JAYBIRD SOARING TO STARDOM

Jay Bird Byrne

Local guitarist JayBird Byrne is a 12-year-old rockstar in the making.

The Narangba-based musician has been playing guitar since she was eight, and this month she will launch the first single from her forthcoming EP, Dog Tales, at a free concert.

JayBird, who is neurodivergent, said the single, Pups at Work was inspired by going to dog training and the challenge of expressing each dog's personality in an instrumental rock guitar song.

"What it is about the dog training experience is that dogs are really hectic," she said. "It's sort of like, 'what are they going to do next?' And I wanted to represent that unpredictability, that way that they go about, and sort of their method of living that I wanted to represent in this song.

"I've always loved dogs, I've had them since a young age. I think dogs have played a big part in shaping me and I wanted to represent them all and sort of give them, like, an award for being in my life and always being that consistent helpful energy."

JayBird said she uses music to express herself in ways she can't with words.

"Being autistic means I have extra-sensitive hearing, so sounds that don't bother other people can be really painful to me," she said. "For music though, this helps me hear all the notes, and sort of hear through the song, so I think it is what helps me play by ear.

"Also being autistic I am a perfectionist and really good with details and I am able to hyper-focus on something I enjoy until I get it right, so that means I can practise for long periods of time until I perfect the sound I am looking for."

JayBird's first single, Convergence, won first prize with honours in the modern and contemporary category at the International Youth Music Competitions last year. She also took out best guitarist at RockFest.

Team Musicare founder and JayBird's manager, Dan Nebe said JayBird would be a household name in years to come.

"She is light-years ahead of kids her age," Dan said. "JayBird's stage presence is her main weapon. Her style and vibe is intoxicating."

On Friday, 7 July, JayBird will perform at Calling Out to the Masses, a concert hosted by Team Musicare, which will also feature Team Utopia, Dead Hand Blues and Briony Alice.

Looking to the future, JayBird said she'd like her music to be listened to by everyone and for "people to understand it in many ways".

"I want to create my own music and the reason I do that is that my music makes me very happy and I'd like that to happen to other people," she said.

MAX PLATH MAKES NRL DEBUT WITH DOLPHINS

STORY ALYSSA MACKAY

Local rugby league player, Max Plath has made his NRL debut after signing a three-year contract with the Dolphins.

The 21-year-old played Round 14 against the Warriors in Auckland, New Zealand last month after being promoted to the team's top 30 squad.

Max said signing with the Dolphins was an opportunity he couldn't turn down.

"To play in the NRL had been a lifelong goal of mine and the Dolphins gave me an opportunity to join their full-time squad," he said.

"Making my debut was a dream come true and definitely came as a surprise in the lead up to the game. It was such a surreal experience to represent my family, friends and the Redcliffe Dolphins. Sadly, we couldn't get the win on the night but it's definitely a night I will remember."

While the Warriors may have triumphed, the match still saw Max making an impressive 33 tackles coming off the bench.

With the Dolphins losing several players to injuries this season, Max is set to supply the team with depth in key positions.

The former Wynnum Manly Seagull came to the attention of the Dolphins at the game between Redcliffe and the Seagulls in Round 4 of the Hostplus Cup, with the Dolphins website describing him as "a clever utility who can play in the halves, at hooker or at lock."

The Plath name is well-known among local rugby league fans – Max's father, John Plath was a four-time premiership winner for the Brisbane Broncos. Max said it could be "challenging at times to be constantly compared to someone".

"But at the same time, it's a pretty cool experience to carry on my family name," he said. "Personally, I want to be the best version of myself and not worry about the comparisons."

For now, Max is focused on the immediate future.

"My current goal is to play consistent injury-free footy for the rest of the season," he said. "And to hopefully get a couple more games in A-Grade before the season finishes."

Dolphins fans may get their chance to see Max runout against the Penrith Panthers at Kayo Stadium on 16 July.

CELEBRATES MILESTONE

STORY PATRICIA HIGGINS

Moreton Bay Arts Council (MBAC) is celebrating twenty years in operation and looking keenly towards the future as a champion of the local creative community.

MBAC promotes the arts and culture in the Moreton Bay Region and beyond, allows for memberships, provides accessible and affordable arts activities and is a non-profit organisation run by volunteers.

According to Janice Charlish, the organisation's current president, what's involved in MBAC membership has changed over time.

"There is now a broader spread across the regions, including studio and gallery owners, poets and writers. This year, we are completing our videography training. This will be an asset for our members with a YouTube channel that members can use for their own marketing," Ms Charlish said.

Ms Charlish said the peak body first came to be back in 2009, when President John Robinson first set up a group named the Redcliffe and Districts Arts Council, which inevitably evolved into MBAC as we know it today.

"The next President was Richard Lancaster, who successfully promoted the group via his position with the Redcliffe Herald and advertising art events, musical shows and so forth."

According to Ms. Charlish, the next president, Ian Brown, orchestrated a sizable musical theatre and arts festival.

Current MBAC Treasurer Elizabeth Blomberg said that other significant events have been included over the years, such as the Arts and Crafters Market — a popular, regular fixture at the Redcliffe Old Fire Station, held in March, July and November.

The Creative Voices Forums, which were started in 2016 and were able to develop direct dialogue between the Moreton Bay Regional Council and the creative community, were hailed by Ms Blomberg as a significant initiative enacted by Janice Charlish.

To celebrate the twenty year anniversary of MBAC, there will be memorabilia at the next Arts and Crafters market in November. However, the main celebration will be next year at the organisation's twenty-first birthday party.

"At this, we hope to get the 'key to the door' of our own MBAC meeting and display location," Ms Charlish said.

To find out more about membership and to enquire about volunteer opportunities visit www.moretonbayartsCouncil.org.

PLAYING CAT AND MOUSE @ ACT 1 THEATRE

From pirates to sleuths, Act 1 Theatre Inc continues to entice audiences with adventurous, yet daring stories.

Next in line, we have Sleuth. Written in 1970 by Anthony Shaffer, Sleuth engages us in an incredible cat and mouse chase played out in a cozy English countryside home which just happens to belong to famous mystery writer, Andrew Wyke.

Wyke's welcomed a guest, Milo Tindle. Milo can be seen as Wyke's younger opponent. He finds himself in the thick of it as he shares Wyke's appreciation for deceit and control of others, so much so, that he also shares Wyke's taste in women, namely Wyke's beautiful wife, whom he intends to make his own.

Such cheekiness! Can you imagine being a fly on the wall in that household?

"Our Director, Lilian Harrington, chose this small play specifically because she loves a good challenge and because it's the sort of play which will keep everyone at the edge of their seats," said Debbie Hossack, Committee Member and ongoing Stage Manager.

Lilian has over 50 years experience backing her professional career which incorporates her work as an actress, teaching aspiring actors and directing many productions.

"Lilian knows how to put her actors through their paces and gets great results for it," said Debbie.

Lead actors, Barry Haworth who plays Wyke and John Scandurra, playing Milo, will amaze you with their cleverness while sporting English accents. They are accompanied by supporting actor Graham Hall.

Act 1 Theatre Inc is quite at home at the Old Petrie Town Hall and for many years, has put on productions which for those who participate, has had a huge impact.

"It's become a place where people feel safe and belong. It's our way of giving them a sense of family," said Hossack.

Act 1 Theatre Inc invites both young and old to join their newsletter for upcoming audition notices, as well as show listings by going to www.act1theatre.com.au.

Snip Snip, Clip Clip!

STORY SALLY EBERHARDT

It's cold now but set your sights on preparing your garden for abundant fresh growth in spring.

Snip snip, clip clip! Prune your hedges, roses (except old-fashioned varieties), frangipanis, citrus and summer-flowering shrubs like plumbago and crepe myrtle for compact foliage and healthy blooms later. Leave the spring-flowering climbers and shrubs e.g., azaleas, jasmine and Brunfelsia until after they have bloomed.

Finish those projects you began in June before the Ekka winds of August take the fun out of being outdoors. Speaking of which – check your lawn for bindii and eradicate those carrot-top rosettes BEFORE they turn prickly. Dig them out by hand, or if prolific, try a natural weed killer like Earthfood Maintain or Slasher. Your feet will thank you later.

Cold, wet soils and the long shadows of winter reducing life-giving sun make July less than ideal for planting vegetable seeds. Empty vegetable beds, particularly those earmarked for growing peas and beans in summer, will benefit from application of organic lime to sweeten the soil. Dig lime into top 10 to 15cms of soil where it will leach over time and raise the pH.

If you want to plant something try beetroot, silverbeet, cabbages, peas, lettuce and carrots.

Advertisement for the sale of Dr Hobbs's land, 1886.

“A CHARMING MARINE RETREAT”

STORY PATTIE TANCRED

One thing that has remained constant since the European settlement of Redcliffe is its attractiveness to its neighbours. It took a few decades after its abandonment as a convict settlement (the one contingent, it seems, that remained impervious to Redcliffe's charms) for the peninsula to take off, which it did, at first as an agricultural district, in the 1860s and then, in the 1880s, as a seaside holiday destination.

With this popularity came a boom in land sales, and one of Redcliffe's earliest investors and major landholders was Dr William Hobbs, a distinguished Brisbane medical man and member of the Legislative Assembly, who acquired extensive property at Scarborough in the early 1870s. The Brisbane Courier recorded in 1872 “near the beach ... a block of fine land belonging to Dr Hobbs”, and it was here that he developed what, according to all accounts, was “a splendid marine property”.

This land, “upon an elevated site, commanding an uninterrupted view of the grandest scenery in Moreton Bay” was of variable quality, comprising arable areas suitable for growing cotton and sugarcane, as well as attractive seaside land; but there were also areas plagued by “swarms of mosquitoes” and “the faint odours” indicative of swampland. The estate also boasted a spring with “valuable mineral water”, which Dr Hobbs considered marketing because of its medicinal properties.

Notwithstanding the swamps and mosquitos, the estate was sufficiently appealing to attract a visit, in 1878, by Governor Kennedy and a party of distinguished guests who, according to The Queenslander, after luncheon at the Scarborough Hotel, “entered the grounds of the honorable Dr Hobbs, whose manager showed them over the place.”

Not all of Dr Hobbs's memories of his Scarborough acreage would have been so pleasant, though. Later in the same year as the governor's visit, one of Dr Hobbs's sons, 19-year-old Alfred, was killed in a riding accident on the property. This, sadly, occurred very close to the spot where Alfred's younger brother Edward had been killed by a falling tree four years earlier.

The Hobbs estate, “295 magnificent allotments”, was sold in 1886, no doubt assisted by the usual real estate encomiums: “The prettiest watering-place within easy reach of the city”; “splendid boating, fishing, shooting, etc”; with “picturesque scenery and richness of soil”. Dr Hobbs did not long survive to enjoy the fruits of his Scarborough land speculation, dying in 1890, leaving behind a reputation as a well-loved doctor and respected politician and, no doubt, a considerable fortune.

BIRD & PASSAGE PARADE,
SCARBOROUGH

"This isn't the first time we've organised the 80s/90s RnB show in the club before, and this band, in particular, has performed this very show multiple times. This wouldn't be possible without the incredible support we get from the community every show," Vince said.

The Leagues Club is one of the most well-known venues on the Peninsula, but they are certainly popular for putting on cracker shows that get the whole crowd moving.

"It seems that each time we put on this show, the crowd turnout gets bigger and bigger, and that says a lot about the band and their performance."

This July, the band is bringing old-school tunes back from the dead and straight to the club. The dance party will be a tribute to all those classic RnB groove anthems and Reggae hits that got you through the 80s and 90s.

From 7pm, the Leagues Club's house DJ will perform, and then the live band with Groove Masters and incredible international vocalists will take over the stage from 8pm onwards.

Locals can expect to hear tunes from Nelly, Blackstreet, Will Smith, Ginuwine, and many more.

Not only can locals expect a live band and DJ to help get their groove on, but there will also be amazing costumes, hip-hop dancers, incredible lighting, and next-level sound production to tie the show together.

"We encourage all our guests to dress up to the theme, not just for this tribute show, but for every show. It creates the scene and gets the whole club in the mood to party," Vince said.

You can find more information by searching '80s & 90s RnB Dance Party' on Facebook.

STORY NADIA CHAPMAN

If you're ready to let loose and feel like a teenager again, the 80s and 90s are coming to Redcliffe, so this is your chance.

The Redcliffe Leagues Club is hosting a live and free 80s and 90s dance party on Friday, the 21st of July, in the legend's lounge for everyone over 18 to come down and have a boogie.

Organiser, Vince Villares, said this isn't the first dance party event they have hosted.

A WORD FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVES

The Palaszczuk Government's 2023-24 Budget is delivering new household relief to help Queenslanders with national cost-of-living pressures.

WITH YVETTE D'ATH MP

Three measures that I am very excited to share with the Redcliffe community are:

1. $550 electricity rebate for ALL Queensland households
2. $1072 electricity rebate for eligible Queensland concession card holders
3. Free kindy for ALL Queensland families AND an investment in our workforce

See what you're eligible for and how our budget will help your family with the national cost-of-living pressures: www.queenslandsavers.qld.gov.au. This is only possible because of Queensland's strong economy and because we kept our assets in public hands.

I am also delighted that this budget delivers $23.7 million for our local schools, including $21 million for additional classrooms and renewal of Woody Point Special School.

I would also like to take the opportunity to congratulate our incredible Redcliffe Show Society on 100 years of the Redcliffe Show (originally known as the Humpybong Show). Your hard work has paid off and once again, you have done Redcliffe proud.

Council marked 'World Environment Day' (June 5) by calling for government funding to help build a wildlife hospital in the region. It's estimated the facility could cost around $10M to construct, with an ongoing annual operational expense of up to $5M.

WITH CR SANDRA RUCK

As a proud supporter of local community and business and following on from 'Queensland Small Business Month', Council has created a 'Small Business Support Booklet' which provides information about small business programs and assistance offered by Council and a 'Your Shopfront Improvement Guide' which provides advice and tips to assist businesses to make some simple changes to their shopfront to attract customers. Both booklets are available online or in hardcopy.

Moreton Bay's coastal communities will be better prepared for the impacts of coastal hazards, with Council setting a long-term strategy for managing the coastline. The 'Living Coast Plan' which has been developed in consultation with the community, will guide the actions needed for residents to safeguard properties, and for Council and the State Government to improve coastal resilience and infrastructure now and into the future.

2023 Petrie Volunteer Awards Morning Tea.

I had the chance to celebrate the contribution of 26 outstanding volunteers in Petrie, who go above and beyond and always show service over self, at my annual Volunteer Awards Morning Tea. This event is an opportunity to highlight the unsung, and often unseen heroes of our community.

Our special guest for the morning was Mara Basanovic, CEO of Volunteering Queensland who gave an uplifting and inspiring speech about the invaluable service the volunteering community provides to local organisations, Queensland, and Australia wide.

My congratulations to all those who received an award and work tirelessly to uplift the life of so many in our community. Wonderful members of organisations were awarded from:

- Bracken Ridge Little Athletics
- Zonta Club of Redcliffe
- Repair Café Redcliffe Peninsula
- SANDBAG
- Eildon Croquet Club Inc
- Deception Bay Baptist Church
- Rotary Club of Kippa-Ring/North Lakes
- Aspley Hornets
- Peninsula Cricket Club
- Rotary Club of Redcliffe Sunrise
- Redcliffe Bridge Club
- Give a Child a Chance
- Encircle
- Ye Old Brass RSL Memorial Band Redcliffe
- Redcliffe Dolphins Soccer Club
- Justices of the Peace in the community
- Hope Ventures - Mimi's House
- PCYC Redcliffe
- Mango Hill Progress Association
- Ridley Road Men's Shed
- Peninsula Palms
- PCYC Deception Bay
- Redcliffe Historical Society
- Redcliffe Crime Stoppers

I'd like to thank all the volunteers in Petrie for making our community a better and brighter place. In my almost 10 years as the Federal Member, I have met a lot of volunteers, across many different organisations and your stories continually inspire me to represent you to the best of my ability.

Tasered

The recent tasered of a 95 year old woman in a New South Wales nursing home is a most disturbing event. It is alleged that the policeman who tasered her, did so because she was armed with a knife and appeared to be menacing him. It appears that after the woman was tasered, she fell to the ground hitting her head, which could have contributed to her death. All of these events are traumatic both for the woman's relatives and for the policeman, who now faces charges associated with her death.

WITH RICHARD LANCASTER

Like others, I have concerns about these happenings, from a community standpoint. Certainly the tasered of a 95 year old woman is of great concern, but why were the police called to the nursing home in the first place? Surely the staff should have been able to disarm the woman, without police involvement? After all, she was 95 years old, a small statured woman and relied on a mobility walker to move around.

Being a person of advanced years, suggestions have been made that in time I should consider moving from my home and taking up residence in a nursing home, where my day to day chores can be adequately taken care of. Unfortunately in the recent past I have heard too many accounts of very ordinary services dispensed to nursing home residents by unqualified, poorly trained and underpaid staff.

The care of the elderly demands a specialised skill, requiring properly trained and empathetic staff. This almost certainly may conflict with the profit driven need by management of these nursing home facilities. Until the care industry puts in place mandatory community acceptable standards of training for staff and nursing home management accept that responsibility and the community and government may well have to accept higher inmate fees, we will continue to suffer from the sad events witnessed at the Cooma nursing home.

BRAD'S BUSINESS TIPS

Are interest rates squeezing your business?

With the RBA announcement of yet another interest rate rise, combined with the increased fuel and energy costs and inflationary pressures, many business owners are now beginning to seriously feel the squeeze.

WITH BRAD FLYNN

Here are 3 no cost things you can do to enhance your cash flow.

Keep in regular touch with current and past customers

It can cost up to 6 times as much to get a new customer as to keep someone who has already bought from you.

For your current customers, send them a simple card to say "thank you for doing business with us". The number 1 reason customers leave is they think you don't care about them. If all you have sent them to now is an invoice, this simple thing could keep them doing business with you.

For your past customers, aim to touch base with them at least every 3 months. At this point, your message could be along the lines of checking in to see how things are going for them.

Reduce your expenses by 10%

Even if you watch this pretty closely, challenge yourself to squeeze 10% off it, with this question for expense, "does this expense keep me a customer, or get me a new customer?" If it doesn't then do you really need it?

Margin Magic

Get clear on which of your customers and products or services make you the most money. The majority of your profits will come from the minority of your clients and services, make sure you don't get these mixed up.

DIVISION 5 & 6 BUDGET HIGHLIGHTS

On 16 June, the Moreton Bay Regional Council issued media releases highlighting the investments being made in the region with the release of the 2023-24 budget.

Division 5 highlights include a $500,000 revitalisation of Cross Street Park in Deception Bay, repairs to land slips in Scarborough, and upgrades to shared paths along Scarborough Road.

The budget also includes $150,000 for a bike track upgrade at the PCYC facility in Deception Bay and a surface renewal for the hydrotherapy pool at Deception Bay Aquatic and Fitness Centre.

To promote an active lifestyle, the budget includes over 47 free and low-cost community events throughout the year, including Movies in the Park and the Redcliffe Peninsula Christmas Carols.

Infrastructure improvements are also a key focus, with funding for road surface rejuvenation and footpath improvements across the division.

Division 6 highlights includes a $5 million allocation towards the construction of a new Redcliffe Pensioners Hall, which will support individuals experiencing homelessness on the Redcliffe Peninsula. The hall will include a commercial-grade kitchen, amenities, storage, and office space.

Other notable investments in the budget include the $1.25 million planning for the revitalisation of Suttons Beach Park, the $1.725 million refurbishment of the Redcliffe Library, and ongoing seawall restoration at Charlish Park to safeguard the foreshore from erosion and inundation.

There will be a focus on overhauling the netball courts at KR Benson Park and playground upgrades at Bellevue Park, Redcliffe.

The budget also includes investments in road and footpath improvements and traffic and parking improvements around Scarborough State School.

SOFT PLASTIC IS NOT SO FANTASTIC! A MESSAGE FROM MORETON BAY REGIONAL COUNCIL.

Ever wondered which bin your soft plastics belong in? Well, it might surprise you to know they don't go in your recycling. Plastics such as shopping bags, wrappers and bread packaging should NEVER be placed in your recycling bins. Instead, place them in your general waste bin. When placed in your kerbside recycling bin, the soft plastics wrap and tangle around the machinery at MBRC Materials Recovery Facility. This results in the damage or failure of equipment and having to clear out the tangled plastic from the sorting machines, wasting time and increasing costs to the community.

BOARD GAME CLUB - REDCLIFFE LIBRARY

There is nothing like connecting with friends over a board game or a game of cards! Drop into the Redcliffe Library every Saturday to play a round of your favourite game. Bring a friend, or play with others.

CREATIVE COMMUNITIES - HAVE YOUR SAY!

In a follow up to the Moreton Says survey, MBRC wants to explore how they can help bring the community the best programs going forward at local cultural facilities and events. When was the last time you visited a gallery, library or museum? Are you a frequent user of one of these facilities and yet not ventured near another? Tell the council what would change your mind!

Visit <https://yoursay.moretonbay.qld.gov.au/> and search "creative communities survey".

CLAY NATURE BOWLS

Love getting out amongst nature? Do you enjoy being creative? Take a short guided walk to gather natural materials and learn how to make a clay trinket bowl. You'll then have the opportunity to decorate your bowl with the natural wonders that you forage such as leaves and seeds. This activity is a wonderful way to promote mindfulness and a love of nature.

EINBUNPIN FESTIVAL

ACROSS THE BRIDGE

One of the Northside's most beloved family festivals is back with another exciting line-up of local music, great food and fun for the kids.

If you haven't already, mark Sunday, 30 July in the calendar for the 31st Annual Einbunpin Festival at Einbunpin Lagoon Park.

Deagon Ward Councillor Jared Cassidy said he was looking forward to bringing the festival to the local community once again.

"For the 31st time we will celebrate all the wonderful things the Northside has to offer," Cr Cassidy said.

"On a more personal note, the Einbunpin

Festival has always been in my calendar – firstly as a young boy hanging out with school friends, to volunteering in my twenties and now as the chairperson of the Einbunpin Festival Committee. It's certainly the best and most anticipated festival the Northside has to offer."

This year will see the return of festival favourites on the Youth Stage and Bunpin Stage, and school bands, choirs and dance troupes in the Festival Arena.

The giant slide, tea cup ride and rock climbing wall will be free for the kids to enjoy, thanks to the generosity of festival sponsors, including major sponsor, The Sands Social.

Kim Mancini, artist and owner of Mancini Art Gallery, is also back with her popular artistic program. She said she had been doing children's activities like kite-making, flying fish and crazy critters at the festival for about 12 years.

"Each year, new themes are explored and developed around nature or Sandgate," Kim said. "Last year, the children and adults were invited to help paint the number 30 with things around Sandgate and the festival.

"This year, I am planning 'A Day at the Seaside' with a retro twist, creating a beach theme picnic area with blow-up palm trees, beach mats and chairs, blue tarps as water and lots of crabs, turtles, fish and birds to cut out and paint, setting them on sticks to flap in the breeze on the edge of the lagoon. Parents and children can bask in the sun and play with colour."

She said the Einbunpin Festival brought together people of all ages. "It reminds us that we are a community of diversity," she said.

For more information follow Einbunpin Festival on Facebook or visit www.einbunpinfestival.org.au

Michael and his son Simon

LOCAL FACES

Performing is in the blood of soon to be 90-year-old Rothwell resident Michael Pitcher. It came about when, as a young boy, he watched his professional musician parents perform on stage, in wartime England. At school he enjoyed acting in plays and at sixteen he was offered a place in Britain's oldest working theatre, the Old Vic, the birthplace of many of the United Kingdom's finest actors. After careers in the merchant navy and the British police force, he and his family immigrated to Australia finally making the Redcliffe Peninsula their home.

But the acting bug was still in his veins. He joined Redcliffe's iconic Mousetrap Theatre Company, acting in many of the group's productions. His role in the wartime stage enactment of Dad's Army brought back old memories for him. He subsequently won a Mousetrap Best Supporting Actor's award for his many performances. During the last decade Michael also acted in several locally produced mockumentary movies, the last of which was The Third Commandant, a comic portrayal of the life of the infamous Captain Patrick Logan, commandant of the Brisbane penal colony.

But performing is not Michael Pitcher's only passion. In late 2022, he as the Very Worshipful Brother Michael Pitcher PDGDC was installed into the Worshipful Master's Chair of King Solomon at Masonry's Redcliffe 1st Settlement Lodge in Scarborough. At an earlier installation at the same lodge, Michael's son Simon was installed as Worshipful Master of the Redcliffe Lodge. During that installation he wore the 121-year-old Masons apron which had belonged to Simon's great grandfather who was a mason in the Royal Sussex Lodge in Bath in the United Kingdom.

Michael Pitcher now enjoys a well-earned retirement by collating a book on his active life.

ARTFULLY REDCLIFFE

A Spanish Arts Magician

Creating any work of art requires a set of skills gained through practice and possibly tuition. Portrait painting is no exception, requiring very particular expertise in creating a likeness of the sitter as well as the personality.

During a conversation with one of my adult students, she mentioned she'd come across illustrations of the work of the contemporary Spanish painter Sergi Cardenas. She was astounded at this artist's ability and on seeing his work, so was I. He takes portraiture to another incredible level.

WITH GABRIELLE TURNBULL

Born in 1972 into a family that had a three centuries old ironworks foundry business named Ferris d'Art Cardenas in the Spanish city of Girona, at age 15 Sergi commenced working in the family business and by the age of 20 he was managing it.

But at the age of 30, without any formal tutelage, he started painting portraits. He experimented with many different techniques, one such technique involved dual images, which he remembered seeing as a young boy. He knew them as flip images and decided to use this technique in a most sophisticated way in his portrait painting. The results are both unique and visually unbelievable.

The more he experimented with this kinetic technique, the more his portraits improved. It has come to be recognised as the lenticular style of painting which means that as the viewer's eyes move across the painting, the image changes from one image to another, quite different, image. Thus in the case of the Cardenas' portraits, his paintings have as if by magic, two different portraits in the one work. Nowadays, while still painting portraits in his studio for national and international art exhibitions, he is recognised as a master artisan and continues to manage the family foundry business, which is acknowledged as an important part of the Girona's cultural and architectural history.

If you would like to experience the magic of Sergi Cardenas' work go to: Sergi Cardenas on YouTube.

NEW MARGATE ADDITION BEARS FRUIT

There's a fruitful new addition to the Moreton Bay area that's giving locals a chance to shop for fresh produce from a different supplier.

A new family-run business, Jordan Valley Fruit, is located near Woolworths in Margate and is proving a welcome addition to the local community.

Owner Amani Swajed said she and her family had arrived from overseas to notice there was no pre-existing fruit shop in the immediate vicinity and had jumped at the chance to fill that demand.

"We came from Jordan, where we had a similar business. That's why we chose to open a fruit shop—we already had the experience," she said.

The owners' daughter, Selina, who works at the store after school, said she was happy to be a part of the effort since it was important for the family to continue the heritage of running businesses in their homeland.

"I like working with my family and helping out. Dad wants me to have my own business one day," she said.

According to Ms Swajed, people were especially happy with the range of fresh produce and other items on offer, with some customers telling her that it's "better than the big businesses".

"Alongside the fruit and vegetables, we have a selection of really good quality specialty foods like gourmet cheeses, antipasto, continental goods, coffee and more."

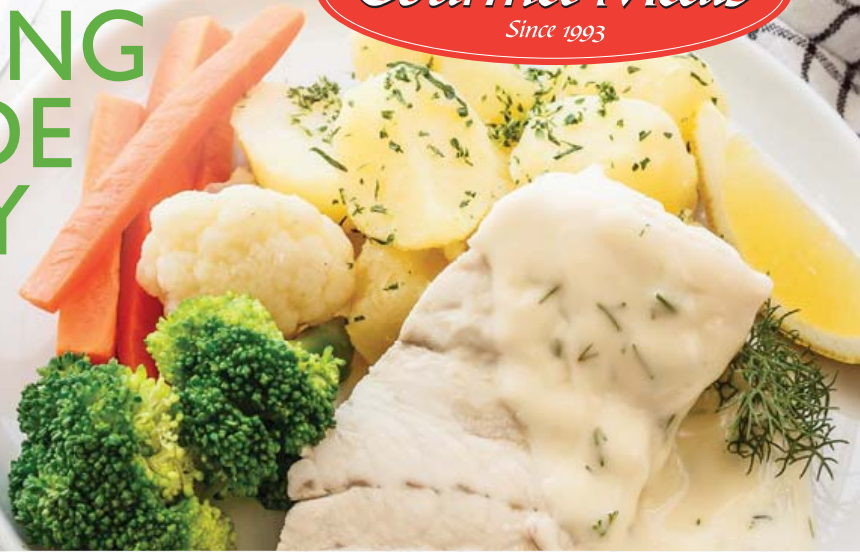

She said that the development of the store had not been without its challenges, and the process with lawyers, designers, and shopfitters had a few hiccups, resulting in an initial 'soft launch'.

"We are so glad to get new customers regularly. The job can be quite hard for us day in and day out, so it makes a huge difference that we have lovely customers who support us with their beautiful comments," Ms Swajed said.

The owners are happy to accommodate special requests but also go above and beyond to carry foods that are not easy to come by elsewhere.

You can have a look at what's on offer for yourself in-store by visiting Jordan Valley Fruit in Margate Village Shopping Centre. Check the opening hours via Google.

PODCAST OF THE MONTH

Locked In with Ian Bick - Podcast Review

STORY NICK ALLFORD

How much do you know about prison life? Not the stuff you see on screen but what it's really like being locked away for years on end.

Host Ian Bick is a convicted felon. At 18 he was a nightclub owner, at 19 he was a convicted criminal. He may have even avoided prison if he hadn't decided to jump bail and head off to a casino. Even though he only did around 3 years, he spent enough time inside to make a few friends, inviting his ex-convict buddies to tell their stories on his podcast 'Locked In with Ian Bick'. Discussing what landed them in jail, what life was like in jail and how they adapted to life on the outside.

Even though he's often face to face with known killers, he's not afraid to ask some probing personal questions about their lives. The level of skill, planning and ingenuity that goes into some of their crimes is often astounding. Bick also speaks with the people on the other side of the bars, interviewing prison staff. No topic is taboo, as they share stories of finding love in most unlikely places and no I don't mean the shower-guards falling for inmates.

I was surprised to hear the amount of remorse his guests have, not for getting caught but the harm they've caused other people. You could be inspired and maybe even motivated by some of these life altering stories, although hopefully not inspired to rob a bank.

Radio Station Rescue

STORY RICHARD LANCASTER

The story is a familiar one in many communities throughout South East Queensland. A number of people get together and voluntarily donate their time and effort to support a worthy cause, which assists their community in some way or other.

For 30 years volunteers at the Redcliffe community radio station Bridge FM operating on the 99.7FM frequency have provided our local community with free information, music and entertainment. The broadcasters and support staff are all volunteers and the station relies on small sponsorships from local business, to help cover the operating costs.

Recently Bridge FM received advice from the owners of Margate water tower, on which the radio station's broadcast antenna is located, that the antenna must be removed so that repair work can be done on the tower. Little assistance accompanied the message. Without the antenna, the station cannot broadcast.

The estimated cost of the antenna's removal and relocation is $110,000, a sum that the station would have difficulty raising. Further, to find a new location for the antenna would also prove difficult, at short notice.

However, assistance could be close at hand. Moreton Bay Regional Council Mayor Peter Flannery and Division 6 Councillor Karl Winchester hearing of the radio station's plight, are proposing to use Council's not inconsiderable resources to help solve the station's problems.

The new location for the station's antenna could be atop the Redcliffe Entertainment Centre in Downs Street Redcliffe and station management are confident that the relocation costs will be met from a variety of supportive sources. Let's hope that's the case.

In a period whereby good news seems difficult to come by, Bridge FM has just been granted charitable status. This means that individuals and companies can now donate to the radio station, and receive a tax deduction.

"This charitable status has come at the right time," said station manager Ray Kerr. "The station's equipment is badly outdated and is in desperate need of replacement and we need money to replace it."

Donations will be gratefully received via their web page - 997fm.com.au or call into 997 Bridge FM studio at 75 Anzac Avenue Redcliffe during business hours.

GOOD MENTAL HEALTH

What to say when someone is in distress

When someone is doing it tough, you do not have to say the perfect words, they just have to be words to show that you care for the person.

WITH TANYA FISHER

Ask – How are you travelling? Or What's been happening for you?

Listen – Do not try and fix it, your job is to just really listen to them. Keep what they say private unless you have their permission to talk to someone, like a parent, partner or service.

Be open-minded about what they are saying and try not to judge what you are hearing, just hear it.

Support - Let them know you care for them. Support them to explore options about who or what could be of help to them.

Follow up – Reach out again in a few days after your conversation and check in on how they are traveling. They may not have done anything yet and that is okay. Just let them know you are there and ready to chat again should they need that.

MOVIE REVIEW - THE FLASH

STORY @WATCHITWOMBAT

Have you ever loved a film that you were certain you'd hate? Well, I walked into 'The Flash' ready for yet another disappointing DC movie, that was going to be all flash and no bang (pun not actually intended but I'm keeping it).

Firstly, I've never been a fan of Ezra Miller - who dons the spandex as The Flash, even before he started throwing chairs at women in Karaoke bars (in real life, not in the movie... that would be even weirder).

Then imagine my delight when I heard the plot of this movie... The Flash travels back in time to save his Mum where he teams up with Batman, Supergirl and a younger version of himself - yay two Ezra Millers.

I couldn't have been more wrong and even as I'm writing this, I'm still surprised with the amount of joy this film brought me, even before Batman appeared.

I grew up with Michael Keaton as Batman and when he swooped back on to the big screen it was like he'd never left, as this feels like an extension of his previous movies, falling back into the character so effortlessly.

The new girl on the block was Supergirl and despite having very little to say, was a welcome addition, bringing a stoic strength that female leads aren't often allowed. The film is peppered with cameos and they all seem to be done with purpose, rather than being thrown in because an actor had a spare 5 minutes to kill or was fulfilling a contractual obligation.

There's plenty of heart here and it manages to evoke just the right amount of emotion without dwelling too long and I'll even admit to tearing up a bit towards the end.

One thing that comic book movies (in fact most movies) often fail at is humour, yet somehow I had more laughs than I've had in a while. I think it might be because it feels more grounded in reality, so when something bizarre happens, it hits the mark.

Now I can't guarantee you'll have as great an experience as me, but I really hope you do.

PINE RIVERS SHOW: ENTERTAINMENT EXTRAVAGANZA

STORY NADIA CHAPMAN

If a day and night full of family fun is something you are looking for, the annual Pine Rivers show will be able to deliver.

The Pine Rivers show is coming back this August on Friday the 4th, Saturday the 5th, and Sunday the 6th to provide a weekend full of excitement.

Moreton Bay locals are in for an entertainment extravaganza with live music, amazing animals, a rodeo, motorcycle stunt drivers, rides, and show bags—and don't forget the spectacular fireworks show to send you off on Friday and Saturday night.

Speaking of entertainment, we reached out to one of the live performers, Black n Red Duo, to showcase what attendees will be in for.

The Black n Red Duo consists of university-trained musicians Rob Black and Brenden Schick, who have worked together in various bands for 18 years.

"[We] perform live with no backing tracks, just high-quality musicianship and skills acquired over decades in the music industry. The set list for this year's Pine Rivers Show will consist of classic country songs mixed with fan favourites that everyone can sing along to," Black n Red said.

Black n Red Duo formed in 2018, as they saw a gap in the local South East Queensland entertainment market, to provide high-quality performances tailored to suit the needs of specific clientele.

"[We] pride ourselves on delivering high-quality performances with the same passion we had when starting in the music industry decades ago."

Black n Red Duo is happy for attendees to request a song or two on the night.

Alongside live entertainment and rides to keep you satisfied all day, there are also several pavilions, agriculture areas, exhibits, and competitions.

Attendees can look forward to arts and crafts, cookery, education, needlework, horticulture, and photography pavilions. There are also loads of animals, dog and cattle shows, and a honey exhibit with live bees.

There will be woodchopping, bands and choir, a homebrew competition, and Lego displays for maximum entertainment.

Tickets are only available for purchase at the entry gates. Adult tickets are $15, and children under 12 get in for free.

There will be free entry for all on Friday before 3pm.

FISH OF THE MONTH

Yellowfin Tripod Fish, Tripodichthys angustifrons

STORY PETER HANSLER

Quite a common catch in Moreton Bay, around the foreshores and from the jetties at Redcliffe and Sandgate this little fish puts up quite a fight if caught when fishing for whiting or other small species. Not rated as an eating fish and even though apparently harmless, being closely related to Pufferfish which are poisonous, I certainly wouldn't be trying them.

The Tripod fish is so named due to the single Dorsal and two Pelvic fin bones forming a tripod sort of set of spikes that enable it to defend itself and also sit on the ocean floor. They have small mouths, eat worms and other small crustaceans and grow only to around 20 cm in length. Try not to get spiked either, as even though they are not poisonous, they are coated in a slime that will make a laceration quite painful and possibly leave a nasty infection.

ROOF RESTORATIONS

Transform your tired old roof with a value boosting makeover

Full Roof Restorations From only $3,000

- Repair and Change Out Broken Tiles
- High Pressure Clean
- Re-bed Ridge Capping (if required)
- Re-point Ridge Capping
- Sterilise Surface (if required)
- Apply Primer/Sealer
- Apply New Roof Membrane (2 coats)
- Apply Nano Clear Protect Coating (barrier coat to prevent fading)

All roofs age over time. After around 15 years, tile roofs deteriorate to the point where a restoration should be considered. At this age, colour starts to fade, ridge capping becomes brittle, lichen and mould can grow, and tiles become harder to clean. The appearance of your home suffers and your roof is more likely to develop leaks.

Richard Gabriel from Mr Highlights Roofing has over 20 years experience in the roofing trade. He uses only premium quality products for his restorations, and offers a full 12 years warranty on all workmanship and materials.

Richard is an owner/operator and doesn't employ salespeople, so costs are kept to a minimum which means savings for you!
