A Note

FROM THE TEAM

Welcome to another month on the stunning Redcliffe Peninsula and to the warmer weather of Spring!

On Sunday 4 September we will celebrate Father's Day. However you decide to celebrate with your father or the father figure in your life, we hope you have a very special day. To the fathers we have lost, we remember you on Father's Day and every day.

R U OK? Day is Thursday 8 September. It's our National day of action where we are reminded that if we notice someone we know struggling with life, ask if they are OK. So take the time to check in on friends, family and neighbours and ask R U OK?

On the pages inside this month's edition of the Redcliffe Guide you will find plenty of local events for you to enjoy, along with some great stories to read. So grab a coffee (or drink of choice), sit back and happy reading!

REDCLIFFE KITEFEST SOARS

STORY PATRICIA HIGGINS

Clontarf's skies are once again set to fill with all the colour and cheer of Redcliffe KiteFest, which is one of South-East Queensland's biggest family-friendly events.

The festival is all about the art and spectacle of kite flying, but also brings a huge array of entertainment for all the family.

CEO, Moreton Bay Region Industry and Tourism (MBRIT), Shane Newcombe said the event was tagged as the 'Ultimate Kids Weekend' with two highly popular children's acts generating a lot of buzz.

"This year we are excited to announce that for the first-time ever we have two headlining children's shows performing – Bluey and Paw Patrol – live on the Sesame Lane main stage," Mr Newcombe said.

Mr Newcombe said that another event highlight was the Hot Wheels Stunt Team Fun Zone, featuring the latest Hot Wheels tracks and merchandise, but that the lineup of attractions did not stop there.

"Naturally, Redcliffe KiteFest features world-class international and national kite flyers, however you've also got the children's shows, live music, carnival rides, aerobatic display, workshops and activities, markets and food stalls," he said.

According to Mr Newcombe, those coming from further afield or looking for a break from their regular routine would be able to easily plan an entire holiday around the event.

"Families can book a VIP Redcliffe KiteFest package, which includes accommodation, dinner, an exclusive meet and greet with Bluey or Paw Patrol, plus optional experiences such as Whale Watching, Putt Putt and more," Mr Newcombe said.

Those looking to fly their own apparatus would not be disappointed, with facilities set up to help both kites and spirits lift high into the horizon.

"Although the Ausbuild Kite Flying Arena is reserved for our professional kite flyers, we will have our public kite flying zone open for the entire weekend – where attendees can fly their own kite," Mr Newcombe said.

If you don't have a kite, you can build your own in our Kite Making Workshop or purchase one from a market stall.

Raise Your Steins to Oktoberfest

STORY ALYSSA MACKAY

There will be so much food, beer and entertainment when Oktoberfest returns to Redcliffe at the end of this month, that organisers have extended the popular festival to three days.

Dress up in your best dirndls and lederhosen because Oktoberfest is back at the Redcliffe Showgrounds from Friday, 30 September to Sunday, 2 October, hosted by Beam Entertainment.

Event organiser Craig Miley said this year's festival would feature bigger and better facilities than before.

"We managed to get a one-day Oktoberfest in 2021, despite all of the Covid issues around events at that time," Craig said. "This year, we are going all-out, with a huge beer tent being added outside to complement the Webb Hall, and a greater selection of food, wine and entertainment for our patrons."

Inspired by the culture of traditional Bavarian celebrations, the over-18s event will see people raising their steins and saying 'prost!' (German for 'cheers!') with a choice of beers that includes Maisel Weisse, Kristall, Dunkel and Radler.

It wouldn't be Oktoberfest without food, which is why festival-goers can indulge in authentic German cuisine like pork knuckle, sauerkraut, Hanchen-schnitzel, freshly baked pretzels, hot dogs with Bratwurst or Kranski.

Games host 'Karl the Wunderhost' will present games including fingerhakeln (finger wrestling), hammerschlagen (hammer striking), and stein holding, with prizes up for grabs like beer and wine vouchers. Attendees will also be keen to see who takes out the coveted titles of Mr and Ms Oktoberfest.

"Our Mr and Ms Oktoberfest contestants will be asked to parade in front of the crowd, with the patrons making the choice," Craig said. "Obviously dirndl and lederhosen will be essential, but personality usually decides the winners!"

Moreton Bay Regional Council Mayor Peter Flannery is set to appear on Saturday to perform the mayoral tradition of tapping the first beer barrel.

German party band Sneaky Schnitzel will also be back to entertain the crowd over the weekend.

"There is never a dull moment at Redcliffe Oktoberfest – the ultimate fancy dress party with music, games and general frivolity across three days," Craig said. "This is becoming a destination event for our region."

Tickets start at $15.87. To get your tickets search for Redcliffe Oktoberfest on Eventbrite.

ORCHIDS EXHIBIT THE BEAUTY OF SPRING

STORY SALLY EBERHARDT

Few things symbolize 'spring' more gloriously than flowers - and when those flowers are orchids in a mass display, the result is simply spectacular!

Feast your eyes and fill your soul with joy as members of Redcliffe District Orchid Society bring their Spring Orchid Show featuring a diverse range of fascinating and beautiful orchids. There will be soft cane and native dendrobiums, cattleyas, cymbidiums and oncidiums to name a few. Soft cane dendrobiums normally steal the show as they come in a wide range of colours from whites to purples and an array of pastel shades.

Margie Beckett, President of Redcliffe District Orchid Society Inc, said that apart from having a wonderful display, there will be experts on hand to help people choose and care for the right orchid for their conditions.

"Many plants will be available for sale as well as all your potting requirements to keep your orchids looking their best.

"We will have experienced growers always attending the show to share their knowledge and offer advice in choosing the right orchid for your environment," said Margie.

Margie added that orchids love fresh airflow around them, so choosing a good open potting mix is essential. "It's important to remember the substrate is nothing more than an anchor system for the plant. We use a mix of bark, perlite and charcoal for most orchids."

Orchids flower better in a brightly lit area, but not full sun. In the winter months they tend to go dormant, so watering is kept to a minimum then. A weekly water will have your orchid thanking you with some lovely blooms for spring.

Margie said she has been an admirer of orchids for about 40 years, but seriously for 25 years.

"It really does become an addiction after a while. You can always find one more that captures your heart."

As well as plants and supplies for sale, crafts from CWA Clontarf will be on offer, a raffle held and refreshments available. Admission is only $2 for adults, children free.

Come along and let the abundant beauty and colours of orchids put a spring in your step.

WHAT'S HOT AROUND TOWN

JFK

STORY NADIA CHAPMAN

Start your weekend off the right way by taking a trip down memory lane.

JFK will take the Redcliffe Leagues Club stage on Friday, 9 September to make a tribute to American rock legends Bon Jovi, Foreigner, and Aerosmith.

Founder and guitarist Tony Lopez said the gig will be a night full of nostalgia.

"[Locals can expect] a night of nostalgia, singing and dancing along to the hits of American rockers. [JFK] are passionate performers and believers in showmanship," Tony said.

JFK is a relatively new band, forming in late 2019 and playing their first gig in February 2022. "JFK puts in the blood, sweat, and tears for audiences to leave moved by the power of timeless rock."

When asked what JFK's favourite part of performing was, Tony responded, "we love the complete experience—the comradery, feeling the songs, and most importantly, the reaction from our audience."

JFK will play from 7pm onwards.

Later in the month, you can expect more rock and roll in the heart of the Peninsula.

No Right Turn is coming to Bramble Bay Bowls Club on Friday, 23 September, with the ultimate selection of party, pop, and modern rock covers.

Available as a trio, duo, or four-piece band, No Right Turn has been performing around South East Queensland since 2008.

Locals can expect No Right Turn to play from a repertoire that spans the 80s, 90s, 00s, and now.

No Right Turn will be performing from 7-10pm.

If you're an Elvis Presley fan, you will love the tribute coming to the Peninsula at the end of September.

The Redcliffe RSL is hosting Mike Winkworth on Saturday, 24, who will deliver a powerful performance dedicated to Roy Orbison and Elvis Presley.

With Mike's high energy and remarkable ability as a performer, locals can expect a night filled with a unique Roy and Elvis experience, leaving you wanting more.

Bookings are essential, and tickets are $30 for RSL members and $35 for non-members. Tickets include a $10 voucher towards dinner in the Gallipoli Grill or The Point.

Mike will start his performance at 8.30pm.

RECYCLING AND REVELATIONS

STORY GABRIELLE TURNBULL

Pentimento in painting, "is the presence...of earlier images...that have been painted over".

At present deep in Cominos Arcade, Redcliffe, the Art So Lively students are painting up a storm on canvas. For some, it is their 'maiden voyage' on canvas and they are very excited!!

On examining the clean white canvas, one student exclaimed "Hey look what's underneath! A figure!"

As they held it up to the light, there it was. Recycling is in my blood, so discarded canvases are routinely painted over so that budding artists can experiment and practice with ease. If it doesn't work, just paint over it, is our mantra. In my personal art practice I have done this many times, re-using good (and costly) paper and canvas.

Sometimes the painting underneath becomes an integral and beautiful part of the new work. Most artists I know do the same. Waste not, want not. And we are not alone in the history of art.

Recently in Scotland, an exciting discovery was made of a hidden self portrait of the famous 19th Century Impressionist, Vincent Van Gogh. It had been painted earlier on the back of another painting known as Head of a Peasant Woman. Sophisticated infra-red x-ray technology made this possible.

The impoverished Van Gogh economised by recycling canvases, cardboard and other surfaces either by painting on the back or on top of the earlier image. Interestingly, one early owner of this work was the father of Ian Fleming, the creator of James Bond. Ian Fleming's dad sold it unaware he had two measures in one!

An x-ray of Van Gogh's Head of a Peasant Woman

Vincent Van Gogh was not the first or only early recycler. In 2011, a hidden self-portrait by Rembrandt was discovered on the reverse side of his masterpiece Old Man with a Beard. Italian artist, Amedeo Modigliani also sketched drawings on the reverse side of his 1908 canvas Nude with a Hat.

Although such discoveries are relatively rare, other famous 'canvas recyclers' include Edgar Degas and Pablo Picasso. In the 1890's Degas painting Portrait of a Woman was found to contain the portrait of yet another woman, hidden beneath the latter work. That research was conducted in Australia in 1997.

Picasso's popular painting The Blue Room depicting a woman bathing, hides beneath its layers of blue oil paint, the portrait of a bearded man complete with bow-tie. Recycling continues among contemporary artists and especially those at Art So Lively, following in the footsteps of the now famous. Is it worth contemplating therefore, how many potential masterpieces are hiding in our recycled canvases just waiting to be revealed.....sometime?

FEAST ON FLAVOUR OF THE BAY

Imagine kicking back, sipping an exotic cocktail, savoring delectable seafood delights created by top chefs, and enjoying the balmy ambience of the sun setting over beautiful Moreton Bay. Aahh... life doesn't get much better than this!

Latham Pearce, Sous Chef, and Joel Powell, Head Chef

As part of the Tastes of Moreton Bay Festival, The Komo are hosting a special event with head chef Joel Powell and sous chef Latham Pearce preparing the dishes using specially sourced local ingredients. The package consists of two complimentary cocktails, one of which will be a specialty Flavours of the Bay concoction, and canape style food served on the outdoor terrace overlooking the water. The menu is simply divine with the freshest of oysters three different ways, miniature steak sandwiches, and a Moreton Bay bug dish guaranteed to tickle your taste buds.

It's a great opportunity to meet and greet the chefs of The Komo who will be preparing and serving the food right in front of the guests, including shucking live oysters, said head chef Joel Powell.

"I am really looking forward to showcasing some of our great local produce, as well as featuring our fresh local seafood we use here at The Komo. It's going to be a great evening," Joel said.

Regional suppliers are featured heavily on the menu with Little White Goat Farm providing feta for the bruschetta style oysters, and LuvaBerry providing freeze-dried raspberries for the gin and raspberry oysters. Both farms are at Wamuran. Even the gin is local as it comes from Lacey's Hill Distillery, at the foot of the D'Aguiar Range, who make all their spirits from scratch, by hand, in small batches.

Nothing Brothers, an award-winning East Brisbane butchery, will supply the chorizo for the Spanish style oysters as well as tender Mary Valley beef for the miniature steak sandwiches. Finishing the dining on a high note is the Barbecued Moreton Bay bug dish resplendent with miso dressing and garnished with pearls of native finger limes from Lisa's Little Farm. Sensational!

With such taste temptations this event will no doubt be very popular! Be sure to reserve your ticket at www.tastesofmoretonbay.com.au/events/the-komos-flavour-of-the-bay

WHAT'S ON FOR THE KIDS

September School Holidays

STORY SALLY EBERHARDT

School holiday time in Redcliffe offers experiences from the bottom of the deepest sea, to the far reaches of outer space with lots of fun in between.

Magic Glen and Bunny

OH THE MAGIC AND WONDER of being a child discovering new things! Treat the kids to a magic show full of fun and laughter from beginning to end.

Glen's Magic Show at Redcliffe Entertainment Centre on 20 September combines jokes and comedy with funny, entertaining and interactive magic most suited to 4-7-year-olds.

Magic Glen says there is nothing more satisfying than seeing kids having a great time and participating in his magic show.

"The kids love it...and so do I! And the parents are not left out...there is some very cool magic that will fool the parents too.

"Parents love to watch their children having a good time.... who could want anything better?" Magic Glen said.

Bookings are essential and tickets are $15. Find out more via www.redcliffeentertainmentcentre.com.au

Queensland Housing Investment Fund to Deliver 84 Social & Affordable homes in Redcliffe

LEARN MORE

The Housing Investment Fund is a key part of the Palaszczuk Government's Housing and Homelessness Action Plan 2021-2025, with $1.9 billion available over 4 years to boost housing supply and increase housing and homelessness support across Queensland.

I am proud that the Palaszczuk Government are delivering Queensland's biggest social housing program since the Second World War. Under the plan, the government will deliver 7,400 new dwelling commencements across Queensland.

This huge investment will deliver 84 social and affordable homes in Redcliffe catering specifically for seniors and empty nesters. Works will begin this year with residents to move in late 2024.

MURRI CARNIVAL SHOWCASES INDIGENOUS SPORTING TALENT

STORY ALYSSA MACKAY

A boriginal and Torres Strait Islander rugby league players will take to the field this month for a premier six-day sporting event.

The 2022 Arthur Beetson Foundation (ABF) Queensland Murri Carnival will see teams from all over the state competing at the Redcliffe Dolphins Moreton Daily Stadium.

Queensland Murri Carnival (QMC) organising committee representative Ian Lacey said there would be 80 teams, making it one of the biggest carnivals since COVID-19.

"It's good to be back at the Dolphins, it's a first-class facility, it's a venue that's purpose-built for a carnival of our size," Ian said. "There's going to be plenty of family fun activities, community stalls, NRL personalities and Deadly Choices Ambassadors. We are going to create an awesome atmosphere, so hopefully the South East community gets behind it and comes out in their numbers."

Since 2011 the Murri Carnival has been bringing teams together across Queensland. The event is sanctioned by the Queensland Rugby League and is run by the ABF in partnership with the Institute for Urban Indigenous Health, Health and Wellbeing Queensland and the Deadly Choices program. This year, players will compete in divisions including Senior – Open Men & Women, Junior Boys – Under 14, 16 and 18 and Junior Girls – Under 15 and 17.

The QMC encourages health, education and employment outcomes through sport, with all participants required to complete a health assessment. The event is also the biggest smoking, drug, alcohol and sugar-free event in Australia. Junior players must demonstrate 90% school attendance in terms one and two leading into the carnival.

Ian said the carnival created opportunities for young Indigenous players.

"Some Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander players come from communities that aren't necessarily seen by NRL clubs," he said. "So they get some exposure and we can identify their talent and harness the raw skills and ability they've got and start to transition them into the NRL elite pathway system."

"QLD Cup clubs have representatives come and watch our carnival and have a look at the players. Also, with the female game expanding at the rate that it is, our carnival will become the perfect breeding ground for increased participation of the female league."

To find out more search for Murri Carnival on Facebook or visit www.murrirugbyleague.com.au

Float therapy involves floating in water heated to match your body temperature with a high concentration of Epsom salt. This combination helps your body enter a deep state of relaxation, so your brain can enter a place of rest and repair.

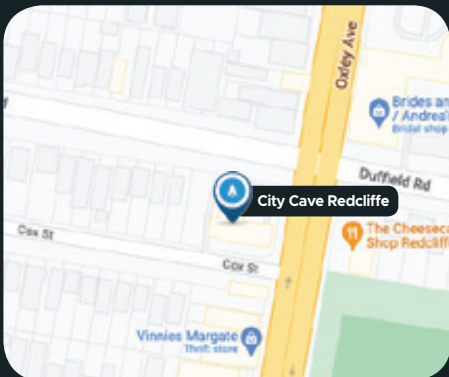

INFRARED SAUNA

Infrared saunas use the same type of heat as the sun without the ultraviolet rays we know to be harmful. Instead of heating the air, infrared saunas use radiant heat to penetrate the body directly to help detoxify, relieve pain and reduce inflammation.

MASSAGE THERAPY

Each of our locations offer a range of massage therapies that can help you improve your health and achieve deep relaxation. We specialise in remedial, sports, pregnancy and relaxation massage therapies.

Zero Waste Week 2022

INFORMATION PREPARED BY LES BARKLA,
PRISTINE PENINSULA GROUP

What does zero waste mean? The simple answer is, sending nothing to landfill. We can do this by reducing what we need, reuse as much as we can, send little to be recycled, and compost what we cannot.

Below is some information on how you can recycle everyday items and stop them from going to landfill. This is not an exhaustive list, but a great place to start to reduce our everyday waste, not just in Zero Waste Week, but all year round.

Batteries – Household batteries recycled at Aldi, Ikea and Century Yuasa Battery Recycling Centres

Cartridges For Planet Ark – Australia Post, Office Works, Harvey Norman and more

Electrical Waste, DVD's, appliances – Endeavour Foundation Industries, 46 High Street, Kippa Ring QLD 4021

Mobile Muster – Recycle old phones and accessories, handsets and chargers – often located in phone stores and at Australia Post outlets

National TV & Computer Recycling Scheme – Endeavour Foundation Industries, 46 High Street, Kippa Ring QLD 4021

Terracycle Australia – coffee pods, mail satchels, kids snack pouches, textas, beauty product containers, contact lens, toothpaste tubes (Humpybong State School Office)

Project Uplift – used bras and swimwear for women who cannot afford or access them https://www.upliftbras.org/drop_off_bras.html#drop

Recycle – Recycle plastic shopping bags, chip bags, snack wrappers, glad wrap and other soft plastics at a Coles or Woolies <https://www.redcycle.net.au/what-to-recycle/>

RSPCA and other Animal Shelters – Offload your old blankets & towels.

Unwanted or expired medicine – Can be taken to your local pharmacy, find out more here <https://www.returnmed.com.au/>

DEATH OF A PRINCESS

STORY RICHARD LANCASTER

The tragic death of Princess Diana, her friend Dodi al Fayed and their driver Henri Paul in a Paris tunnel on 31 August 1997, stunned the world.

With the recent 25th anniversary passing of Diana's death, has come a flurry of new conspiracy theories surrounding the mysterious event. One, a much-publicised documentary calls into question the investigative procedures and reporting accuracy of both the British and French police.

John Morgan, a Redcliffe based investigative journalist became interested in the deaths and spent the last decade of his life investigating the events surrounding the Paris tunnel crash.

He studied all the police reports and the official Paget Report. He examined over 10,000 files relating to the deaths as well.

His conclusion was that it was not an accident but premeditated. The result of his investigations was the writing and publication of a massive bestselling 10 volume collection of books. His last book 'Corruption at Scotland Yard' remained unfinished at his death.

Today, John Morgan's contribution to the truth surrounding the death of Princess Diana remains as the definitive work and is considered paramount to current and future investigations.

Boama
circa 1910

HISTORY REDCLIFFE

STORY PATTIE TANCRED

REDCLIFFE'S FIRST RESIDENTS

When Boama, also known as Sammy Bell, died on 2 February 1913, his friends erected a tombstone to mark his grave in the Redcliffe cemetery. On the stone is written "The last of his tribe". If he was indeed that, then Boama's death brought to a close his people's millennia-long occupancy of their homeland, what is now the Redcliffe Peninsula.

Boama was a member of the Ningi Ningi people. The Ningi Ningi (meaning 'oysters') occupied a territory stretching from the Peninsula north to what is now Toorbul Point and they moved seasonally back and forth between the two. As the shell and bone middens found along the coast attest, the area was abundant in food sources.

The people gathered shellfish and caught and ate dugong and fish as well as land animals such as goannas and kangaroos. In 1799, when Matthew Flinders landed near what is now Clontarf, he found, in an Aboriginal dwelling, a large fishing net and some fish traps. He removed the fishing net, apparently leaving a hatchet in exchange.

The next Europeans that we know of to interact with the original inhabitants of the Peninsula were three castaway convicts who, in 1823, after being marooned on Moreton Island, made their way to the mainland and north, meeting and living with various groups of coastal Indigenous people before being rescued by John Oxley. They told Oxley that they had been well treated and their survival for seven months is testament to that.

Oxley returned the following year to set up a penal settlement at Redcliffe. The settlement did not flourish and the colonists departed in 1825, after which the site of the failed colony was named Humpybong by the Ningi Ningi, a word derived from their language signifying deserted shelters.

The next phase of Indigenous/European relations on the Peninsula was the advent of missionaries in 1842, followed not long after by settlers. Redcliffe was surveyed, and the first land sold for farming, in 1864. Despite a period of cohabitation, with pioneering families farming and fishing in places still frequented by the Ningi Ningi for hunting, fishing and ceremonial activities, this effectively spelt the end of their traditional way of life.

SPRING SONG CONCERT

Spring has sprung and the season is best celebrated by the harmonious voices of the Multitude Community Choir, and their new afternoon concert aptly titled Spring Song.

The performance is in benefit of local charity Mimi's House, and is set to feature such musical classics as Singin' in the Rain, Edelweiss, You're the Voice, Can't Buy me Love, Lanterns, and Hallelujah.

Choir Secretary Adele Moy said the concert was an afternoon of light and bright music interspersed with a couple of more serious songs to keep the balance.

"To welcome the spring season and disperse those winter blues, you can sing along and even dance if you wish," Ms Moy said.

Ms Moy said afternoon tea was included in the ticket price of $15, with free admittance for under 12 year olds.

"The aim of the choir is to bring people together in a celebration of the joy of singing, and the very reasonable cost of attendance is a part of that," Ms Moy said.

In keeping with the group's tradition, part of the concert's proceeds will be donated to a local charity, which this time around is a program located under the banner of Hope Centre Services.

Located in Rothwell, Mimi's House empowers and equips children to achieve greater success at school and in their personal lives, whereby children are taught life skills and also receive mentoring from trained community volunteers.

Multitude Choir has been in operation in the Peninsula region for 18 years and has firmly imprinted their unique style on the local entertainment and wider community scene.

According to Ms Moy, new members to the choir were always welcomed and able to come along to a free try out rehearsal during weekly rehearsals every Thursday night from 7:30pm to 9:30pm during State school terms at the CWA Hall in Redcliffe.

To book a ticket for the Spring Song Concert visit www.trybooking.com/events/landing/937219 and for general information visit www.multitude.com.au or follow on Facebook. To find out more about Mimi's House (including volunteering and donations) visit www.hopecentreservices.org/mimis-house.

THE JURASSIC STORE

Step into a world of prehistoric animals.

Dinosaur enthusiasts will no longer have to travel to faraway lands to catch a glimpse of a Tyrannosaurus Rex because nestled amongst the seaside shops at Redcliffe, Dinosaurs are popping up by the dozen.

The Jurassic Store, Redcliffe's newest and exciting shopping attraction, is offering a haven for dinosaur enthusiasts, selling everything from games, puzzles and books to toys and crafts. They stock a vast array of educational and science-based toys, Jurassic World toys, and even boast having rare and vintage dinosaur items.

The store was opened by mother and son duo, Lauren and Harlem Bloxham. By age eight, Harlem was obsessed with everything related to dinosaur and paleontology. After enjoying success with their online store, the pair decided to open a storefront where Harlem is helping run the business.

"We initially opened an online store to help him learn a bit about business in a setting that he is interested in and also as a way to earn some pocket money," Lauren said.

"Harlem assisted in designing the logo and helped to pick and pack online orders. The little online business quickly grew, and he now helps serve customers at the retail shop after school and Sundays."

The store sells items suitable for both adults and children, including serious collectors' items. After a recent buying trip to America, owners of this family-run business purchased an entire vintage Jurassic Park collection of toys.

Lauren said that Redcliffe is the perfect place to open a Dinosaur store and that people are coming from far and wide to get their hands on some of the merchandise.

"Redcliffe has become a bit of a tourist destination with the beaches, markets, entertainment venues and boutique stores so we felt it would be the perfect destination for a dinosaur shop," Lauren said.

"We've had people come all the way from the Gold Coast to check our store out."

Lauren and Harlem have big plans for the store including VIP exclusive collector events and school holiday events, but the most exciting plan is to one day stock real dinosaur fossils.

A WORD FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVES

YVETTE D'ATH MP

Safety improvements at Anzac Avenue, Victoria Avenue, and Recreation Street intersection at Redcliffe are now complete. TMR have modified the traffic signals, installed a signalised pedestrian crossing and improved surrounding bike-riding infrastructure to make this intersection safer for people walking, riding and driving. The completion of this project is a fantastic outcome for locals who will now get home safer and sooner than before.

Earlier this year the Premier announced a $175 Cost of Living Rebate would be applied onto electricity bills to help ease cost of living pressures. We are able to do this because Queensland's power assets are publicly owned so Queenslanders are able to share in the dividends. The Cost of Living Rebate will start being applied to electricity bills from the 31st of August.

To ease housing pressure on our communities, a new Palaszczuk Government initiative, Help to Home, will see property owners partner with the Queensland Government provide housing solutions for vulnerable Queenslanders. The $40 million program Help to Home is designed to encourage investors sitting on vacant properties to sign up to a head lease with the Queensland Government.

Queensland concession card holders will be able to access up to five Rapid Antigen Test kits per month, until the end of October. If you'd like any further information please reach out to my office.

CR KARL WINCHESTER

The Council has been busy supporting active lifestyles across the region and our Redcliffe Peninsula. It's important we keep an active and engaged lifestyle, that's why projects supporting active participation and healthy lifestyles are promoted.

The brand new Clontarf Beach Scout Den is now officially open, the $1 million project provides a contemporary setting for the Club. This project was jointly funded with the Federal Government.

Upcoming work includes court renewal for the Redcliffe Leagues Netball Club, lighting upgrades and renewals for Bradley Park Sports Field and Ray Frawley Fields.

Connecting our communities and supporting healthy activity also means linking and building new pathways. We will soon see the revamping of Woodcliffe Crescent, Woody Point to better support cyclists and pedestrian movements on the road while also delivering a new pathway along Church Street Kippa-Ring.

Playgrounds play a significant role in providing for our families exercise needs. Renewed playgrounds were recently completed at Bill Rogers Park, Clontarf, Chartwell Park, Margate and an upcoming renewal is slated for Pelican Park, Clontarf.

LUKE HOWARTH MP

Australia was abuzz in August as our athletes competed in the 2022 Commonwealth Games in Birmingham. An action-packed 11 days saw Australia's medal tally reach an impressive 178 medals; 67 gold, 57 silver and 54 bronze, bringing us to the top of the medal tally board. Netball champions, the Diamonds, secured Australia their 1000th gold medal at a Commonwealth Games.

I am extraordinarily proud of the sporting culture that exists within the Petrie community. Clubs like the North Lakes Blues Netball Club, who have just received their new netball courts with $1 million I secured in federal funding. There were several athletes from my electorate representing Australia in wheelchair basketball, squash, para-swimming, and lawn bowls. They displayed great sportsmanship, athleticism, dedication, and hard work in representing our community and country.

The 2026 Commonwealth Games will be hosted here on home soil in regional Victoria, and we eagerly await the next generation of sporting heroes to rise up and showcase the phenomenal sporting talent we have here. I encourage you to contact one of our many local sporting clubs and get involved today.

PODCAST OF THE MONTH

'Popcorn Podcast'

PODCAST REVIEW NICK ALLFORD

Two Aussie mates manage to bag some of the biggest names in Hollywood.

Back in 2019, after years apart, old friends Leigh and Tim reconnected through their mutual love of movies and saw a gap in the market for movie reviews from trusted sources that help the listeners make informed choices.

This isn't just two mates spinning cinema related yarns, they review the newest features, keeping you up to date with the latest movie news plus great A-list interviews. Interviews include Hugh Jackman, Eric Bana, Sam Neill, Jamie Lee Curtis, Jake Gyllenhaal to name but a few.

Popcorn Podcast entertains and delights with insightful spoiler free discussions, delivering a new snackable 30 minute morsel every week. Their styles complement each other really well. Movie buff Tim with his love of all things film and Leigh with her insights and entertainment journalism experience. Occasionally a special guest host is brought in to mix it up, like Brisbane local Nick - from 'Nick's Flix Fix'.

All in all, it's the closest thing to emulating that important post movie chat with mates, where you can dissect, deliberate and have a laugh over your popcorn... if you didn't eat it all during the trailers. A must for fans of film.

One night to help homeless women

STORY ALYSSA MACKAY

Could you sleep in your car for one night to help homeless women find somewhere safe to live?

The Forgotten Women is a housing initiative for homeless women over 55 and this month they are urging corporate Brisbane to take part in the Live Like Her Challenge by living in their cars for a night.

CEO of Mangrove Housing and founder of The Forgotten Women, Teresa Reed, said the managing director of My Care Enterprises at Redcliffe, Kerri-Anne Dooley, had taken up the challenge and encouraged other corporate organisations to do the same.

"She's an amazing advocate for the cause," Teresa said. "Over 700 women over 55 are homeless in Brisbane. These are the women who fought to have equal pay,

Mobility Scooter Convoy

STORY JULIA LEWIS

Deception Bay local, Ted Bakke, is attempting to break the Australian Book of Records for the longest convoy of mobility scooters.

Set by a group of scooter enthusiasts in 2010, the current record stands at 126. While Ted admits beating this record may be a challenge, he feels they stand a good chance.

"I know we can easily beat that with the amount of mobility scooters used in Moreton Bay," Ted said. "The rules and regulations say it has to be mobility scooters which are battery operated."

Ted has lived on the Peninsula for 28 years and his inspiration to organise the challenge came whilst driving 'Harley', his own three wheeled mobility scooter. Along with a fun superannuation and equal opportunity, a right for future generations of women, but in their hour of need we have forgotten them. The event will help raise awareness of this issue within our community."

Challenge attendees will sleep overnight in a secure car park in Eagle Farm to help fund The Forgotten Women's mission to provide fit-for-purpose housing for homeless women over 55.

Teresa said women over 55 are the fastest growing homeless population in Australia.

"Because they are more likely to be sleeping in their cars or couch surfing they are less visible and their plight isn't getting the attention it should," she said. "Forgotten Women aren't nameless or faceless, they're our mothers, our grandmothers, our aunts and our sisters."

Registration is $200 per car. To register or to make a donation go to www.livelikeherchallenge.com.au morning, Ted said the challenge will bring the community together.

"The morning includes lucky door prizes. First place will see one lucky participant win a brand-new scooter donated by Pride Mobility," Ted said. "The second prize is a mobility scooter weather protector donated by Rehab and Mobility."

If you drive a mobility scooter, or know someone who does, join Ted and his friends for a morning of fun. Participants will need to register their first name and phone number on the morning, so they are encouraged to get there early.

The event concludes at the Deception Bay PCYC, where participants will enjoy a sausage sizzle and a laugh.

Losing our History

The terrible truth is that little remains of Redcliffe's historic First European Settlement, excepting a couple of leg-irons in the Redcliffe Museum. Equally sadly, Redcliffe's indigenous history has suffered the same fate.

And if we look to our contemporary history, to be frank, that's not looking too good either. The Scarborough Hotel and the Seabrae Hotel, both built in 1879, were victims of the demolisher's dozers. More recently was the proposal to demolish the Suttons Beach Pavilion. The project is paused, but its fate is still undecided.

Now, another contemporary historic icon is in danger of disappearing forever. The Mousetrap Theatre building has been recently condemned as unsafe and its doors closed. Its fate is yet undecided, but the prognosis is not good.

It's an old rickety building that some may say should have been demolished years ago. But let's not forget that those rickety walls hold the memories of wonderful storytelling, of outstanding performances and performance festivals and most of all has provided our local community with many enjoyable evenings of entertainment over its 50-year existence as a theatre.

The Mousetrap Theatre Company started life in 1952 as the Redcliffe Music and Arts Society with a musical production entitled 'Wanted a Maid', and performed at the Woody Point Memorial Hall. Performances continued at this venue and at the RSL Hall throughout the 1950's and early 60's. In 1967, a momentous decision saw the Company purchase a building on the Redcliffe Showgrounds Reserve from the Redcliffe Leagues Club, who had been using it as a club room. The building itself had been part of the historic 1897 built Moreton Bay Hotel.

They named the building in honour of Agatha Christie's 'The Mousetrap', the longest running play in the world. Since then stages have been built, extensions constructed and a major fit out completed in 1997. Many of these fundraised by the dedicated volunteer members of Mousetrap.

Is all this creativity worth nothing in our increasingly materialistic world, which under values artistic creation and prefers to destroy the past for a very questionable present and future?

BRAD'S BUSINESS TIPS

What makes a great business leader?

STORY BRAD FLYNN

Here are the top four things all great leaders know and consistently do to get desired results for their team, clients, and themselves.

- Clarity about what the business looks like in the short and long term

Great leaders paint a clear picture of what the vision looks like of where they want the business to go and some of the checkpoints along the way from 90 days to 5 years into the future.

- Clarity around where the business is now.

Firstly, great leaders are very clear on their current position and the relevant metrics for the business, a bit like a dashboard in a car.

- Getting the right people, doing the right things at the right time.

Great leaders are able to attract great people and then get them to want to do what is needed to bridge the gap between points one and two.

Great leaders create and build amazing cultures that people want to be a part of. Culture is about the degree to which current team members are committed to making the vision a reality, so that not only the business gets its desired outcomes but so do they.

- Having the tough conversations

Nothing changes until the unspoken is said.

Great leaders have the courage to have the conversations most people shy away from.

LOCAL TEACHER GOES TO THE TOP OF THE CLASS

STORY NICK ALLFORD

We wanted to find out what it takes to be a great teacher and who better to ask than Leah Pollock-Grant, local teacher and Guidance Officer at the Australian Trade College North Brisbane (ATCNB), who recently took home the gold at the VET Teacher of the Year award at the North Coast Region Queensland Training Awards. Although to Leah, this was more than just an award.

"It is an honour and I am very humbled to have won. A part of the application included letters of endorsement from parents, reading these was the most rewarding part," she said.

Leah's real world knowledge of business and entrepreneurship grew after starting two small businesses while studying at Uni.

"After I completed my degree, I transitioned to teaching Business where I could share my passion and experience with others."

When asked what advice she would give those who are thinking about starting their teaching journey, her answer was an emphatic "Go for it! It's extremely rewarding especially when you bump into students post school and see they are living a full and productive life."

Leah enjoys that the Australian Trade College offers a unique experience, giving the students the best of both worlds.

"They continue with their senior studies to achieve a QCE while spending a significant amount of time onsite trade training or out in industry," she said.

But it's not all text books and tools. "I believe that positive, balanced mental health and wellbeing is the key that unlocks our students' potential."

Leah believes it is the responsibility of teachers to foster and support students on their wellbeing journey. Moving with the times is also an integral part of teaching. Through a hands-on approach Leah and the college staff take part in work experience themselves.

"This enables us to take industry trends back to the classroom, ensuring we are teaching current, real world content."

It is this kind of forward thinking and hands on experience that has helped earn Leah her well deserved accolade.

SEASONAL PRODUCE

Radicchio and Fennel Salad

with pear, honey-grilled haloumi and slivered almonds

Spring has sprung and while animals are coming out of hibernation, local farmers at the Redcliffe Markets are busy harvesting their spring crops.

Today we are showcasing radicchio and fennel in this simple yet punchy salad. Colourful enough to make even the bleakest of days look bright, it's quick to throw together and the complex flavours will impress even the toughest of dinner guests. This salad will soon become your go-to meal when you want a meat-free option but still want something that is 'meaty' enough to be a main meal.

The radicchio is bitter. Some people love it, some people hate it. Here I have paired it with slices of pear and honey-drizzled haloumi to try and balance out some of that bitterness. What makes this salad versatile is that it lends itself beautifully to whatever nuts or cheese you have in your pantry. I have used haloumi, however if you're among the few people who can't handle its 'squeakiness', it is just as delicious with blue cheese, shaved parmesan, or even good old cheddar.

Radicchio

Radicchio is often mistaken for red cabbage or purple lettuce however along with Escarole and Endive, it is part of the chicory family. It's recognised by its red, veiny leaves and like most vegetables in the chicory family, it often gets a bad rap because of its bitter taste. If cooked right (grilled or roasted), this bitterness can be mellowed out, making it the perfect exotic salad leaf for your salad. A spring vegetable, Radicchio is best sown in March, April and May, and is ready to be harvested July through to October. It is sometimes referred to as 'Italian Chicory' because of its prominent usage in Italian cooking (soups, risotto, pasta and pizza) however to capture the unique flavour, it is best used raw. But fair warning – it's bitter!

Fennel

While fennel is a common vegetable in many Australian households, most people may not know how to use the whole vegetable. Known for its unique liquorice flavour, each part of the vegetable has a different texture and can be used in different ways, making it the perfect vegetable to use in a zero-waste kitchen. Fennel seeds are most commonly used in curries, stews and sauerkraut, however they are gaining popularity with bakers who are using them in artisan bread and fancy sausage rolls. Fennel Stems are delicious grilled alongside fish, meat and poultry, but are equally as nice served raw in a salad. Fennel Fronds are an edible decoration in the culinary world, often used as a garnish for delicate meals, however can be added to pickles, and olives and are great with white-fleshed fish. Fennel Bulbs can be eaten raw however are delicious roasted with oil and salt and served warm in a salad.

Radicchio and Fennel Salad

INGREDIENTS

½ a medium radicchio
½ fennel bulb
1-2 pears
180g haloumi

2 tbsp honey
¼ cup slivered almonds
Balsamic vinegar and extra virgin olive oil for the dressing

Peel off the outer leaves on the radicchio, discard and then chop into quarters (you will only be using ½ of the radicchio). At this stage, you can either char the quarters on a preheated grill (this will remove some of the bitterness) or put them aside to use raw in the salad.

Take your fennel, rinse under water to remove any dirt, gently pinch off the fronds and put to one side to garnish at the end. Cut off the stems so you are just left with the bulb, then cut into quarters. Take a mandoline and carefully slice the fennel into thin strips. If you don't have a mandoline, simply slice with a sharp knife.

To prepare the pear, cut into thin wedges and drizzle with olive oil, salt and pepper. Do the same with the haloumi. Preheat a grill pan on high (make sure you don't add oil to the pan – it will smoke!). Once your pan is hot, place the oiled pear and haloumi on the grill, making sure you don't move it once you lay it down. To check that they are done, gently peel back one side and if it comes away without sticking (and you can see the desired char marks), then it is ready. Before removing the haloumi, drizzle with honey and move around the grill so that the haloumi gets coated in hot, sticky honey.

To serve the salad, arrange the radicchio leaves first, then place the fennel slices, pears and haloumi around the plate. Sprinkle with slivered almonds and drizzle with aged balsamic and extra virgin olive oil.

Voila!

FISH OF THE MONTH

LIONFISH PTEROIS VOLITANS

STORY PETER HANSLER

This strikingly beautiful fish is quite prolific in Moreton Bay and can also be found from south-western Western Australia, around the tropical north of the country and south to the southern coast of New South Wales. Other common names are Butterfly cod, Firefish, Scorpion cod, Turkeyfish and Zebrafish.

It is a relative of the Stonefish and has the same 13 venomous dorsal spines that can inflict major pain if stung. The pelvic fin spine and three anal fin spines are also venomous. They grow to around 40cm, eat mainly live food and are an extremely rare catch by fishing line. They are quite sought after for the aquarium trade, quite easily becoming tame and taking food from your hand. Also very easy to catch when diving as they are not scared of humans.

The common Lionfish is a highly invasive pest species on the East Coast of the United States and in the Caribbean, and is having a devastating effect on reef fish populations. It is quite tasty as an edible species and is now targeted by spearfishing and on the menu in some American restaurants.

You can see these beautiful fish in the aquariums at The Shed at Tackleland Sandgate

NATIONAL FLAG DAY - SATURDAY 3RD SEPTEMBER

Australian National Flag Day, proclaimed as a national day in 1996, celebrates the first time the flag was flown on 3rd September 1901. On that day, Prime Minister Edmund Barton announced the winners of a competition to design a flag for Australia. The winning flag was flown over the dome of the Exhibition Building in Melbourne.

I am a proud Australian and do not want to see any changes to our flag. My grandparents went to war under that flag, and now my eldest son is proudly serving in the ADF under our flag. It is a great symbol of our nation that pays homage to our British ancestry and our six states and territories. The beautiful Southern Cross is important to indigenous Australians and can be seen from anywhere in Australia. We should fly our flag proudly every day.

SEAFOOD TOWN

WHERE FRESH FISH MEETS THE SEA.

STORY JULIA LEWIS

A sea breeze, fresh seafood, crunchy hot chips with breathtaking views over Bramble Bay? It's no wonder Seafood Town has become a hot spot for seafood lovers.

For the past 11 years, Gary and Vanessa Dutton have made their mark on the Redcliffe Peninsula, serving some of the best fish and chips in Southeast Queensland.

Starting at a young age, Gary's love for seafood runs deep.

"When I was about 12 years old, I went fishing and caught my first fish and ever since that day I have been interested in fishing," Gary said. "A few years later I had the opportunity to work as a deckhand on a commercial fishing boat. It was so interesting and from that first day, the sea was calling."

Gary went on to work in just about every job in the seafood industry so it's no wonder he has the contacts to stock some of this region's finest seafood.

" Our seafood comes from all over Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania as well as the Pacific Islands," Gary said. "My years of working in the seafood industry has given me the relationships and contacts to work closely with select seafood suppliers to ensure that we always get the best seafood."

Seafood Town boasts an extensive menu which includes everything from Coral Trout, Snapper and Red Emperor, to Parrot fish and Sweet lip. Their cooked seafood menu has all the favourites from tempura prawns, grilled sea scallop skewers and prawn cutlets, to crumbed calamari rings, fish bites and even a good old homemade potato scallop.

What makes Seafood Town truly unique, is that visitors can buy the same fresh seafood that they serve in store. They have the option to sit in the open plan café, soak up the sea views from the veranda, or spread out on a picnic rug and have takeaway by the water. The relaxed atmosphere makes the perfect setting to catch up with friends and family while enjoying some of the best fish and chips around.

It would be hard to go past Seafood Town, or their Seafood Platter for two, however if you're looking for the perfect accompaniment to a cold beer, you can't go wrong with a bucket of their fresh prawns while catching a gorgeous sunset over Bramble Bay.

MOVIE REVIEW

90 MINUTE MOVIES ON NETFLIX

STORY @WATCHITWOMBAT

Do movies seem a bit too long? Are TV series too much commitment? Well, we have the perfect list for those with the attention span of a goldfish (like me). Here are our Top Pick Netflix movies that clock in at around 90 minutes.

THE GUILTY (2021) When a cop has been demoted to taking 911 calls, she must help a victim of a kidnapping but one wrong instruction could get her killed.

DON'T BREATHE (2016) A group of kids underestimate an old blind man to their detriment, as it's not long before he has the upper hand. Be warned the ending gets pretty grim.

THE SILENCE (2019) When winged creatures start attacking the populous, the only way to survive is to be silent, which is even harder when you're deaf. It's flawed in places but there are some great set pieces and tense moments.

THE PLATFORM (2019) Enter a nightmarish dystopian Spanish prison system where the tables are turned each day. An amazing original film that may have you questioning your own morality.

EXTINCTION (2018) A father is having unsettling dreams, when aliens start to attack, are they connected? It's not groundbreaking cinema but it will get you thinking, who's good, who's bad and which side would you choose?

HANCOCK (2008) Will Smith isn't exactly top of everyone's list at the moment but this take on the superhero genre is worth a go. Imagine if Superman was irritating, then you'd have John Hancock.

IDENTITY (2003) 10 strangers start finger pointing when stuck in a motel and realize that they're being killed off one at a time. A moody Hitchcockian thriller with great twists and an intriguing storyline.

HAPPY GILMORE (1996) This film shouldn't need much introduction. A failed hockey player with an amazing slap shot takes up golf to save his grandmother's home. Hilarity ensues.

Newsies Jr takes centre stage

Local theatre company, Roar Academy, will hit the stage this month with its latest theatrical production, Disney's Newsies Jr a 60 minute adaptation of the 2012 Broadway musical, based on the 1992 film.

"The production has been a wonderful collaboration across the local community to bring this brand-new junior musical to the stage," Madeleine Johns, Principal of Roar Academy, said.

"The performances will support the Roar Academy team of 43 students as they travel to Newcastle in October to perform competitively at the National Junior Theatre festival, which due to Covid lockdowns, has not run for the past two years."

Newsie Jr is set in turn of the century New York City, and inspired by the rousing true story of a group of newsboys from across the city who strike back against unfair conditions. Rallied by the charismatic Jack Kelly, the newsies learn that they are stronger united and create a movement to fight for what's right.

The production will see a timeless story full of spirit and heart brought to the stage. It will include songs such as 'Carrying the Banner', 'Seize the Day' and 'King of New York'.

Newsies Jr will run from 23 to 25 September and will be performed at the TPC at Southern Cross Catholic College, Scarborough. Tickets are $15 for a child, $20 concession and $25 for an adult.

THE QUIET GIRL

Cáit is a nine year-old girl from an overcrowded and impoverished family in rural Ireland. Quietly struggling at school and at home, she has learnt to hide in plain sight from those around her. As summer arrives, Cáit is sent to live with distant relatives, farming people, like her own, but hard-working and wanting for nothing. She slowly blossoms and discovers a new way of living, but in this house where affection grows and there are meant to be no secrets, Cáit discovers one painful truth. A tender coming-of-age story from writer-director Colm Bairéad and introducing the astonishing Catherine Clinch in her debut performance, The Quiet Girl is one of the most acclaimed and moving films of the year, and winner of seven Irish Film and Television Awards including Best Film.

ROOF RESTORATIONS

Transform your tired old roof with a value boosting makeover

Full Roof Restorations
From only $2,000

- Repair and Change Out Broken Tiles
- High Pressure Clean
- Re-bed Ridge Capping (if required)
- Re-point Ridge Capping
- Sterilise Surface (if required)
- Apply Primer/Sealer
- Apply New Roof Membrane (2 coats)
- Apply Nano Clear Protect Coating (barrier coat to prevent fading)

All roofs age over time. After around 15 years, tile roofs deteriorate to the point where a restoration should be considered. At this age, colour starts to fade, ridge capping becomes brittle, lichen and mould can grow, and tiles become harder to clean. The appearance of your home suffers and your roof is more likely to develop leaks.

Richard Gabriel from Mr Highlights Roofing has over 20 years experience in the roofing trade. He uses only premium quality products for his restorations, and offers a full 12 years warranty on all workmanship and materials.

Richard is an owner/operator and doesn't employ salespeople, so costs are kept to a minimum which means savings for you!

Sandgate Hearing - We are independent. We are different!

When it comes down to important healthcare like your hearing, don't risk bargain disappointment, visit Sandgate Hearing instead.

Sandgate Hearing offers affordable hearing aids with great value and no regrets.

- We're not limited to only two or three suppliers. We offer a wide range of products with great prices. You can choose from value for money technology to the most sophisticated technology. We also offer tips to save you money.
- Our hearing aids work. Our Audiologist has over 22 years of experience. We don't just use the default hearing aid factory settings. Our Audiologist follows the science and research findings to program your hearing aids and to get the best possible sounds for your ears.
- We have excellent customer reviews (5 stars Google reviews). To maintain our high standard, we see only a small number of clients per day. We treat our customers as unique individuals. You're not just a number. You will also see the same staff every visit.
- No more earwax. We offer the most comprehensive earwax management from deep cleaning of hearing aids to ear canal Microsuction services.

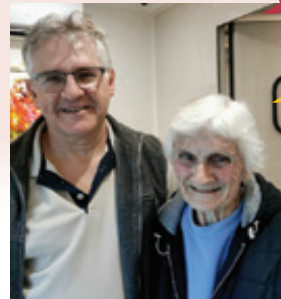

HERE IS WHAT SOME OF OUR HAPPY CUSTOMERS HAVE TO SAY...

The Service is Exemplary...

After using two different hearing aid providers, the service at Sandgate Hearing is exemplary. Ronnie is very professional and patient. I'm very happy with my new hearing aids. I can hear a lot better.

Ann Campbell – Bracken Ridge

Mother & son, so happy...

Both my mum and I enjoy wearing these hearing aids which are very comfortable. We have different models. Mine are battery operated and my mum has rechargeable hearing aids which are easier to handle. We found Ronnie very dedicated to his profession and very thorough. He makes himself available to his clients and has a marvellous support team.

Phil – Bracken Ridge | Laurel – Bribie Island
