STORY NADIA CHAPMAN

If you want to experience a spectacular show that will take you back to the 70s, take the second Saturday off to do so.

BABBA, an international ABBA tribute band, is coming to the Redcliffe Entertainment Centre on 13 August to encourage locals to bring their dancing shoes and join the party.

Michael Ingvarson, who performs as Benny Andersson, said the event showcases a delightful musical and visual experience.

"[We will perform] all the hits with plenty of songs from the Mamma Mia movies. [There will also be] four beautifully crafted Abba costume recreations and some beautiful singing from the girls," Michael said.

BABBA has 28 years of experience performing as ABBA. "Wow, that's twice as long as we did it for!" exclaims Benny Andersson himself when the tribute band played for him in Hong Kong.

"[Our favourite part about performing] is feeling the energy that comes back from the audience. It's so satisfying to see the effect this music and our show have on people."

Bookings are essential, and tickets start at $79.90. Find out more information via www.redcliffeentertainmentcentre.com.au

If you're looking for a quieter and more educational mid-week activity, you can learn about Moreton Bay.

The Redcliffe Library is hosting Discover Moreton Bay on Wednesday 17 August, an event where you can take a trip down memory lane.

Participants can explore the Redcliffe library's online historical collection of photographs, manuscripts, and oral histories.

This event is free, but bookings are required. You can find out more info via www.moretonbay.qld.gov.au/libraries

Take a trip to New Zealand through the taste and comparison of two world-class wineries.

Sunny's Margate Beach is hosting an afternoon of wine tasting with Catalina Sounds and Craggy Range Wines on Friday 5 August.

Locals can expect to speak with the team behind both wineries as they go head-to-head (or grape-to-grape) to find out which wine tastes better.

Each expert will showcase their very best wines, and you will have the pleasure to taste each one, alongside a couple of other goodies.

Participants will also enjoy pairing gourmet cheeses from supplier Church Mouse Cheese.

Tickets are essential and start at $84.43 pp.

Sky's the Limit for Women Learning to Fly

Female pilots are the focus of a new documentary series being filmed in Redcliffe.

She Flies is an eight-part series which champions women with their eyes on the skies, and is currently filming at Redcliffe Aerodrome with the support of flying school Advanced Aviation Training (AAT).

Filmmaker and AAT flight instructor, Stephen Limkin, said the idea for the series came about when the chair of Recreational Aviation Australia, Michael Monck, asked him if he would be interested in a project promoting women in aviation.

"What started out as a small project has grown into a multipart series that is exploring the unique stories of women reaching for the sky," Stephen said.

"She Flies is about the soft barriers that face women in an extremely male-dominated role. There is nothing that major that stops women from flying, and yet statistics show that there is something, because the number of women flying is so low."

AAT's managing director and flight instructor Paul Reddish said Stephen and Michael approached him about supporting the project.

"I thought it was a fantastic way to get more women to take up the challenge and as such agreed to be a part of the series," Paul said.

She Flies is directed by Stephen and produced by Bridget May of Nora & RD Productions. It features women from different backgrounds as they pursue their dream to become pilots.

Television presenter Catriona Rowntree became involved after posting on social media that she wanted to learn to fly.

"A friend of hers connected her with Michael Monck and Recreational Aviation Australia and she became part of the series," Stephen said. "Catriona is a dedicated student pilot and...well, I guess you'll have to wait and see if she makes it to the end."

Stephen said he hoped people would support the production by making a donation through the Documentary Australia website.

"The money raised from the She Flies Documentary Australia website will go directly to the post-production, which is the most expensive and important part of the project," he said. "We want to make sure that it looks and sounds good."

She Flies is expected to be free to watch on YouTube next year. To donate go to documentaryaustralia.com.au/project/she-flies/

The Moreton Bay Food and Wine Festival is back!

Pop the champagne and start peeling those prawns because Moreton Bay Food + Wine Festival is back, and they are on a crusade to make this year bigger and better.

Set along the picturesque waterfront at Woody Point, the three day festival will showcase some of the region's best produce. Visitors will have the opportunity to soak up the sea air as they explore cooking demonstrations, food stalls, pop-up bars, listen to live music and sample some of the freshest seafood around.

The event is organised and delivered by Moreton Bay Region Industry & Tourism, in partnership with Strategic Partner Moreton Bay Regional Council and supported by Tourism & Events Queensland.

Moreton Bay Region Industry & Tourism CEO, Shane Newcombe, said the festival has something for everyone.

"Enjoy the winter sunshine as you make your way through the festival precinct and discover all the magic the festival has to offer," Shane said.

"Meet a passionate local producer, enjoy some Moreton Bay seafood or catch a cooking demonstration by one of Australia's biggest household names or, do it all!"

As if the event wasn't mighty enough, visitors to the festival can enjoy spectacular fireworks over the pristine waters of Bramble Bay.

Local Little League Team Qualifies for World Series

STORY ALYSSA MACKAY

The Brisbane North Little League Division 1 baseball team is bound for the USA after claiming a place in the 2022 Little League Baseball World Series.

The team took home the gold medal at the 2022 Australian Little League Championships in June and will set off for the States this month.

Brisbane North Region (BNR) Little League manager and head coach Keith Land said he felt excited when the team won gold at the national championships.

"They have all put in hard work and were professional on and off the field, which is not easy for 11 and 12 year olds, but they were rewarded," Keith said.

The team triumphed over Sydney Little League team Hills 9-3 with player Khyden Wilson making the final catch, securing their berth in the World Series.

"We won the state title in April this year, which meant we went onto the national titles in June, played in Sydney, which we won -- defeating teams from all over Australia," Keith said. "With this win, we booked a place in the Little League World Series to be played in the USA in mid-August."

"It now means we play in the series against the 10 best international and 10 best American teams in the world. Every year since 2015, the winner of the national titles goes to the World Series but BNR has never accomplished this, so it is an historical event."

The World Series takes place from Wednesday, 17 August to Sunday, 28 August at Williamsport in Pennsylvania. The team's first game will be against Canada on 17 August.

"Our games will be broadcast internationally on ESPN and the boys will play in front of crowds ranging from five to 10,000 people at the stadium," Keith said. "It is the 75th anniversary of the series and as such is a really big deal."

The BNR Little League team is drawn from players in the Redcliffe Padres, Pine Rivers Rapids and Narangba Demons.

Keith has been coaching BNR Representative teams for over 30 years in all age groups. He manages the team alongside assistant coaches Chris Clem from Narangba, Shane Wilson from Pine Rivers and executive officer Lyndon Clem.

PINK FLOYD TRIBUTE ROCKS REDCLIFFE

STORY ALYSSA MACKAY

Australia's premier Pink Floyd concept show is coming to Redcliffe for the first time.

Echoes of Pink Floyd are bringing the sights and sounds of a Pink Floyd concert to the Redcliffe Entertainment Centre this month with their A Journey Through Time tour.

Lead vocalist Matt Goodluck said the concert would give fans the opportunity to hear a broad selection from the band's vast back catalogue.

"We go all the way back to the band's beginnings in 1967 and touch on pivotal points in their career up to their final proper studio album in 1994," Matt said. "In the past we've never really delved into the band's earlier work so it's been fun for us to explore that a bit and it's gone down really well with audiences.

"This show has impressive lighting and we use custom video projections that relate to the music to give audiences a full audio visual experience."

The set list will include Pink Floyd's biggest hits like Money, Wish You Were Here and Another Brick in the Wall, as well as fan favourites from the Animals album from 1977.

"This time out we're playing two songs from that album that we've never done before along with a couple of tracks from the 80's and 90's that we've not previously covered," Matt said. "But you'll have to come along to the show to find out what they are!"

The Adelaide-based band was formed in 2009 by lead guitarist Daniel Hunter, who taught himself to play David Gilmour's iconic guitar solos. He met drummer Jason Miller and they began playing the local pub scene before moving onto regional theatres. Now a six-piece band, they tour theatres all over the country.

"This is our first time to Redcliffe so it'll be very exciting to come up and play there," Matt said. "It looks like a beautiful part of the country and we always love playing to new audiences and getting to see different parts of Australia.

"It's been quite a journey and we all feel it's such a huge privilege to play this amazing music for fans across the country."

We are giving away a double pass to the show. To be in the running, simply follow the Redcliffe Guide Facebook page and comment on the Echoes of Pink Floyd post. Winners will be notified via direct message on 15 August.

GREAT NORTHERN GARDEN OF REMEMBRANCE

A PLACE TO REMEMBER YOUR LOVED ONES

For over 110 years, the Gow family have served the Brisbane community, offering a place of tranquility where people can step aside from the hustle and bustle of busy everyday life and remember their loved ones in peace.

Set on 3.5 hectares of beautifully manicured gardens, Great Northern Garden of Remembrance is a Crematorium and Memorial Garden, nestled amongst serene waterways, surrounded by national parks and bushland.

What sets Great Northern Garden of Remembrance apart is the carefully curated space that surrounds the crematorium and Chapel. Care has been taken to create lush, manicured lawns, and beautiful rose gardens which help set a reflective mood. Bubbling brooks and waterways are one of the exquisite features which offer a meditative environment and a place where families can truly focus on remembering their loved ones.

Manager of Great Northern Garden of Remembrance, Tony Sargent, said the grounds were created to help visitors feel at home.

"Our natural native fauna, resident mob of kangaroos and other wildlife give the serene surroundings a sense of authentic Aussie placement," Tony said.

"People feel comfortable visiting our property."

The facilities are available to families who wish to hire the space, with staff ensuring that care and thought go into every detail.

"Our Chapel and Refreshments lounge are hired out to Funeral Directors and families so people can farewell their loved ones who have passed on," Tony said.

"We provide full cremation services and our Crew see that thorough care and professionalism is given to the process of ashes."

Funeral arrangements can be made at the Arrangement offices, and families can enquire with one of the Memorial Consultants to find a permanent garden monument to place the ashes of their loved ones.

Great Northern Garden of Remembrance is holding a Father's Day Memorial service on Friday 2 September, at 6pm. It will involve 90 minutes of reflection for families to remember their loved ones, especially Dad's. Later this year, they will hold their annual Christmas Memorial Service, and all are invited to attend.

Mornings Well Spent with Peninsula Herb Group

Mornings spent in the herbaceous environs of Moreton Bay's own Botanic Gardens are the ideal way for Peninsula Herb Group contributors to keep active, stay social and give back to the community.

With warm winter sun filtering through to scented lavender, exquisite roses, and a range of unique and uncommon plant specimens, volunteers work from 8am till 10am during the season and enjoy gardening and a well-deserved spot of tea.

Gardener Barbara Hornsby, who has tended the herb garden for over 20 years, said that the offer of any extra hands would be well received in order to carry on the ongoing project.

"We work every Monday and we do have the occasional break on some public holidays – though not too many as we really don't like to miss our Monday mornings. It's always a great start to our week," Barbara said.

Barbara said she found it enjoyable to collect seeds, make cuttings, and to assist visitors who were often interested in finding a specific herb species.

"We love to share our knowledge and welcome anyone who is interested to come along on Monday mornings."

If you're interested in volunteering you can also reach out to the group by phoning 0412 809 485.

Sands of Time

STORY PATRICIA HIGGINS

History buffs can rejoice with the Queensland Local and Family History Conference set to arrive in the Moreton Bay region later this year.

The Sands of Time event, which is scheduled for three days in October, will include the official conference, a series of free and paid presentations on the Friday (as a pre-conference experience for locals), and also a free family fun fair.

Sands of Time conference secretary Ms Rae Frawley said that the conference would feature many interesting presentations about local history.

"Redcliffe has a rich history involving our first peoples, to the first Queensland European settlement and penal colony, to our current wonderful multicultural community," Ms Frawley said.

She said that conference delegates would be able to learn methods and tips from experienced researchers, as well as how to use a variety of tools to conduct their own research.

The conference registration would also include attendance at a welcome function at the Redcliffe RSL, a conference bag containing goodies and conference content loaded onto a USB, morning tea, lunch, and afternoon tea on Saturday, and morning tea on Sunday.

With early bird conference registration encouraged, you can visit www.sandsoftime.org.au to learn more about the program, register, and make presentation bookings (required).

70 YEARS OF DANCING IN REDCLIFFE

A Redcliffe dance school has given thousands of students the gift of dance for an impressive seven decades.

This month the Sharon Alback Dance Centre (SADC) is inviting the community to celebrate this milestone at Disco Inferno, a special anniversary concert.

SADC manager Sharon Alback said the school was opened in 1952 by Sylvia Currie, a dance teacher from Melbourne, alongside Gladys Armstrong, Sharon's mother, as pianist.

"The school was known as the Sylvena School of Dancing," Sharon said. "I was an original student and worked as an assistant teacher.

"When Sylvia returned to Melbourne in 1958, I took over the management of the school."

The school moved from Woody Point Memorial Hall into its present studio at the Redcliffe Entertainment Centre in 1982, where it became the Sharon Alback Dance Centre.

"Dance classes were very different to today," Sharon said. "Children attended class once or twice a week and lessons ranged across all genres. Today each genre has its own specific class and specific teacher.

"In the early days ballet attire was very hard to source and most mothers made their child's costumes for the annual recital. Today very few mums sew and most costumes are purchased from specialised outlets worldwide."

Over the years, the school has seen many highlights, including overseas trips with Redcliffe's Sister City Program.

"These trips broadened the students' concept of dance and many of these pupils are still working in the entertainment industry," Sharon said.

"There are so many pupils who have come through the studio to gain their diplomas and have become dance teachers with studios of their own.

"My personal highlights are becoming an examiner with Comdance and also an executive and life member of the society.

"The secret of success is possibly that I loved my work and would always put the studio first. Money came second to satisfaction and always has."

SADC director Diahann Maude, who is Sharon's daughter, said Disco Inferno would feature past and present pupils.

"We have special guests including Nicole Wheeler, who is currently touring with Menopause the Musical, and Jahn Jaksa, who is the lead singer of one of Sydney's top retro bands, Groovin Hard," Diahann said.

Tickets start at $40 and include nibbles before the show. Get tickets at redcliffeentertainmentcentre.com.au/Events/SADC-70s-Disco-Inferno

Journey through the pages of a book with Shorncliffe Reads Together

Whether you read for relaxation, or flick through the pages of a book to go on a wild adventure, Shorncliffe Reads Together is back to take students, families, and teachers on a group voyage.

During the month of August, students at Shorncliffe State School are joining together for a whole school reading initiative. Held across three weeks, the event will see students read the same book, at the same time with their families, then return to school to discuss what happened in the book and to participate in interactive activities including daily trivia, static displays, and guest readers.

Louise Youngman, a teacher at Shorncliffe State School, said the idea was inspired by similar programs overseas and was born from a desire to connect the school community through the love of shared reading.

"The goal is to connect our school community through shared reading and discussion about one book," Louise said.

"All participating families will receive a copy of the book and an information pack containing the reading schedule and suggested activities."

Understanding that weeknights can be a busy time in a family household, Louise has created a reading schedule to help families keep on track. She has timed how long it takes to read each chapter and then has broken each night's reading into 10-15 minutes.

Reading is a vital skill for any child and with endless benefits, it's easy to see why this event is so popular amongst the 200 families who are taking part. Reading enriches vocabulary, stimulates the brain, and can help with writing skills. It also inspires curiosity, takes a form of entertainment and relaxation, and can reduce stress. Not to mention it fosters connection within the family home.

Louise said there are many benefits to reading as a family.

"Studies show that even after children can read for themselves, reading out loud can show them what proficient reading sounds like, with pacing, intonation and expression," Louise said.

"Listening to you read more challenging books exposes your child to more complex stories and advanced vocabulary."

While the title of this year's book is a closely guarded secret, we can tell you that it is written by a very well-known Australian author, with illustrations by an accomplished Australian artist.

RASart 2022 First Prize Overall winner, Elizabeth Duguid: Dusk @ Bribie Passage

REDCLIFFE ART SOCIETY EXHIBITION OF EXCELLENCE WINNER ANNOUNCED

The annual Redcliffe Art Society Exhibition of Excellence is a calendar favourite competition which brings together the best works by society members from the past year. It is a highly regarded competition, as not only are the displayed works chosen from so many entries, but the overall first prize winner is invited to participate in the prestigious 15 Artists Exhibition.

Vice President of Redcliffe Art Society, Deb Darke, said it is a source of inspiration and encouragement to have your work selected from such a large pool of entries for inclusion in the RAS Exhibition of Excellence.

"It is an honour having your work seen in a regional gallery as part of an exhibition which has such a long history from the first in 1957, and has played such an important role in fostering local art.

"Local art is an important part of local culture and identity, and the RAS Exhibition of Excellence is a wonderful opportunity for local artists," Deb said.

There are three major prizes: First Prize Overall, Second Prize Overall and Third Prize Overall as well as some special awards, including Mayor's Choice Award and People's Choice Award. Prizes are also given for first and second place in each of six categories: landscape/streetscape, waterscape, figure/portrait, still life, flora/fauna and abstract/contemporary.

Congratulations to First Prize Overall winner Elizabeth Duguid for her painting Dusk @ Bribie Passage. Elizabeth will now have the great honour of exhibiting in the 15 Artists Exhibition - an annual invitation-only acquisitive exhibition run by MBRC at the Redcliffe Art Gallery.

Many well-known artists currently enter the exhibition or have won in the past including Margaret Olley who won the first prize twice and considered it an important competition.

Deb Darke emphasised that the exhibition makes art accessible to the community.

"This exhibition highlights the talent and diversity of local artists, and most artworks are available for purchase. The exhibition is very popular, and people of all ages enjoy choosing their favourite painting for the People's Choice Award," Deb said.

Love, Dugongs and a Book Launch

Local luminary and Redcliffe Guide contributor Richard Lancaster is set to launch two of his latest books titled 'Not Quite a Dozen' and 'Love, Dugongs and a Ship'.

With the former a collection of short stories, and the later an anthology of poetry, Mr Lancaster adds to a wealth of writing and journalistic projects already in circulation in the wider community.

These include famed interviews with former Queensland Premier Sir Joh Bjelke-Petersen, related in part to the Fitzgerald Inquiry and donated to the State Library of Queensland by Mr Lancaster in 1988.

Mr Lancaster said he was committed to giving back to the community in all of his works, whether they be in literature, film, or television, and incorporates local talent wherever possible.

"For example in my book 'Not Quite a Dozen', each story is illustrated by a local artist," Mr Lancaster said.

The themes implied by such titles as Love, Dugongs and a Ship continue to show Mr Lancaster's support for community causes – particularly the preservation of landmarks and wildlife.

"I've always had strong feelings for the environment, and I am passionate about protecting the dugongs, which are the greatest population of their species living near a capital city," Mr Lancaster said.

According to Mr Lancaster, he has also drawn inspiration from the history and beauty of the local area and this includes the story of the HMQS Gayundah, which he studied in great detail.

"I moved to Redcliffe in 1998 and I have loved it ever since. It's the most beautiful place and we're very lucky here," he said.

Thus, this affection for his 'own backyard' and Mr Lancaster's appreciation for fine literary art forms are successfully intertwined.

Prize winning author and award winning journalist Matthew Condon OAM recently said in part "The art of the short story is an endangered species, but in Richard's hands it returns to a type of glory."

Both of Mr Lancaster's new books have been printed by local publishers, with the upcoming book launch scheduled to take place at the iconic 'The Old Fire Station Art Gallery' in Redcliffe.

How You Can Help

STORY LES BARKLA

Have you thought about how you can help the planet and our local environment for future generations?

Here are two great programs in August 2022:

National Science Week from 13 - 21 August, through in-person and online events, virtual tours, DIY science and more. For example, discover how science can save the world - free panel discussion at the Redcliffe Library, 7pm to 8pm, Wednesday 17 August 2022: <https://www.scienceweek.net.au/event/moreton-minds-how-science-can-save-the-world/redcliffe/>

Other Events and Activities <https://www.scienceweek.net.au/your-state/qld/>

Keep Australia Beautiful (KAB) Week from 15 - 21 August kab.org.au/campaigns/

Do you remember the old 'Do The Right Thing' TV litter campaigns from the 1970's? Well, they are back. KAB is asking us to raise awareness about the simple things we can all do in our daily lives to reduce our impact on the environment and encourage action.

We have serious litter issues on Redcliffe Peninsula. This was highlighted during the Pristine Peninsula Community Group 2021 'Love our Clontarf' litter campaign. Our community collected 15,706 litter items in a two kilometer radius of Clontarf McDonalds in just 12 weeks. That's over 62,000 litter items per annum.

So please.....

- enjoy the outdoors responsibly;
- pick up 10 pieces of litter a day;
- take your rubbish with you;
- inspire others to change; and
- put those butts in the bin

What is the ultimate business?

STORY BRAD FLYNN

This is an interesting question that I often ponder. So here's my take on it: The Ultimate Business.

It is one that is completely referral driven. Why does this make it the ultimate business?

1. You don't have to market, save money and improve profit.
2. You don't have to advertise, also saves money thus improves profit.
3. Your product or service must be exceptional as your clients do all the selling for you.

In fact, a further distinction to the ultimate business apart from having referrals only would be that you have a waiting list of clients or prospects or people who want to deal with you.

So, my question today, is your business completely referral based?

If not, why not?

What is it that you're missing in what you do so that the people who you are serving, can't help but want to tell all their friends and family about how good your business is.

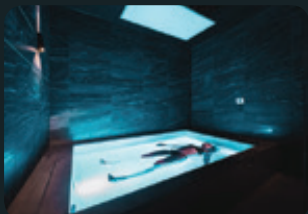

Interesting thing that goes with this, is that a business that is doing this properly is probably making a pretty good margin, as well. So, the finances are taking care of itself particularly if you have a waiting list of clients of the ultimate business.

WHAT MORE CAN GOD DO?

When you realise that someone DIED FOR YOU, you want to know who that person was, and why. The whole Bible tells us that the person who died was Jesus Christ, God Himself! Who became flesh via the virgin's womb. The reason? ..to die on the cross for your sins, because

HE LOVES YOU. If Jesus loved you so much as to pay such a price, it demands a response, and that is to love Him in return. We love Him because He first loved us. [1 John 4:19]. We were all born in sin [in death row] [John 9:34] and God is offering you a pardon. If you accept it, and receive Him, and thank Him, you will receive His life within, which is eternal, [John 3:16]

A WORD FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVES

YVETTE D'ATH MP

The 2022-23 Queensland State Budget is for all Queenslanders. As I'm out and about in our community, locals continue to tell me about the pressures and challenges they are facing and we are listening. This budget provides $6.8 billion worth of concessions to ease the cost of living and delivers Queensland's biggest social housing program since the Second World War.

It also builds capacity across our world-class health system with record funding of $23.6 billion in health, which will deliver new hospitals, hospital expansions, more nurses and doctors, rural and remote healthcare, and mental health services. We have also injected $2.9 billion for our police, $2.2 billion for our child protection services, $363 million to fund our ongoing response to domestic and family violence.

This budget also delivers some major wins for Redcliffe with a $1.06 billion expansion of Redcliffe Hospital, $3.2 million for Redcliffe schools including $200,000 for Woody Point Special School Renewal Planning and $24.5 million for road safety improvements throughout the electorate.

We are delivering on our promises, progressing Queensland's path to economic growth, returning our budget to balance and reducing our debt profile. Learn more here: <https://bit.ly/QLDBudgetRedcliffe2022-23>

LUKE HOWARTH MP

Construction of a controversial $19 million overpass at Elizabeth Avenue

Clontarf will commence as part of the Covid-19 economic recovery. Queensland Transport and Main Roads have said there were no other options for the road safety program.

Plans first came to my attention in March this year and I still have not seen the safety data being put forward to justify such a large expense. I stated in the first consultation

CR SANDRA RUCK

We recently celebrated NAIDOC week and Council proudly supported activities and events by providing grants, advertising in our What's On calendar and hosting events at libraries, galleries and museums. Among these were the annual NAIDOC Family Fun Day at Apex Park hosted by the Mindle Bygul Aboriginal Corporation, the First 1000 Days Moreton Bay, 'Wunya Welcome Baby to Country Ceremony' at Barujugan Park to welcome all children and babies born on Gubbi Gubbi land, a NAIDOC Museum trail at Redcliffe and so much more.

On another note, having attended many annual general meetings throughout June/July, I want to do a 'shout out' to the wonderful work that our Service Clubs and other not for profit Organisations do in our community. Your work does not go unnoticed and we want to thank you for your selfless efforts because volunteer work changes lives, brings hope, and makes our world a better place. A special thanks go to the ingoing and outgoing committee members also. Did you know Council has an online Community Directory where you can browse clubs and interest groups across the region?

meeting on April 26 with concerned residents, the State member and the Departments of Transport and Education that I failed to understand how no one had raised this intersection as an area of safety concern to me before. Hercules Road, Kippa Ring is more of a concern in my opinion, but I was told it does not qualify for this safety funding because it is not a split campus. The fully-enclosed pedestrian overpass will link Clontarf Beach State High School's eastern and western campuses, with lockable access to the school.

The community is not behind this project and a petition with over 500 signatures opposing the construction has been signed.

How Lovely.... Music to Soothe Your Soul

STORY SALLY EBERHARDT

What could be more relaxing than an afternoon of immersing oneself in the beauty of music? We all need a little self-care now and then so why not schedule in some 'me time' at the Redcliffe City Choir's performance aptly titled 'How Lovely'.

The power of music to calm and soothe has long been known and appreciated. Research shows that listening to music can reduce anxiety, blood pressure, and pain as well as improve sleep quality, mood, mental alertness, and memory. Not only that but it's extremely enjoyable! Drift away on the wings of soaring voices as the Choir delivers a carefully chosen repertoire of sacred and classical music.

President of the Redcliffe City Choir, Helen Thomas, said many people will recognise some of their favourite pieces of music.

"Redcliffe City Choir will present a programme of wonderful choral music including compositions by Beethoven, Brahms, Faure, Haydn, Dvořák and Pergolesi as well some popular African American Spirituals," said Helen.

The harmonies and melodies of the singers performing at How Lovely benefit from the talents of musical director David O'Keefe and accompanist George Valenti.

Redcliffe City Choir is a true testament to 'ordinary' people coming together to achieve the extraordinary. According to Helen, RCC is an unauditioned choir open to people of all ages over 16 years who are interested in choral music.

"The choir sings all genres of music ranging from classical and sacred, to music from the movies and modern pop. We are always on the lookout for new members and will offer a warm welcome to prospective choristers."

"Singing is beneficial to good health and happiness. It makes you feel good, reduces stress levels and improves breathing and posture, so for anyone wishing to enjoy these benefits and become part of a community, joining the choir could be the answer," said Helen.

You can contact Helen via the Redcliffe City Choir website for more information about joining.

Find peace of mind through beautiful music at this special event - admission is $25pp, children under 8 are free. Refreshments are served after the concert. Book now on www.trybooking.com/events/landing/930369

COLIN 'SMILEY' PETERSEN

Colin 'Smiley' Petersen is hard at work at present. But it's work he enjoys as it takes him back to the 1960's, when he became the drumming member and partner of the Bee Gees.

Now in his 76th year, he's finalising details for his upcoming concert The Best of the Bee Gees showing at the Redcliffe Entertainment Centre in September.

But before gaining fame with the Bee Gees, Colin became a nine year old movie icon, starring in the record breaking movie Smiley. He followed that up by starring in others such as The Scamp with Sir Richard Attenborough and A Cry from the Streets with Max Bygraves.

Whilst living in Redcliffe with his parents, Colin attended Humpybong State School, the Gibb brothers also attended the school two years later. It was here that Colin developed an interest in music, drumming in particular and was tutored by a master drumming teacher Harry Lebler.

It was also during this time he met the legendary jazz drummer Gene Krupa.

After leaving school, Colin joined a local band, Steve and the Board. While on a trip to Sydney with the band, he met up with Maurice Gibb who told him that on seeing the movie Smiley in a cold Manchester cinema, the Gibb family were motivated to emigrate to Australia as 'ten pound poms'. This meeting blossomed into a firm friendship between the two. Aged 20, he moved to England where he met up with the Gibb brothers, who recruited him as the Bee Gees drummer and as well as a business partner.

Colin featured on some of the Bee Gees classic discography such as Massachusetts, To Love Somebody, I Started a Joke, New York Mining Disaster, Words and many more. He then branched out on his own, first into the management of a number of up and coming musicians and then forming his own band which he called Humpy Bong, after his old school in Redcliffe. He achieved some success with a debut single and appeared on BBC Television's Top of the Pops. More recently he shared screentime with the Bee Gees in the group's nostalgic biopic How Can You Mend a Broken Heart, which was nominated for six Emmy Awards.

His show, The Best of the Bee Gees features highlights of the group's music as well as personal anecdotes and stories from his time with the Bee Gees.

We have a double pass to Saturday September 3 to give away to readers - jump onto our Facebook page and comment on the 'Best of the Bee Gees' Post for a chance to win!

When: Friday Sept 2 and Saturday Sept 3

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

During a children's portraiture class at Art So Lively Academy recently, a troubled expression on a little boy's face caught my eye. When asked about it, he said earnestly, "my drawing doesn't look like yours Miss Gabi...I'm rubbish at faces!!"

Such a heartbreaking thing to hear. This statement prompted me to bring out a self-portrait I did when I was ten years old, one of a few drawings surviving my childhood. It brought a broad smile to the disheartened boy. "I have done a lot of practising since then and now I'm pretty confident about drawing faces," I told him.

It's not unusual for artists to feel discouraged at some time when making art. It's part of the journey. The secret though, is to persevere and keep trying. That day in class reminds me of a similar incident involving none other than Pablo Picasso who developed the ability to produce remarkable work in a few minutes.

Picasso was walking through a market when a woman approached him. She tore a piece of paper from a notebook and said, "Mr Picasso, I am a fan of yours. Could you please draw a picture for me?" Picasso obliged and drew her a small picture. As he handed it back, he jokingly said, "That will be a million dollars please!"

Amazed, the woman said, "It only took you 30 seconds to produce this little masterpiece!"

Picasso replied, "My dear, it took me 30 years to draw that masterpiece in 30 seconds!"

Exceptionally prolific throughout his 92 year life, he achieved universal acclaim together with a huge fortune for his revolutionary artistic accomplishments, becoming one of the best known artists of the 20th Century.

The lesson to be learned here is that few people with talent rarely produce incredible work without decades of practice. In other words, Practice makes Perfect.....Well almost!

HISTORY REDCLIFFE

THE STREET WHERE YOU LIVE

STORY PATTIE TANCRED

Let's think about our streets and roads. In the days of early settlement, there were very few and those few were pretty sad little dirt tracks in very poor repair. A report of 1864 claimed that the roads were so bad that farmers could not take their produce to market. Scroll forward 160-odd years and it is a different story; today the Redcliffe Peninsula is totally criss-crossed by some hundreds of thoroughfares, large and small, each with its own name and story attached.

There are the obvious ones like Oxley Avenue and Flinders Parade. Everyone knows something about the history behind these famous names. But what about the many other streets that bear the names of ordinary people otherwise forgotten?

Take Pikett Street in Clontarf. The Pikett family – husband Fountain, wife Alice and three little daughters - arrived in Queensland on the Chyebassa in 1883 and straightaway travelled by dray to the Peninsula. Their first home was a farm out towards the end of present-day Anzac Avenue. In a few years, they moved to a shack near the cemetery from which their children, eventually numbering 10, walked to the Humpybong school. In 1909, one of the Pikett girls, Sarah, married Robert Kirkwood.

Which brings us to Kirkwood Street in Margate. Robert was born in Ireland and came to Brisbane as a child. In 1893, he moved to Redcliffe to work in the building trade with his uncle. They were instrumental in building the first Redcliffe town council chambers.

Other streets that recall old Redcliffe families are Adams Street, Scarborough and Boardman Road, Kippa-Ring. The Adams and Boardman families became connected in 1899, when Joseph Adams married Mary Elizabeth Boardman; later, probably the following year, John Boardman married Emma Adams. John and Emma were the first couple to marry in St Marks at Woody Point.

Emma's and Joseph's parents, Eliza and John Adams came to Brisbane in 1866, having survived a shipwreck on King Island in Bass Strait along the way. John Adams was the first to run a passenger boat from Woody Point to Sandgate.

John and Emma Boardman had a farm where, now, Anzac Highway and Boardman Road meet. As well as farming, John was a teamster, driving horses between Petrie and Redcliffe and carting much of the timber for the jetty at Woody Point.

Check out your street's name; chances are, it evokes someone who lived not far away, although long ago and in another time.

Ramblings

STORY RICHARD LANCASTER

I first met Heinrich van Rensburg a couple of weeks ago and I met him through my dear dalmatian best friend Bertie. It all started a little after Bertie's 15th birthday, that's 105 years old in human terms. I noticed a limp in his left hind leg. As the year progressed the limp became more pronounced.

The vet diagnosed 'old age' as an x-ray showed nothing of consequence. As his mobility deteriorated, I had to carry him up and down our home's internal and external steps. Not an easy task with Bertie weighing in at 30 kilos and I'm over 80! His hearing and eyesight were also failing and he had started to whimper pathetically. So I gave him vet prescribed painkillers which allowed him to sleep most of the time.

But I realised that my faithful, loving friend's quality of life was becoming poor, so I had a painful decision to make. Was I keeping him alive because I loved to have him with me, irrespective of the pain he felt? It is a decision that dog lovers the world over face, when their four footed friend is in strife.

My pal Bertie now mercifully passed and I was now faced with another dilemma. Should I dig a grave for his resting place or should he be cremated? What if I was to move house? The thought of leaving Bertie alone in a garden was not acceptable. So cremation it was. And that's where Heinrich van Rensburg and his cremation service, Pets Forever comes into the story.

A South African by birth he decided that Queensland, Australia was really his true home. Career in mind and with his love of animals, he became a volunteer at Redcliffe's Peninsula Animal Aid and here he saw some of the sad end results of heartless human treatment towards pets. Seeing that many cremation services appeared profit driven, he decided to establish a cremation service to 'give our pets the best farewell ever'. He has done just that, with my wonderful Bertie getting 'the best send-off ever. Bertie now sits in a gold casket on my sideboard. Heinrich can be reached on 0433 031015 or at petsforevercremations@gmail.com

On the Airwaves with Amateur Radio

Nearly 50 years old, the Redcliffe and Districts Radio Club, located in McFarlane Park, Kippa-Ring caters for amateur radio enthusiasts on the Peninsula.

Jeff Lord, a member of the Club, said amateur radio as a hobby started in the early 20th Century, with the introduction of wireless radio communication.

"Back then radio experimenters built their own equipment to communicate with other like-minded radio enthusiasts. The hobby was born and very shortly after, Australians formed the first Amateur Radio Association in the world – the Wireless Institute of Australia," Jeff said.

Today in Australia there are around 13,000 licensed operators who form part of a global community of hundreds of thousands of radio enthusiasts. Amateur radio operators still build equipment and communicate with each other, but in place of the Morse Code, scratchy voices and glowing vacuum tubes of last Century, operators use a whole range of communication means from voice to digital to video with sophisticated modern equipment. Yes, there are some who still use Morse!

Redcliffe and Districts Radio Club not only socialise, talk radio, and solve the world's problems, but each year they also support the scouting movement with Jamboree of the Air. They set up and run portable radio stations for the cubs and scouts to communicate globally with other scouts.

"There are many different avenues in the hobby," Jeff said. "We also communicate worldwide, bounce signals off the moon, talk to the International Space Station as it passes over head, and build antennas, radios and accessories for our hobby."

"For enthusiasts who like the outdoors, the Club regularly goes bush, setting up stations in the bush with portable radios and antennas using battery and generators for power for a 24-hour competition."

"We welcome men and women from all walks of life. We have a retired medical specialist, computer programmers, commercial sales reps, and even a military Chaplain. You don't need a university degree to play with radios, only the desire to learn about technology. We can teach you the rest and have you on the air building friendships and feeding your technical interests in no time."

MOVIE REVIEW

'SO DAMN EASY GOING'

STORY @WATCHITWOMBAT

As if being a teenager wasn't hard enough, 18-year-old Joanna is dealing with the loss of her mother, being broke and trying to find herself. Sounds pretty bleak right, and at times it is, but there's plenty of joyful and comedic moments to lift the otherwise sombre tone.

What sets this adaptation of the critically acclaimed novel by Swedish author Jenny Jägerfeld apart from other coming of age stories is that Joanna suffers from ADHD. It doesn't just throw this angle in for the sake of it, it offers a real insightful look into how people often struggle with a condition that so many of us still don't understand. What heightens the situation is that she's forced to take extreme measures to secure her medication when her pills run out and can't afford her next dose.

This is Director Christoffer Sandler's first feature film having only worked in TV, but he's created a visually interesting movie that offers a unique look at Gothenburg, Sweden. Using interesting camera work and innovative lighting techniques. Such as manifesting the lead character's ADHD in the form of flashing fairy lights, subtly at first but then becoming more prominent as her condition worsens through lack of medication.

The performances are solid, with the lead actresses Nikki Hanseblad and Melina Benett Paukkonen delivering a convincing and interesting relationship. Their burgeoning and often tumultuous affair is a bitter sweet reminder of just how hard growing up can be. Hanseblad as Joanna does take the lion's share of the screentime with a believable portrayal of the escalating complexities of her character's struggles, whether they're social, sexual or medical.

Although I may not be able to relate to being a teenage girl and the trials faced by the characters there's still plenty here to enjoy. So Damn Easy Going is a funny, sweet coming-of-age drama about love and daring to be yourself.

Catch 'So Damn Easy Going' (Så jävla easy going) as part of the 2022 Scandinavian Film Festival screening at Palace Barracks & James Street Cinemas Brisbane now until 10 August 2022.

Nope, which co-stars Michael Wincott (Hitchcock, Westworld) and Brandon Perea (The OA, American Insurrection), is written and directed by Jordan Peele and is produced by Ian Cooper (Us, Candyman) and Jordan Peele for Monkeypaw Productions.

FISH OF THE MONTH

TAILOR - POMATOMUS SALTATRIX

STORY PETER HANSLER

When people mention Tailor the first thing that usually comes to mind is beach fishing Fraser Island (K'gari). This time of year though quite good numbers are caught around Redcliffe, Shorncliffe and from our local fishing platforms and jetties. It has been a really good season so far this year too.

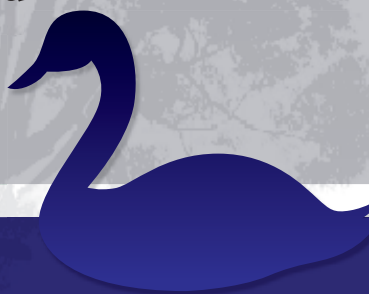

A fast growing fish with a 35cm size limit, most fish locally are 30-50cm but they do grow in excess of a metre long. Being pack hunters, schooling up and eating just about anything that moves, most anglers nearly always catch a few at a time. They are a great sportfish that will take lures and live baits but with their razor sharp teeth will also easily bite through most lines. Care must also be taken as the larger fish can do major damage to fingers.

A great tasting species that is best dispatched, bled and iced immediately. My favourite cooking method is just filleted, rolled in flour and fried on a BBQ or hotplate. They are also one of my favourite fish to do in a smoker as their flesh is moist and oily. Due to the abundance of them around at the moment they're also a great buy at your local seafood market.

ROOF RESTORATIONS

Transform your tired old roof with a value boosting makeover

Full Roof Restorations From only $2,000

- Repair and Change Out Broken Tiles
- High Pressure Clean
- Re-bed Ridge Capping (if required)
- Re-point Ridge Capping
- Sterilise Surface (if required)
- Apply Primer/Sealer
- Apply New Roof Membrane (2 coats)
- Apply Nano Clear Protect Coating (barrier coat to prevent fading)

All roofs age over time. After around 15 years, tile roofs deteriorate to the point where a restoration should be considered. At this age, colour starts to fade, ridge capping becomes brittle, lichen and mould can grow, and tiles become harder to clean. The appearance of your home suffers and your roof is more likely to develop leaks.

Richard Gabriel from Mr Highlights Roofing has over 20 years experience in the roofing trade. He uses only premium quality products for his restorations, and offers a full 12 years warranty on all workmanship and materials.

Richard is an owner/operator and doesn't employ salespeople, so costs are kept to a minimum which means savings for you!
