cash flow we must speed up, getting paid and within reason, slow down how quickly we pay.

Travel the World with New Mini Golf Experience

STORY ALYSSA MACKAY

Redcliffe locals Dr Anthony Mahler and Olga Mahler are taking miniature golf to the next level as the first franchisees of an exciting new venue.

Golf simulation company X-Golf launched Hey Caddy, an 18-hole indoor putt putt experience, at North Lakes in March.

Dr Mahler, a self-confessed 'golf tragic', said he had noticed a significant lack of places to practice his favourite sport within his local region.

"The feedback from guests so far is very much aligned with this feeling, that our community was in serious need of a venue like this, and we're so happy to finally bring it to life," Dr Mahler said.

"This is the first ever Hey Caddy franchise in Australia and behind it are the experts at X-Golf, a global powerhouse in golf simulation technology."

Hey Caddy gives mini-golf enthusiasts the chance to practice their swing at destination-themed locations including Coachella, Bora Bora, Cappadocia, Melbourne's Hosier Lane, Mars, the Great Wall of China, Nevada's Area 51, and Mexico's Day of the Dead.

"The murals have been created by Brisbane artist Lee 'LINZ' Harden, which are definitely a showstopper," Dr Mahler said. "No detail has been left to chance, with cocktails themed to suit each hole and delicious menu items suitable for a whole range of tastes and preferences. My favourite feature about Hey Caddy is that there's somewhere to put your drink on every hole – design genius."

Dr Mahler was a skin cancer doctor and general practitioner at Clontarf Bridge Medical Centre until his retirement. He now dedicates his time to Hey Caddy, as well as supporting his wife, Olga with her project Help Us to Shelter Ukraine. The couple have recently spent time in Poland assisting blind refugees with food and accommodation and helping them relocate to nearby safe havens.

Anthony and Olga Mahler

Dr Mahler said spending time at unique venues like Hey Caddy was a great way for people to create lasting memories, build confidence, create emotional bonds and improve communication skills.

"And let's not forget about the laughter and togetherness that it forms – we've never seen a guest leave Hey Caddy without a big smile on their face!" he said.

Taking Steps to Save Suttons Beach Pavilion

A group of community members are campaigning to try and save Suttons Beach Pavilion.

The Suttons Beach Pavilion Preservation Group (SBPPG) formed after an announcement earlier this year that Moreton Bay Regional Council had safety concerns about the condition of the buildings.

SBPPG president Jodie Starr said a petition was the first step the group took to stop the Pavilion from being demolished, which received over 23,000 signatures.

"The petition showed the Council how important this piece of history is to the people," Jodie said. "Without this petition, we are sure the building would have been demolished by now. However, the Council have agreed to take this on board and are now working with the committee to look at ideas around restoring or rebuilding a replica design."

The SBPPG has recently had their application approved by the Queensland Office of Fair Trading to become an incorporated, not-for-profit group.

"This was really important for us to show the community and the Council that we are in this for the long haul," Jodie said.

To support the cause, the SBPPG will be holding a peaceful walk and family fun day on Saturday, 29 May. There will be a free sausage sizzle, activities and games including face painting and a colouring competition for the kids, raffles, live entertainment and guest speakers.

"We encourage everyone to come along, so we can band together as the great community we know we are and continue to show the Council how important the building and its history still is to all of us," Jodie said.

"We would love everyone to wear their Save the Pavilion shirts, or simply blue, red and white. We will also be selling our amazing shirts on the day.

"We want everyone to bring positive vibes of support for our cause. This is a family event, so we would love to have loads of smiling kids running around."

Jodie said they are trying to get Council to put money aside in the budget for the Pavilion.

"We have been regularly staying connected with the Council and our dealing with them has been very positive," she said.

UNLEASHING LIVE PERFORMANCE JUST ABOUT 'ANYWHERE'

STORY JULIA LEWIS

If you have always wanted to be a part of a flash mob, now is your chance! The streets of Redcliffe are set to come alive with the Anywhere Festival popping up in parks, community halls and urban spaces across Moreton Bay.

Running from 14 May to 5 June, this year's program, which includes free and ticketed performances, has been designed to activate places and spaces right around the region and encourages locals and visitors to explore areas they might not have been to before.

Acting Mayor Jodie Shipway said the month-long event would bring life, joy and colour to the region after some very challenging times.

"These last few weeks after the devastating floods have been really hard on our community and getting out to watch some amazing performances is something we could all use right now." Cr Shipway said.

She continues to say it is important that we come together in our communities to support our talented performing artists who've had a tough couple of years.

"Anywhere Festival is all about seeing live performances anywhere other than a traditional theatre venue, so people can revel in the buzz of live performances close to home and in a COVID-safe environment." Cr Shipway said.

This year's program is proudly showcasing talented local performers from Moreton Bay and beyond. Starting on May 14, the public can expect a two-day performance extravaganza with events popping up around Redcliffe, Scarborough and Woody Point before moving to the next location. Some of the main events include a flash mob in Bee Gees Way, ABBA k-roke with Moreton Bay Big Band and a Pooch Parade where people are encouraged to bring along their furry friends.

Organisers of the festival are encouraging people of all ages to join in the fun, with the program providing opportunities for the public to take to the stage and be part of the festival. You can register to be a part of the singing or dancing flash mobs, or the performative Pooch Parade and more!

Anywhere Festival also has performances stretching from Redcliffe to Caboolture, Bribie Island, Morayfield, and beyond.

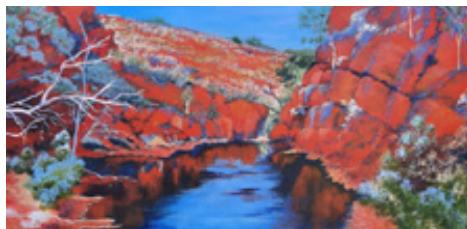

If you are interested in joining in on one of the performances, please visit: <https://www.moretonbay.qld.gov.au/Services/Arts-Culture-Heritage/Anywhere-Festival>. For more information and bookings for all shows, visit - <https://anywhere.is/moretonbay/>

HISTORY REDCLIFFE

A lifetime goal-scorer

STORY PATTIE TANCRED

Few sports can boast all-female parentage but that was the case for hockey on the Redcliffe Peninsula, and its prime progenitor was Mary Nairn (nee Brown). Mary was always athletic, having played tennis and golf and been involved with sailing, but when the National Fitness Council approached her in 1931 about launching hockey on the Peninsula, she found her sporting niche.

A meeting in September that year garnered an enthusiastic response and the Redcliffe Hockey Club was born. Little further could be done, though, until they found somewhere to play. Mary approached the Humpybong Agricultural, Horticultural and Industrial Association which, in March 1932, approved her request "for part of the showgrounds to be used as a playing field".

Then the hard work began. What had been "standing scrub" had to be cleared and a playing surface prepared. Mary and the other players, wielding hand mowers, provided much of the labour. Even so, according to The Telegraph, preparation of the field cost £23.

Soon the new Redcliffe team was challenging Brisbane teams, usually giving a good account of itself, although not always. The Humpybong Weekly felt compelled in June 1932 to comment on the team's "scrappy and disappointing display", claiming that "the forwards wandered aimlessly around" and "the halfbacks hit at everything but the ball".

The club was, from the start, prominent during Queensland hockey's annual Country Week Carnival, often hosting country teams at home. In 1938, Redcliffe hosted a team from the USA, sadly being defeated nine-nil. During the war, a combined Redcliffe and Brisbane women's team was challenged to a game by army personnel, then stationed at the Redcliffe Showgrounds. The ladies acquitted themselves well, losing by only one goal.

Mary Nairn was prominent as a player but it was in coaching that she excelled, giving both women and men the benefit of her expertise. During the war, she coached a number of soldiers teams and, post-war, she took on coaching newly emerging boys teams. She earned praise not only for their sporting success but also, as one admirer put it in a letter to her, "for training them to be gentleman" – not an accolade earned by many sporting coaches.

Redcliffe hockey's home ground, for which Mary lobbied, over which she laboured, and on which she played, is named the Mary Nairn Hockey Fields, a fitting tribute to the mother of Redcliffe hockey.

BIG FUTURE FOR TINY HOMES

STORY JENN CARRINGTON

Building your dream home for a tenth of the price of a standard home, whilst creating sustainable living and a much smaller environmental footprint, may sound like an impossible dream. Yet thousands of Australians are now 'going tiny,' building homes to their desires and lifestyle needs, and it's becoming very big business.

Australian Tiny Homes Expo organiser, Phae Barrett said that COVID-19, lockdowns and the subsequent housing crisis had seen the interest in buying and selling of tiny homes grow by more than ten-fold. Miss Barrett went from having just 37 possible builders in 2018, to more than 350 across Australia in 2022.

"People have re-evaluated, and spent more time working at home. They stopped to look at their lifestyles and dreams. Living remotely, off grid, growing your own food, and living independently, are strong calling cards to the tiny home movement.

"When people first see them, they are cute and pretty. However, it soon becomes apparent they are a practical and realistic way to design a life around what you really need, which essentially is quite basic," she said.

The reasons for going tiny and off grid are endless. It could be to downsize and live with less clutter, to house a relative, rent out, or extend your home and workspace. However there are lots of factors to be considered when choosing to 'go tiny.'

"Getting used to less space is a journey. You simply can not cull your belongings and get used to it in an instant, so ongoing lifestyle choices are required. Finding land was certainly a sticky point, however this is being solved with new platforms to help people live tiny.

"The biggest con would be the stress of red tape. With the majority of councils leaving tiny homes as undefined dwellings that fall under 'caravan', it can be very off-putting. Dealing with councils and wading through zoning and building laws can be overwhelming," she said.

The Tiny Home Expo will showcase the quintessential tiny homes on wheels which range from 5m to 9.5m long. There will also be modulares, shipping container homes, glamping domes, cabins and expandable homes on display.

Miss Barrett said the Expo would be beneficial for people wanting to research a tiny home life. "For some people it has been utterly life-changing. Others may prefer to just get a few ideas on designs to build their own, and there are people that are interested in the advocacy and movement with tiny villages, addressing homeless solutions and social issues.

"Discovering the world of tiny homes opens a long list of possibilities that can enrich your life journey altogether."

HAYS INLET ECO PATH

One family's afternoon adventure

STORY VERONICA SAVVAS

Hiding in plain sight, tucked behind the Ray Frawley Fields in Clontarf, is a wonderful short eco path that winds its way through our beautiful native plants and wildlife - Hays Inlet Eco path.

After picking up the kids from school one day, we decided to explore this path. Our adventure began when we spotted a path and a sign welcoming us. The sign helpfully pointed out some of the wildlife we might spot along the way.

We also took with us a plastic bag to collect any rubbish we might find along the path. What we didn't take, and highly recommend, was mozzie repellent!

On our walk, we spotted the silver grey leaves of what we think was an Acacia, some Melaleuca's (which we all agreed look like toilet brushes) and many eucalyptus trees. Try as we might, we couldn't find any koalas up in those trees. Apparently there are a lot around though, so it's worth keeping your eyes open!

We saw a large variety of birds, including a majestic egret. The kids spotted quite a few magnificent orb spiders in their webs, and we saw many meat ants. Make sure you wear enclosed shoes!

Thanks to the recent rain, part of the path was under water but we managed to sneak around some puddles to continue our exploring, before hitting a dead end. But what we did get to investigate was more than enough for our fun afternoon adventure.

Hays Inlet Eco Path is located off Silcock Street in Clontarf. Currently, it is a 200m long concrete path that is wheelchair accessible. Once the project is complete, the plan is for the path to continue 650m, and end with a boardwalk that overlooks Hays Inlet. We can't wait!

TONY MURPHY

Celebrating the people in our community

STORY RICHARD LANCASTER

From the New South Wales tablelands town of Gunnedah, a 20 year old rugby league player Tony Murphy travelled north in 1982 to join the Redcliffe Dolphins. His skill as a backline player was soon recognised and he rose from the reserves to play in the Redcliffe Dolphins A Grade side. He made his home in Redcliffe and during the off season he worked in the service division of the Dolphin's sponsor Village Motors.

After hanging up his boots, he took on the roles of the Dolphin's football manager and then operations manager of the Redcliffe Dolphins Leagues Club. He gained an Advanced Diploma in Club Management.

Identified as an effective communicator and a man who could get things done, he was appointed as general manager of Football and Leagues Clubs. Under his stewardship and with the support of the club's board, the Redcliffe Dolphins have prospered by expanding its asset base from $18 million to over $100 million.

These assets include the Dolphins NRL, the Redcliffe Leagues Club Inc, Redcliffe Rugby League Football Club Inc, Dolphin Health and Fitness Centre, Dolphin Bingo Centre, Central Shopping Centre and the Dolphin Stadium.

But alongside Chairman Bob Jones, Terry Reader and a hard working Board and sponsors, his greatest triumph as Group CEO, was still to come. After a series of past unsuccessful bids to have the Redcliffe Dolphins enter rugby league's premier competition, the NRL, the Dolphins have finally become the 17th team in the NRL for Season 2023.

Major Funding Boost Helps Local PCYC Support the Community

PCYC Qld has supported the Redcliffe Peninsula community and surrounding areas since 1966. Working with the Queensland Police Service, Moreton Bay Regional Council and local community partners, PCYC Redcliffe aims to provide a fun, safe and healthy sport and recreation environment along with a range of youth programs. And now, the valuable work they do has been given a major funding boost.

In partnership with the Federal Government and Moreton Bay Regional Council, PCYC Redcliffe is about to undergo a multi-million dollar renovation. Phase one of the redevelopment, a $1.25 million refurbishment, has already improved accessibility and increased PCYC's capacity to support the local community.

PCYC Redcliffe Youth Club manager, Angela Barnes, said staff and volunteers have been working alongside the Queensland Police Service for 73 years to meet local youth and community needs.

"PCYC Redcliffe currently serves over 2,200 weekly visitors and 72 schools through various sporting, recreational, educational and social purpose activities.

"We also provide youth development and crime prevention support to the local community through our Braking the Cycle, Bike Education and Project Booyah programs. Encouraging healthy lifestyles through employment, volunteer opportunities, skill development, leadership programs and sport and recreational opportunities, PCYC Queensland is helping to change the stories of young Queenslanders who are vulnerable and at risk.

"Together, we are building safer, healthier communities through youth development, and the more youth development programs we can deploy, the bigger effect we can have on crime prevention, enhancing communities and establishing the leaders of tomorrow.

"These programs give young people purpose, focus, motivation, skills and opportunities. However, PCYC Queensland recognises our work in supporting communities and addressing the issues many young people face is far from done. More support is needed," she said.

As a not-for-profit organisation, almost 90% of PCYC's work is funded through donations and fee-for-services. Any surplus revenue goes back into programs, facilities and the community.

To learn more about how to support PCYC Redcliffe, speak to the team or email redcliffe@pcyc.org.au

Redcliffe: What's in a name?

STORY RICHARD LANCASTER

With China definitely acknowledged as a major world power, the Peninsula Pimpernel delved into Chinese history to see whether the name Redcliffe had had any connection with China. Amazingly it had!

In 208 AD just before the time of the three Chinese kingdoms, there occurred a battle of epic significance in Chinese history. It was named the Battle of Red Cliffs and it was the largest naval battle in Chinese history, in terms of numbers involved.

The main action involved a Chinese dictator and warlord named Cao Cao, whose navy and an 800,000 strong army were stationed on one bank of the Yangtze River. He was considered a ruthless hero who attempted to unite China under his control, but he was thwarted by Liu Bei and Sun Quan, who defeated his navy and army at Red Cliffs, now known as Chibi.

Liu Bei was also a warlord, who had the unfortunate reputation of betraying his enemies and allies alike. His partner on this occasion was Sun Quan, who was also known as Emperor Da of Wu. Their victory ensured their survival and gave them control of the great Yangtze River. This provided an excellent line of defence and later, the creation of two southern Chinese states, Shu Han and Eastern Wu.

Purists may say Pimpernel is drawing a long bow in attaching Redcliffe to the Chinese battle of Red Cliffs. Well not really, as the first European explorer to step onto our shoreline in 1799 was Matthew Flinders and he named it 'Red Cliff Point'!

U3A Fundraising for Children's Cancer

STORY ALYSSA MACKAY

U3A Redcliffe are seeking donations from businesses and individuals for a cent auction to raise money for the Children's Cancer Institute.

The cent auction will take place on Saturday, 14 May as part of Sunshine for Cancer, a morning tea, fashion show and lunch organised by U3A.

Event organiser Margie Woodhead said while the tickets for the event have been sold out, U3A Redcliffe welcomed donations of vouchers or gifts for the auction and cash donations.

"We have been approaching businesses in the Redcliffe area and they have been so generous," Margie said.

Those wishing to contribute can visit the U3A campus at the Moreton Bay Regional Council Building on Irene Street in Redcliffe. A collection box will be available at the counter for those wishing to make a cash donation.

The idea for the event came about when Margie read an article about the Children's Cancer Institute needing money for research.

Margie said she hoped to raise at least $1000 for the charity.

"The more the better for such a wonderful and very important cause -- to be able to help the children and the parents who go through so much when their children are so very sick," she said.

Those wishing to make a donation via bank transfer can contact Margie on 0419 706 865.

RECIPES ON PAPER

Warm Asparagus Cob Loaf

RECIPE JULIA LEWIS

www.recipesonpaper.com.au

Now, I know what you're thinking. A cob loaf is far too simple to be featured as a recipe, but let me assure you, sometimes simple is best. This cob loaf is utterly morish. The bread is crispy yet soft, the warm, creamy filling makes for the ultimate party favour, and for the asparagus sceptics out there, I promise you will love this. I'm a true believer that you can never have too many Cob Loaf recipes so please feel free to add this one to your repertoire. You will thank me later.

The true hero of this recipe is the bread, and I couldn't possibly make this without using the bread from Clontarf Hot Bread (Maine Road). If you're a local, I know you will agree with me when I say that this bakery is one of the best in North Brisbane. This is evident when you need to join a queue just to get in the front door, testament to David and Mai's hard work. If you are yet to visit this bakery, you won't be disappointed.

Warm Asparagus Cob Loaf

INGREDIENTS

- 1 cob loaf
- 250g cream cheese (softened)
- 300g sour cream
- 1 packet of spring vegetable soup mix
- 1 stalk green onions chopped
- 1 jar of asparagus

Using a bread knife, cut the top off the cob loaf (this will be your 'lid'). Pull out the insides of the bread, tearing into small pieces. These will be what you scoop the dip with. Mix the cream cheese and sour cream, then add your drained asparagus, spring soup mix and your chopped green onions. Stir until combined. The asparagus will break up in this process but don't worry, it's supposed to. Add the cream mixture to your hollowed out cob loaf, return the 'lid' and place on a baking tray. Add the chunks of bread around the loaf and bake in a 180-degree oven for 35 minutes or until the bread is crispy and the dip has warmed through. Serve while hot. Voila!

Note: this recipe is versatile. You can add fresh corn, bacon bits, onion or even some avocado through the cream for some extra nutrients.

A WORD FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVES

CR KARL WINCHESTER

Construction works are currently underway in the Bells Creek drainage reserve downstream of King Street in K.R. Benson Park, Clontarf.

Expected to take ten weeks to complete, the scope of works involves the extension of the existing sediment pond within the Bells Creek catchment for stormwater quality treatment. These important works are part of Council's Stormwater Quality Upgrade Program and once completed, the project will improve water quality and reduce ongoing maintenance along Bells Creek, which is one of the major waterway catchments in our Redcliffe Peninsula District.

Like most suburban catchments, Bells Creek captures stormwater from surrounding residential and commercial areas picking up rubbish and pollutants which make their way downstream.

We all have an important role to play in protecting our local waterways and I encourage you to contact my office to report any waterways illegal dumping.

As your divisional Councillor, I thank you for your patience while we work to make the Moreton Bay Region an even better place to live, work and play.

LUKE HOWARTH MP

I want to thank the people of Petrie for letting me be their voice in Canberra. All elections are important but this one is vital for our post-pandemic recovery. To build a stronger future our government has laid out a clear plan.

Employment is at record highs, business is improving and we have more people retraining and reskilling in trades than ever before.

Australia, led by the steady hand of the Morrison Government is outperforming the world.

YVETTE D'ATH MP

The beginning of 2022 has been tough but our Redcliffe community is tougher.

The recent flooding event affected a lot of properties on the Peninsula and it was incredible to see the community roll their sleeves up and do what needed to be done. Whether it was filling sandbags, transporting sandbags, cleaning out flooded properties, dump runs and donating food and offering a spare bedroom - the Redcliffe community did everything they could to support those who needed it.

While we are yet to fully recover, I know that our community will continue to support each other and work together while the Palaszczuk government rolls out the $771 million flood recovery package.

Special mention to Chameleon Youth House, the team at Harcourts Unite, the Redcliffe Dolphins, Breathe Easy Café, the Redcliffe and Deception Bay SES crew's and the Jull Street Council Depot staff who truly went above and beyond for our community.

I am also delighted to confirm that not only are all of our local state schools fully air conditioned but now also have solar panels installed and operational to offset the costs and provide a comfortable learning environment for our students.

Our country continues to face challenges and many families are doing it tough. There is still a lot of uncertainty ahead. Now is not the time to change course. We will continue our investment in roads, infrastructure and technology to create jobs and grow the economy for the essential services.

I'll keep pushing the state government to use the $billion roads funding I secured for Bruce Highway upgrades from Bracken Ridge to the Pine River including the Griffin on and off ramps, Linkfield and Beams Roads so you get home faster and safer. We have achieved a lot together and there is more to do. Thank you for your support.

HEAL YOURSELF EXPO: HEALING DONE DIFFERENTLY

Have you ever wondered if there were ways to naturally heal yourself? Have you ever wanted to learn more about the natural ways of healing and medicine?

Well, wonder no more because the annual Heal Yourself Expo is back on the Peninsula on May 14 and 15 to educate, inform, and empower you to take control of your own healing.

Organiser Wayne Pina-Roozemond said this year's event will hold a myriad of unique stallholders. "Possibly the three [stallholders] I can think of [that are different from last year's event include] Sixth Sense Acupuncture, who does a pulse diagnosis and is local to the area. [The other two are] Immortal Blend Superfoods and Daniela Godfrey: Spiritual Teacher," Wayne said.

Immortal Blend Superfoods aims to provide plant-based, medicinal products to help feed the friendly gut bacteria. Whereas, Daniela Godfrey is an energy and spiritual healer who offers transformation through guidance and healing.

Locals can expect to learn a lot about how the human body works and what is best for natural healing.

"[Locals can also expect] a wide range of natural healing modalities from crystals and new age, to scientific-based, nutrition, and healthy living—all aimed at helping you to help heal yourself."

There will also be a wide variety of workshops that you can attend both for free and for a small fee. You can pre-book for these workshops by searching for Heal Yourself Expo in the Facebook events tab.

Not only does the Heal Yourself Expo help thousands of people each year, but Wayne said it's also about connecting with the community and creating something special for everyone involved—whether you are a stallholder or consumer.

"The Heal Yourself Expo is much more than just another new age event, we are a community of healers, teachers, way-showers, and change makers with a passion to support their communities, and educate people [to help them understand] that we [truly] have the power to heal ourselves and heal the planet."

Expo entry is $5, come Saturday and get Sunday free. Find out more via www.healyourselfexpo.com

Jewfish Argyrosomus japonicus

STORY PETER HANSLER

Jewfish, or Mulloway as they are also known, are a local fish that tastes better the bigger they are, with smaller ones tasting 'soapie' which they are sometimes called. However with a 75cm minimum size limit in Queensland this isn't an issue.

While I have never really targeted them specifically, they have often turned up while chasing other species and are a very welcome catch as they are 4/5 stars eating quality for me. Taking large live baits and lures, some fisherman spend many hours hunting these fish from surf beaches, around wharves, local reefs and around river mouths especially after rain events. Growing to at least two meters long and over 40kg they can certainly test your fishing tackle to the limit.

Sometimes in the surf they are caught on beach worms and some people believe that these fish can pull beachworms from the sand like a fisherman does, but only just using their mouth. I find that hard enough using my hands!

Recently some nice legal Jewfish have been caught from Woody Point Jetty. A couple years ago I managed to film a school of 'Jewies' under Shorncliffe Jetty. See my Youtube page for the video.

The Aboriginal word Mulloway means "The Greatest One"

ROOF RESTORATIONS

Transform your tired old roof with a value boosting makeover

Full Roof Restorations From only $2,000

- Repair and Change Out Broken Tiles
- High Pressure Clean
- Re-bed Ridge Capping (if required)
- Re-point Ridge Capping
- Sterilise Surface (if required)
- Apply Primer/Sealer
- Apply New Roof Membrane (2 coats)
- Apply Nano Clear Protect Coating (barrier coat to prevent fading)

All roofs age over time. After around 15 years, tile roofs deteriorate to the point where a restoration should be considered. At this age, colour starts to fade, ridge capping becomes brittle, lichen and mould can grow, and tiles become harder to clean. The appearance of your home suffers and your roof is more likely to develop leaks.

Richard Gabriel from Mr Highlights Roofing has over 20 years experience in the roofing trade. He uses only premium quality products for his restorations, and offers a full 12 years warranty on all workmanship and materials.

Richard is an owner/operator and doesn't employ salespeople, so costs are kept to a minimum which means savings for you!

Hearing well tips – for you, your friends and family

If someone is finding it hard to hear, follow these simple tips to help better communication:

1. Position yourself to speak face to face.
2. Reduce background noise.
3. Speak slower, modulate the voice slightly louder but don't shout.
4. Attract the person's attention before you start talking to them.
5. Use natural hand gestures to assist communication.
6. Use simple words, making the subject of the conversation as clear as possible.
7. Rephrase the statement if necessary.
8. Avoid other noise distractions (eg TV).
9. Give the person time to process what you have said.
10. If speaking on the phone, speak directly into the mouthpiece, but don't hold it too close. Try to speak in a indoor/quiet, environment with good signal reception (mobile).
11. Be patient and show understanding.
12. If the person has hearing aids, ensure they are working and are being worn properly.

Sandgate Hearing provides an independent and professional hearing service. We care about every detail. We work very hard to get you the best hearing outcomes. Check out what our customers say about us from Google reviews or from our website.

HERE IS WHAT SOME OF OUR HAPPY CUSTOMERS HAVE TO SAY...

I'm over the moon....

I've been wearing hearing aids for over 5 years and this hearing aid from Ronnie at Sandgate Hearing is the best one so far. I have hearing in just one ear at only 8% and Ronnie did an amazing job programming my only aid in order for me to hear quite well. I was given a remote control for my aid, also a TV streamer from Ronnie which I'm over the moon with. I've never before heard such clarity listening to my TV shows and it is the best thing I've ever had for my hearing device.

Graham Fing, Deagon

I'm So Glad I Came Here....

My daughter, Mel, did all the research and found Sandgate Hearing, I'm so glad I came here. I found Ronnie very caring and now I have new hearing aids. I feel that I've come to the right place. These hearing aids are the best ones I've had so far. I'd recommend anyone with a hearing issue to come see Ronnie.
